BOMB CASE QUIZ ENDS

Justices Ponder Billings's Fate

Conflicting Testimony Marks Last Public Hearing on Pardon Plea

Documentary Evidence Still Being Gathered will be Considered

BY FLOYD J. HEALEY
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Public hearings on the Warren K. Billings pardon petition by the justices of the State Supreme Court closed today in a final burst of conflicting testimony.

A complete alibi for Thomas and Rena Mooney was supplied by one witness and attacked in the affidavit of another; a wall of veracity was built up around the Estelle Smith testimony at the present hearing, putting Billings at 721 Market street, and torn down by another witness a few minutes later, and the finishing touch was added by a demand from Billings's attorney for a contempt citation against Police Captain Goff for distribution to the press of an assertedly false letter declaring Mooney and Billings guilty.

GOFF PUSHES INQUIRY

The demand was denied for lack of jurisdiction, but the defense was assured the letter will not be considered as part of the evidence.

When the decision of the court, in the capacity of an advisory fact-finding commission, will be submitted to Gov. Young, is indefinite. Although no further open sessions will be held by the court, additional evidence will be received. This is expected in the form of affidavits from persons located or hoped to be located by the police department, the investigation going forward under the direction of Capt. Goff, who announced last night the imminence of new information which he considers highly damaging to Mooney and Billings.

Justice Preston said affidavits are expected from at least two persons, each of them bedridden, and new and presumably vital information, and he added that a former automobile "jitney" driver, Dean Parrish, now living in Oakland, has important information bearing upon Mooney.

ALIBI FURNISHED

Mrs. Belle Hammerberg, sister of Mrs. Mooney, was the last of the major defense witnesses. Her testimony was directed toward the Mooneys but, by reason of the linking of Mooney and Billings to the bomb suit case, it has the effect of applying with equal force to Billings.

Mrs. Hammerberg unqualifiedly placed Thomas and Rena Mooney on the roof of the Eilers Building, several blocks from the scene of the explosion, continuously from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. or later on the day of the tragedy. The bomb explosion was at 2:06 p.m. Her truthfulness in this respect, however, was questioned in the affidavit of Mrs. Mattie L. Bretland of Tacoma, Wash., who recited details which do not

FRANCE HAS LARGE GAIN IN TOURISTS

(Copyright, 1930, by New York Times)

PARIS, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The first complete French report of total tourist expenditures of all nationalities in France last year shows foreign visitors left $400,000,000 in the country, thus maintaining for France its position as the world's premier playground.

This figure is an increase of $40,000,000 over the previous twelve months and an increase of $100,000,000 when compared with 1927. Of last year's expenditures Americans are estimated to have accounted for about $130,000,000, but owing to the Wall-street crash and a considerable drop in the number of wealthy tourists it is admitted this year's American outlay will not exceed $100,000,000, if indeed it reaches that figure.

One interesting feature noted in the report of M. P. Meynial, French economist, who is responsible for the foregoing figures, is that the number of American visitors have not diminished this year, but they are described as of the middle and lower middle classes and therefore travel upon much more limited budgets than their wealthier countrymen who made up the majority of the 1929 contingent.

RULERS OF AMERICA LISTED

Gerard, Ex-Envoy, Compiles Roster of Fifty-nine; Hoover and Other Federal Officials Omitted

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—James W. Gerard, former Ambassador to Germany, today named fifty-nine persons as the "men who rule the United States."

His selection is composed almost entirely of capitalists and financiers and includes leaders in the banking world, the steel industry, mining, the railroad business, public utilities, the amusement field and journalism.

The list includes John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Andrew W. Mellon and J. P. Morgan, but omits President Hoover and all others holding national or State offices.

Mr. Gerard explains the actual "power behind the throne" is wielded by men whose wealth and important industrial positions in the nation give them a prominent influence in American life, whereas statesmen, diplomats and politicians owe their influence to the offices which they hold and usually are shorn of most of their power when they retire.

NAMES OF RULERS

Mr. Gerald's list follows:

John D. Rockefeller, Jr., Andrew Mellon, J. P. Morgan, George F. Baker, banker; John D. Ryan, mining magnate; Walter C. Teagle, oil magnate; Henry Ford, Frederick K. Weyerhaeuser, lumber magnate; Myron C. Taylor, James A. Farrell, Charles M. Schwab, Eugene G. Grace, steel magnates; H. M. Warner, motion-picture executive; Adolph Zukor, motion-picture executive; William H. Crocker, banker; O. P. and M. J. Van Sweringen, railroad executives; W. W. Atterbury, railroad president; Arthur Curtis James, railroad director; Charles Hayden, financier; Daniel C. Jackling, copper magnate; Arthur V. Davis, aluminum company president; P. G. Gossler, utilities magnate; R. C. Holmes, oil producer.

RASKOB AND DU PONTS

John J. Raskob, the Du Pont family, Edward J. Berwind, financier; Daniel Willard, railroad president; Sosthenes Behn, telephone and telegraph executive; Walter S. Gifford, telephone and telegraph magnate; Owen D. Young, Gerard Swope, electrical company official; Thomas W. Lamont, Albert Chase Wiggin, banker; Charles E. Mitchell, Samuel Insull, the Fisher brothers, Daniel Guggenheim, William Loeb, G. W. Hill, tobacco magnate; Adolph S. Ochs, publisher; William Randolph Hearst, Robert R. McCormick, editor; Joseph Medill Patterson, publisher; Julius Rosenwald, merchant; Cyrus H. K. Curtis, publisher; Roy W. Howard, publisher.

Mr. Gerard named the fifty-nine in response to a request of the New York Times, which was prompted by a sentence in a pamphlet he wrote in support of the campaign of Lord Beaverbrook for a high tariff against imports into the British empire and free trade among parts of the empire. The sentence follows: "Give the forty men who rule the United States ten years for the development of this industrial empire (the British empire) and no country on earth could approach it in per capita wealth."

Navy's Oldest Active Vessel Wins Pennant

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—The oldest navy vessel in active service today was awarded the battle efficiency pennant for cruisers.

The vessel is to be displaced by a 10,000-ton cruiser under the London treaty.

BARE LEGS UNCHRISTIAN SAY WOMEN

Catholic Guild Deplores Loss of Modesty Through Exposure of Limbs

BALTIMORE, Aug. 20. (AP)—The stockingless fad for young girls was deplored as an "un-Christian practice" in a resolution on dress reform passed here today by the National Catholic Women's Union.

Declaring "the practice of dressing little girls in a manner which is directly contrary to the rules of Christian modesty" is becoming quite universal, the resolution added that not only are stockings discarded but the lower limbs are left completely uncovered.

"The necessary result of this un-Christian practice," the resolution continued, "is the complete loss of the sense of modesty in these young girls growing up who in later years will not understand what this virtue means to them."

Laying the blame on the mothers, the resolution recommended dress reform begin at the time the children graduate from the elementary course in school.

Healy Quits Job in New York's Ewald Scandal

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (Exclusive) Martin J. Healy, Tammany politician, who received a $10,000 "loan" from Mrs. George F. Ewald at the time of Ewald's appointment as a city magistrate three years ago, resigned today as deputy Commissioner of Plants and Structures.

Two weeks ago when Healy's name first ascended to the headlines in connection with the Ewald scandal, he was suspended from his post in the city administration by order of Mayor Walker.

It has been reported for some time that pressure was being exerted on Healy to get him to relieve the Walker administration of embarrassment by voluntarily walking the plank.

Anglican Conference Hears Plea for Instruction on Problems of Sex

[Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The necessity of divorce as a means of mending rather than ruining broken lives was stressed at the Modern Churchmen's Conference at Oxford today by Dr. Douglas White, a member of the archbishop's commission on sex relationship. He followed Dr. H. D. A. Major, who urged that the church itself take up the task of giving instruction on sex problems.

Already thrown into a heated debate by the archbishops and bishops of the Anglican Church at the Lambeth conference over the recent approval of birth control, the defenders of strict canonical law were further disturbed by Dr. White's assertions today.

STUPIDITY RUINOUS

"The stupidity of the male or the false modesty of the woman ruin many marriages," Dr. White said. "Unhappy unions result from the rosy views taken by lovers and by the real changes taking place in men and women after physical maturity. Hence divorce is necessary and is not forbidden by Christ. It is all but impossible for young men and women to form dispassionate judgment in marriage in which passion both is and ought to be the predominant factor.

"The main argument against divorce is it breaks up the whole family and is bad for the children. But if a family union is broken by divorce, it is worse under permanent judicial separation which the opponents of divorce do not oppose. This talk of the sanctity of marriage—that is best obtained by putting an end to marriages that are a disgrace to the name."

SINGLE STANDARD

Dr. White declared that the single standard is necessary under monogamy if there is a balance between the numbers of the sexes.

Dr. Major condemned the church attitude on sex.

"Church discipline does not educate but irritates," he said. "The church must give more instruction about sex problems in a modern, scientific and attractive form. It ought to institute definite training for marriage. Health, happiness and Christian marriage—that is what the church needs to present to mankind."

HELEN MAY KEEP DECREE, SAYS CAROL

Reports King will Drop Divorce Annulment Plan Partially Confirmed

VIENNA, Aug. 20. (AP)—A diplomat who arrived today from Bucharest partly confirmed reports King Carol II of Rumania will abandon efforts to dissolve the divorce from Queen Helen and instead will seek another bride.

He said the King probably will seek marriage with a member of the Bourbon-Orleans house of France whom he met in Paris while he was in exile before taking the Rumanian throne.

A local news agency, meanwhile, denied all such rumors.

A report from Bucharest said Queen Marie has left for Sinaia, the summer capital, in an effort to bring about a reconciliation of the King and Queen, but added that the attempt probably will prove futile.

The stand-off between the former exile who now is King and the woman who divorced him while he was gone has complicated the Rumanian political situation considerably. Julio Maniu, the Premier, has announced that he will not preside at the coronation ceremonies unless Helen is crowned beside Carol, hence political circles consider that his attitude may produce a change in the government.

Four Companies Plan Combine

Bid will be Made for Mail Contract on Proposed Central Route

Line Would Operate from New York City to Los Angeles

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20. (AP)—J. D. Condon, president of the Pittsburgh Airways, Inc., announced today that virtual agreement had been reached for the merger of four aviation companies into a $4,000,000 corporation which will bid at Washington next Monday for contracts to carry the air mail for the proposed central route.

Condon, who will become treasurer of the company, said officials of the United States Airways, the Ohio Air Transport Company and the Pittsburgh Airways had approved the merger and he had assurances the Southwest Air Fast Express will approve it at a conference of the interested parties at Washington.

CITIES ON ROUTE

The new company, to be known as the United Aviation Company, Inc., plans to operate an air line from New York to Los Angeles, via Pittsburgh, Columbus, Indianapolis, St. Louis, Kansas City, Albuquerque, N. M., and Winslow, Ariz., Condon said. It will have main offices in Pittsburgh.

In event the air-mail contract is obtained, the company will start mail and passenger service within twenty-four hours, according to Condon.

WICK TO BE HEAD

Paul Wick, Youngstown, O., president of Ohio Air Transport, will be president of the new company and Oliver M. Kaufmann, Pittsburgh, chairman of the Pittsburgh Airways, will be a vice-president, as will W. A. Letson of the United States Airways which serves St. Louis, Kansas City, Denver and Salt Lake City, Earl Halliburton, president of the Southwest Air Fast Express which serves St. Louis, Kansas City, Tulsa, Oklahoma City, and Sweetwater, Tex., also will be an officer in the new company.

Condon said final signatures will be placed on the agreement after the representatives of the companies confer with Postoffice Department officials.

CHINA REDS USE TORCH

Town of Wusueh Razed by Fire

Ruthless Horde Wipes Out Place of Historic Stand of Taiping Rebels

Civil War Lagging as Rains Convert Strife Areas into Quagmires

HANKOW, Aug. 21. (Thursday) (AP) — Chinese press dispatches today said Kiangsi Provincial troops scored a crushing victory over Communists in the western part of that Province, killing 4000 Reds and capturing 3000 rifles.

HANKOW, Aug. 20. (AP)—The torch of Communism flared again today in China, to burn down the town of Wusueh, twenty-seven miles from the larger Yangtse River city of Kiukiang, with its large foreign settlement.

The Red band charged down through the hills about Wusueh, plundered its population of 6000 and ruthlessly destroyed the town made famous by the resistance there of the Taiping rebels more than eighty years ago. The Yangtse narrows at this place, and across it the Taiping religious fanatics stretched great chains, blocking passage of the Imperial fleet.

As the Communists approached refugees streamed out over the countryside, fearing for their lives and abandoning their property.

JAPANESE SEND GUNBOAT

A Japanese gunboat was ordered to Wusueh to protect foreigners. The town is a market for rock salt mined nearby.

Communist armies which sacked and partly destroyed Changsha late last month and later threatened the other large cities of Hankow, Nanchang and Kiukiang, apparently were frightened away by foreign warships which were rushed to the protection of their nationals.

Breaking into smaller bands, the Reds have been pillaging smaller places, avoiding cities where the Nationalist government has concentrated small bodies of troops spared from its campaign against the northern alliance rebellion in Honan and Shantung provinces.

RAINS HAMPER FIGHTING

The civil war itself has lagged, hampered by torrential rains which turned canals into rivers and converted battlefields into quagmires. After three months of fighting during which battle lines moved south, then north, responding to the drive of the northerners and their repulse by government arms, the issue remains undecided.

Temporarily, at least, the Nationalists have the advantage. Thrusting the rebels from captured Tsinan, the Nationalists pursued them through the Shantung capital and chased them across the Yellow River to the border of Chihli Province. There the rebels have made their stand.

In another area, Northern Honan, Nationalist attack and rebel counter-attack continue along the Haichow-Tungkwan Railway.

RELICS LIFT VEIL OF PAST

Three Ancient Civilizations Traced in Colorado, One Dating Back 3000 Years

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Evidence of three distinct ancient American civilizations, the oldest of which dates back 3000 years, has been unearthed in the Lowry ruin, in Southwestern Colorado.

The excavations were made by the Field Museum archeological expedition to the Southwest under the leadership of Dr. Paul S. Martin.

Two large kivas, best described as large single rooms, have been unearthed thus far, Dr. Martin reports. One of the kivas was constructed on the ruins of the earlier one, which is said to be unique in the findings of archeology.

Material found in the kivas, with contents of several large burial places that have been explored, will be sent to the museum and form a new hall of archeology.

The ruins, which are being excavated by special permission of the United States Department of the Interior, are the largest in the Southwest region and have never before been touched.

From the walls of the kivas has come information on the lives of these early Americans, which heretofore has been merely conjecture. Geometric paintings depicting the religion and domestic habits of a people were found on the walls, still in almost perfect condition.

"Great was our surprise," writes Dr. Martin, "to find fragments of perfect paintings still adhering to the walls of the upper room. They probably had not seen the light of day for 3000 years. All were perfectly geometric and were executed in black and white.

"The information obtained from the lower room is of even more importance. The paintings are in better condition and are similar in design to ancient pottery, representing lightning, rain and clouds. This is the first time such designs have been found on the kiva walls. The exact age of the period will be learned from tree rings of logs yet in place."

With the wall paneling on the way to the museum are thirty pieces of pottery dealing with the same subject matter. Ten men now are working on the ruins removing twenty-one tons of debris daily. Mine dump cars have been installed to facilitate the work.

CALIFORNIAN'S NAME CLEARED

French Court Lifts Doom of Bakersfield Man

Romance of Stolen Identity World War Aftermath

France's Apology for Error Tendered Victim

PARIS, Aug. 20. (AP)—A Paris military tribunal today solemnly absolved Charles Leopold Hartmann of Bakersfield, Cal., from all stigma of having been a German agent during the World War, recalling the death sentence passed upon him in 1919.

The court in rescinding the death sentence transferred it to an unknown person who usurped Hartmann's identity.

Hartman is an American citizen, 75 years of age. He was arrested on charges of being a German spy when he made a visit recently to his birthplace in Alsace.

FRANCE APOLOGIZES

A net of circumstantial evidence had been woven around Hartmann by the activities of the person who had assumed his name, and the French government, in clearing the Californian, acknowledged a singular case of mistaken identity had caused his arrest at Nordheim.

The American, a hotel man, through the Embassy obtained proof he had lived in the United States since 1872, and had not left that country until he sailed July 3 to visit his old home for the first time in a half-century.

A court-martial in 1919 had convicted the asserted spy, who had received a death sentence by default.

The Californian had acquired a modest fortune in America. A few weeks ago he decided to visit his native country, entirely unaware that a German spy during the war had adopted his identity and had subsequently been sentenced to death by the Paris military court.

GENDARMES GREET HIM

When Hartmann reached his native village, bent upon renewing old acquaintances, he was astounded by his immediate arrest. Fortunately, although the original French papers in his early record after the War of 1870 had disappeared, the American Embassy and Consulate-General in Paris were able to satisfy the court he was the wrong man.

Today's judgment gave him final clearance. Robert Murphy, American Consul at Paris, assisted in today's proceedings, but Mr. Hartmann made his own defense in a firm voice which had not lost its Alsatian accent.

The court expressed the sincere regret of France at the error of justice.

RAID MADE ON HOME OF GANGSTERS

Chicago Police Hunting More Clews in Murder of Alfred Lingle

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The luxurious home of the notorious Aiello brothers, Joe and Dominick, was raided late today by detectives under the direction of Pat Roche, chief investigator for State's Attorney Swanson.

Charles F. Rathbun, assistant State's Attorney in charge of investigation into the murder of Alfred Lingle, was present during the raid, which was made under the authority of a search warrant issued by Judge Lyle of the Municipal Court.

A large sheaf of papers was taken and, although the prosecutor refused to discuss the nature of this new evidence, reports were that further links had been found between politics and gangland.

The Aiello brothers were allies of the murdered Jack Zuta, and these three, with George (Bugs) Moran, who is said to have handled the strong-arm end of the business, were known as the bosses of the notorious Zuta-Aiello-Moran gang.

This band of North Side gangsters has been charged with scheming for the murder of Lingle, with Zuta reported to have made the actual arrangements for the killing, and Investigator Roche has been following the trails of this gang in the hope of striking a clew to Lingle's slayers.

JUSTICES END BOMB HEARING

conform to those of Mrs. Hammerberg.

Mrs. Alice Kidwell, mother of Estelle Smith, who reported from her home yesterday her daughter did not tell the truth when she placed Billings at 721 Market street, which he denies, today submitted an affidavit supporting her daughter's story and declaring she, too, saw Billings in the dental office.

An affidavit from O. R. Reams, former San Francisco druggist now living in Seattle, supports the truthfulness of the original identification statements of John MacDonald, the recanting waiter whose recent story caused the hearing, and Superior Judge Dunne, who presided at the Billings trial, sent a letter to Chief Justice Waste declaring the guilty verdict in that case was the correct one, in his opinion, and "I have never had any reason since to change my mind."

PICKERT STANDS PAT

Charles M. Pickert, District Attorney at the time of the bombing prosecutions, flatly contradicted testimony of Estelle Smith that she had told him of the acid-squirting activities of Billings but Miss Smith's testimony in the Billings trial was in his opinion, then and now, correct. She was not used in the Mooney trial, he disclosed, because she and other witnesses had been threatened and the prosecution was sure of its case without her.

He declared the testimony of John MacDonald at this hearing obviously useless but insisted it was sincerely and honestly given in statements made right after the explosion.

CUNHA RECALLED

Edward A. Cunha, assistant to Pickert and Mooney trial prosecutor, went back on the stand to contradict the surprise testimony of Bernard J. Dunn that he had seen the Mooneys on the Eilers Building roof and had told Cunha, among others. Cunha branded the Dunn testimony false and declared Dunn had distinctly told him during the investigation that the last Dunn saw of either of the Mooneys that day was some time before the parade when Mrs. Mooney paid the rent for the studio she operated in the building.

Testimony of W. L. Claiborne, Oakland attorney, that a Billings witness was under an automobile in a Steuart-street garage and could not have made the identification, came to naught when Claiborne's record was introduced and it was shown he served a two-year sentence at San Quentin for perjury in 1915 and he was not a World War hero, as the justices had been led to believe.

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—The American Bar Association, opening the general sessions of its fifty-third annual convention today, refused by a vote of 5 to 1 to withdraw its current referendum on repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment. The lawyers—more than 2000 of them from all parts of the country—also rejected a recommendation they oppose farm relief, and heard Chairman George W. Wickersham explain the progress of President Hoover's law-enforcement commission.

The convention was barely through the preliminary courtesies of welcome addresses when Judge James F. Ailshie of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, attacked the prohibition referendum as a political question upon which the Bar Association should not commit itself. He introduced a resolution demanding an immediate withdrawal of the poll without canvassing.

RULING APPEALED

Former President Gurney E. Newlin of the association declared the referendum could not now be withdrawn since more than 1500 ballots already had been circulated among the members and he moved the Ailshie resolution was out of order and unconstitutional. President Henry Upson Sims, presiding, so ruled.

Ailshie appealed to the convention and that body upheld the ruling of the chair.

The attack on the Agricultural Marketing Act was contained in the report of a committee on American citizenship. Ordinarily this report would not have reached consideration of the convention until tomorrow, but members of the executive committee deemed immediate action expedient because the report had been already published.

RELIEF DENOUNCED

The report had denounced the marketing act as a step toward a Socialistic, soviet government. It declared, "Congress has become a national soup kitchen where every mendicant industry, every greedy, begging group brings its empty bowl to receive its Treasury soup directly or indirectly."

It was rejected.

Another report which failed to find approval of the lawyers was that of a committee on lawless enforcement of law, which denounced the "third degree" and police crime round-ups as finding no warrant in law. This report was rejected by the section of criminal law and criminology and it did not reach the convention session.

REGULATORY LAWS UPHELD

obstacles in the way of the commission, chief among these the lack of adequate crime statistics in the United States, and discussed the prevailing spirit of lawlessness as well as the paradox which he said was presented by liberty and the law.

"There can be no individual right to elect what laws one will or will not obey," he said, adding that "good citizenship must acquiesce in the law as it is for the time being."

Dealing with the lawless acts of government officials, the chairman told the bar members that "a basic difficulty with much of the administration of justice lies in the use of political influence not only in the selection of prosecutors, court officials and judges, but in the performance of their duties. This is perhaps the most pregnant source of the failures in our system of criminal justice; yet, possibly, it is the most difficult to appraise and demonstrate."

CAUSES OF CRIME

He suggested that in the treatment of crime appeals to the divine grace might be more efficacious than psychiatric analyses.

"The commission must determine so far as it may, what are the causes of crime," he said. "It will, of course, be recognized that there is no one definite, ascertainable influence which may be said in itself to cause criminal conduct. Physical and psychological conditions—endocrine glands, for example—may account for much antisocial conduct. Influences surrounding child life; treatment of a first offender by governmental authority—all enter into the problem."

Cyrena Van Gordon and Mate Ask $50,000 Each as Result of His Arrest

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The Edgewater Beach Hotel was named defendant in two suits for $50,000 damages filed in Circuit Court today by Cyrena Van Gordon, civic opera star, and her husband, Dr. Shirley Bogart Munns. The action is the result of the arrest of Dr. Munns on a disorderly conduct charge brought by James McAlvaney assistant manager of the hotel, who accused the physician of kicking in a glass door.

Attorney George Schein, who drew up the bills, said the basis of Dr. Munns's suit is false arrest and imprisonment while that of the opera star is for "damage to her reputation and standing by reason of the notoriety occasioned by the disturbance."

According to the suits McAlvaney, accompanied by two policemen, went to the home of Dr. Munns and Miss Van Gordon in the early morning of the 10th inst. to demand payment of $40 for the asserted damage to the hotel property. They created a disturbance which lasted for three hours, the suits state. Dr. Munns refused to pay the sum and at 5 a.m. he was arrested, although the officers lacked a warrant.

The charges against Dr. Munns were dismissed on the 13th inst., by Judge Lyle, when it appeared there was no evidence to sustain the complaint.

formed tonight of the announcement of the plans for the merger of four air companies into a $4,000,000 corporation, W. A. Letson, president of the United States Airways, announced entrance of his concern was conditional upon the elimination of the Southwest Air Fast Express, a competing line.

"In view of my telephone conversation with Pittsburgh this afternoon," he said, "I cannot understand the announcement."

United States Airways, he said, would not enter the merger until it was assured its competitor would be excluded.

UNION WARFARE FLARES

Walking Delegate Slain and Another Badly Wounded in Chicago Plumbers' Battle

BY JOHN P. GALLAGHER
"Times" Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Union-labor warfare flared again here today when one walking delegate of the faction-torn and gang-ridden Chicago Journeymen Plumbers' Union, Local No. 130—was shot to death and another wounded, probably fatally, on the site where the new Lane Technical High School is under construction.

Charles Mulcahy died instantly with a bullet through his heart. Barney Ruberry was taken to Martha Washington Hospital with four bullet wounds.

John S. Wilson, general plumbing superintendent, and Albert Courchene, plumbing foreman, both employed by the Carl John Stein Plumbing Company, which has the plumbing contract, were the objects of police search. Both have disappeared.

Chief of Detectives John Norton said he had been informed that the two agents had gone to the construction site for the purpose of "shaking down" the superintendent in charge because he was using non-union labor.

Mulcahy and Ruberry have been in considerable trouble recently, mainly with the steamfitters union, and they were said to have had the backing of "Scarface" Al Capone and his gang.

For the last thirty years the history of the Chicago journeymen plumbers' union has been marked by murders, shootings, strife and turmoil, particularly in its officialdom. Frequent clashes have marked the elections of its officials and groups within the organization have been constantly at warfare.

The union, which is said to be one of the richest in the country, was for many years headed by Simon O'Donnell, who died recently, leaving a fortune of $1,000,000. After various following administrations it finally fell into the hands of "Dapper Dan" McCarthy, a well-known gangster.

Bernard Ruberry, who was shot today, made his appearance in the union as a bodyguard for McCarthy. McCarthy went to Los Angeles and recent rumors have it that he has been dropped from the union pay roll. But it was said he continued his control of the union through Ruberry.

LEGION PLEDGES AID TO JOBLESS

Filipinos' Exclusion from America Favored

Long Beach to Get 1931 State Convention

Los Angeles Backed in Bid for National Meeting

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Pledge of assistance in helping World War veterans find employment and adoption of a resolution favoring exclusion of Filipinos from the United States, marked the closing business session of the twelfth annual American Legion department convention here today. The resolution dealing with unemployment was presented by a special committee headed by Nathan F. Coombs, Napa, former Legion Commander. It pledged the Legion to do all possible to assist ex-service men who are out of work.

The Filipino exclusion resolution was adopted amid applause. It declared Filipinos are unassimilable in the United States, and called on Congress to pass restrictive legislation.

LONG BEACH CHOSEN

In the only contest for a State office, Dave McCullough, San Mateo, was elected department Sergeant-at-Arms over C. L. De Benedetti, Concord. J. Emmett McNamara, Merced, was unanimously chosen Alternate National Executive Committeeman. All other officers were named yesterday upon being nominated without opposition.

Long Beach was chosen for the 1931 convention.

Terms of district officers were changed from two years to one year after the warmest debate of the convention sessions.

Brawley Legionnaires were awarded a trophy for having rendered the most outstanding community service during the past year. Honorable mention was given posts of Grass Valley, Watsonville, Salinas and Santa Cruz.

A resolution was adopted favoring establishing of a naval base in San Francisco.

HOSPITAL FUNDS ASKED

Congress was urged to appropriate funds for completion of barracks at the Sawtelle Soldiers' Home, and State funds were sought for additional buildings at the Yountville Veterans' Home.

Efforts of Los Angeles to obtain the 1931 national Legion convention were indorsed, and plans were made to work toward that end at the Boston convention October 6-9.

With the close of the convention, many of the 25,000 visiting Legionnaires left for Lake Tahoe, where a Legion day will be held tomorrow.

VALLEJO WOMAN TO HEAD AUXILIARY

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Marie T. Dunklee, Vallejo, was elected president of the American Legion women's auxiliary at the close of the eleventh annual State convention here today. She succeeded Mrs. Margaret Kaeding of Glendale.

Mrs. Loreta Good, Modesto, defeated candidate for the presidency, was named vice-president. The office was created at the morning session of the convention.

Mrs. Ethel Flynn, Oakland, was unanimously re-elected secretary-treasurer.

A resolution of the National Defense Committee, directed at the "red menace," was unanimously adopted. It pledged the auxiliary to carry on a campaign of education "to arouse the people of the State of California to the red menace and the insidious work which they are doing in our midst." The organization pledged itself to be on the alert to detect signs of such propaganda in the schools of the State.

POLITICAL MOVE OVER DISASTER BODY BEATEN

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—An unsuccessful attempt was made today to inject a political issue into the convention of the American Legion, the veterans' organization whose constitution prohibits entry into politics as a body.

Skillfully maneuvered, a resolution indorsed by several supporters of Gov. Young was introduced, commending the State Emergency Council, formed by the Governor to act in event of major disasters.

However, because the manner of its introduction necessitated a floor vote of delegates, the subdued purpose of the measure became apparent and Milton D. Sapiro, delegate, immediately took steps to stop its passage.

Sapiro, in the course of his remarks, quoted a report of Charles P. Daly of Ventura, member of the American Legion's emergency committee, in which is recommended an effort to have the emergency measure as it exists repealed "because the council has failed to function as provided in the bill," and the council idea itself is held not feasible "because in time of disaster immediate action is needed and no time should be wasted in calling a council meeting to determine what to do." At the present time, the report states, "an appropriation of $15,000 is tied up which cannot be used for any other purpose and is not being used by the State Emergency Council."

After which the suggested recommendation of the council was voted down.

DEATH DEFIERS BOOST CENSUS

Greatest Numerical Gain in History Analyzed

Dwindling Births and Curb on Aliens Can't Stop Us

We Yankees Just Naturally Don't Expire Quickly

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—One setting out to analyse the 1930 census is struck at once by the fact that in spite of a large falling off in the birth rate, and the most stringent immigration restriction in the history of the republic, the numerical gain in population in the last ten years was the greatest on record.

The explanation is believed found in the rapid progress made in reducing the death rate through advances in sanitation and standards of living, medicine and surgery. This trend to fewer deaths proved too swift for the electrical calculator or "clock" at the Census Bureau which through every day, hour and minute is supposed to take all factors into consideration and give the correct population figure for the nation. The census count began April 2, last, and at midnight April 1 the "clock" indicated a population for the continental United States of 122,186,893.

"CLOCK" LAGS

After noting the rather unexpectedly large decline in the birth rate and coupling that with the restriction of immigration some census officials feared that the enumeration would show the calculator to be somewhat ahead of the actual human count.

But the contrary was true, the returns now showing that the "clock" lagged behind by more than 500,000. The real figure was 122,698,190.

In twenty years the birth rate in the United States has dropped off approximately 30 per cent. In 1910, it was near 30 per 1000 in the cities which kept accurate records. In 1930 it is 19.7 per 1000. At the same time immigration has been curtailed to where it is only a small fraction of what it was in prewar days. Up to 1914 immigrants came to the United States at the rate of 1,000,000 a year. During the war period, immigration virtually ceased but after the war the influx was renewed in even greater volume and Congress was forced to establish a restrictive policy cutting down admissions to 150,000 a year. Due to lenient regulations concerning close relatives of citizens a few thousand more than that have been coming in the last six or seven years.

DEATHS DECLINE

To balance the falling off in the birth rate and the reduction in immigration there has been a marked decline in the per capita death rate. In 1910 it was 15 per 1000; in 1915 it was 14; in 1920 it was 13.1 and 1928 it was 12. Students of the question believe that the decline in the death rate will continue and be as remarkable in the next twenty years as in the past twenty. But if the birth rate also continues to fall at the present rate some experts predict that births and deaths will balance each other by 1970. Then the nation would be dependent for any increase in population on immigration and judging from the trend of legislation it will not be many years before this is shut off entirely. Thus is foreseen a possible condition in which our population will be at a standstill.

The Philippines were not included in the census just taken. Adding the number of inhabitants of the other territories and possessions to the figure for continental United States the Census Bureau found a total of 124,848,864. This is an increase of 17,339,908, or 16.1 per cent over 1920. If the Philippines were added, it would give a total of more than 135,000,000 persons living under the Stars and Stripes.

GREATEST POWER

All other great world powers are now outranked by the United States unless one is to include India's great mass of population to the figures for Great Britain.

It is interesting to hark back to the first census taken in 1790, the year following the inauguration of Gen. Washington as President, and follow the growth of the republic. The total population in 1790 was 3,929,214, or about one-thirtieth of what it is now. The gain in the last decade was more than four times the entire population 140 years ago.

The increase since 1920 is equal to the entire population of the country in 1840.

It has virtually quadrupled since 1860, the year Lincoln was elected President. It has practically doubled since the census of 1890, just forty years ago.

In the last ten years the growth of the United States has been equivalent to adding two Canadas and has been more than the entire population of Mexico. Since the beginning of the present century more than 47,000,000 persons, a number larger than the present population of either England or France, have been added to the population of the United States.

DROUGHT FUND PLAN ADVANCED

Hoover Committee Takes Up Financial Measures

Credit Corporations May be Started in Each State

Seed Loans of $800,000 to be Made Available

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—A proposal to establish State or local credit corporations to arrange loans to drought-stricken farmers through intermediate credit banks at a maximum interest of 6 per cent was advanced at the initial meeting today of President Hoover's national drought relief committee.

Banking representatives on State relief committees now being organized throughout the drought area were called to meet here next Tuesday to put the financial program in more definite form.

Meeting at the White House, the committee went over the situation with the President and appraised the relief facilities of each agency represented. All members were present except Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker.

ANOTHER FUND

Secretary Hyde, the chairman, announced it also has been decided to use immediately for seed loans the $800,000 remaining of a $6,000,000 fund appropriated at the last session of Congress for relief in more than a dozen States.

As the act specifies the States in which the fund is to be expended, Secretary Hyde said the $800,000 can be used in only a few of the drought States—Virginia, Ohio, Indiana, Missouri and Montana.

R. H. Aishton, representing the American Railway Association on the committee, said the emergency freight rates on feed and cattle now in effect in the East and South, will be extended to western territory Friday.

PLAN EXPLAINED

The idea of local credit corporations is similar to that followed in the Mississippi flood disaster. The Federal Farm Loan Board was asked to supervise the task of creating the organizations if the proposal is agreed on at the bankers' conference next week.

Under the tentative plan, the local or State credit agencies will arrange for loans to farmers on easy security, indorse them and turn them over to the intermediate credit banks. The credit corporations will be permitted to charge 2 per cent more than the 4 per cent interest now charged by the intermediate banks making the maximum interest to the farmer 6 per cent.

Hyde estimated approximately $20,000,000 will meet the loan demands of the corporation.

The movement of cattle to market, Hyde said, has not as yet reached "alarming proportions." He added that C. B. Denman, Farm Board member, is arranging for shipments of Montana cattle to sections where feed can be obtained.

AUXILIARY HEAD ELECTED

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20. (AP)—Mrs. Edith H. Bird of Toledo, O., was elected president of the auxiliary of the United Spanish War Veterans today.

"Could Feel It Strengthen His Whole System"

Sargon, the new scientific medicine that has created such a sensation wherever introduced, is not backed by sweeping promises or claims, but stands squarely upon its own record of amazing successes, proven by the statements of thousands who have found new health and strength through its use. Read the grateful statement made recently by W. C. Lynch, retired business man of 2706 Wilshire Blvd., Los Angeles, who said:

"I wasn't what you call a sick man, but I never did feel good either. I tired out easily and many times while seated at my desk I would feel so dull, drowsy and listless I would have given anything in the world to feel right again. I didn't have any appetite at all and my nerves were so shattered I'd roll and toss all night long. I could hardly pull myself out of bed in the morning and my strength and vitality seemed to be entirely gone.

"Well, sir, it may not sound possible, but I could literally feel the wonderful strengthening effects of Sargon over my entire system. It gave me a hearty appetite and I'm eating twice as much as I did. My nerves are as steady as a 'die,' I sleep like a log and get up every morning feeling brimful of energy and pep. There are thousands of people who need the Sargon treatment just like I did, and I wish every one of them could know how fine it is."

Sargon may be obtained at all Owl Drug Stores and Liggett Drug Stores in Los Angeles and other cities.—[Advertisement.

AIR DERBY ENTRY HURT SERIOUSLY

Mrs. Haizlip En Route to Join Dixie Group Has Smash-up in South

GREENWOOD (S. C.) Aug. 20. (AP) Mrs. May Haizlip of St. Louis, noted woman flyer, cracked up her plane in an attempted landing near here today and was injured seriously.

She was brought to a hospital here and still was unconscious several hours after the crash.

Mrs. Haizlip was flying from Atlanta to Washington to participate in the women's "Dixie Derby." She apparently lost her way and attempted to land in a cotton field.

One wheel on the landing-gear broke as she came down and the plane nosed over.

Miss Vera Dawn Walker of Los Angeles was accompanying Mrs. Haizlip to Washington in another plane. She landed safely near the Haizlip craft.

Physicians attending Mrs. Haizlip said she probably will recover.

Miss Walker took off this afternoon for Washington to enter the women's "Dixie Derby."

ACADIANS RETURN TO GRAND PRE

Descendants of Gabriel and Evangeline Stroll Under Ancient Willows

GRAND PRE (N. S.) Aug. 20. (AP) The ancient willows of Grand Pre, which were full-grown trees when the French Acadians of this historic village were torn from their homes and scattered abroad in 1755, offered shade again today to norman-capped and kirtled maids as in the days made immortal in Longfellow's poem.

A party of direct descendants of the Acadians of Grand Pre, most of them from Louisiana, came here today to observe the 175th anniversary of the deportation of their forbears from the land of Acadia.

Today the party came to Grand Pre, an Acadian village turned for a day into a beautiful park. The willows, Evangeline's well and the memorial church—all these are here.

Interstate Board Orders Revision of Cotton Rates

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—A general revision of railroad rates on cotton was ordered today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to be effective January 10, 1931.

In its main features the order leaves practically undisturbed the present cotton rates applying to the southeast quarter of the country, but reduces rates applying to the Mississippi Valley to the point of equalizing them with the eastern rates.

It provides for cotton rates in the Southwest on a basis 10 per cent higher than that applying in the Southeast, and it alters the export rates on cotton to Texas seaports in such fashion as to decrease the charges levied for short hauls and increase those applying to long ones.

ROSWELL (N. M.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Marjorie Doig of Danbury, Ct., today gained four minutes and fifteen seconds on Gladys O'Donnell, Long Beach, in the national women's air derby from Long Beach to Chicago. Six women flyers today made three hops from Douglas, Ariz., here.

Tomorrow at 9 a.m. the women hop off for Lubbock and then to Amarillo, Tex., overnight stopping place.

RACE HAS THRILLS

The race to date has had its thrills for the feminine flyers. Monday Miss Barron lost her way and flew 110 miles off the course in Arizona. Miss Doig, in creeping up on Mrs. O'Donnell, overcame a landing accident at Tucson. There her plane nosed over, damaging the propeller and landing-gear. She supervised hurried repairs and went ahead on schedule, finishing yesterday's jumps sixteen minutes behind Mrs. O'Donnell.

The flyers finished at their three stops today in the same order: O'Donnell, Doig, Barron, La Rene, Morgan and Stewart.

PLANES BEGIN ARRIVING FOR NATIONAL RACE

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—While fast planes of contestants in three national air-race derbies were hurtling toward Chicago from three points on the nation's rim, advance squadrons of the mighty air armada which will assemble here for the races beginning Saturday arrived today.

Among those arriving were a group of army flyers from Selfridge Field, Mich., and Langley Field, Virginia. They and a score of contestants landed at Curtiss Airport, scene of the races, and took up their quarters in the various hangars as an army of carpenters drove the final nails in the stands which will seat 60,000 spectators.

The third of the seven air derbies of the 1930 races got underway today when three contestants took off from Miami, Fla.

Spanish War Veterans in Encampment Declare for Preparedness Program

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20. (AP)—Resolutions urging preparedness by the nation and a greater restriction on immigration, including indorsement of the Harris bill, were adopted today by the United Spanish War Veterans in annual encampment here.

The Harris measure, which has passed the Senate and is awaiting action in the House, would restrict immigration into this country from other nations of the Western Hemisphere. Another resolution adopted urged Congress to make provision for an "adequate" naval reserve force.

Edward S. Matthias, Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, was elected National Commander. He defeated Robert Wankowski of Venice, Cal., the only other nominee for the place.

Warren J. Shepherd, Los Angeles, was re-elected Colonel Commander of Company D, Seventh United States Infantry Association. The association held its first annual reunion in connection with the Spanish War veterans' encampment.

The Roosevelt drum, fife and bugle corps, Los Angeles, carried off first honors in a band contest tonight. Second prize was won by the Detroit corps and third by the department of Ohio corps from Toledo.

Veterans Would Use Reservists

CHARLESTON (W. Va.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Assignment of all Medical Corps reserve officers to the United States Veterans' Bureau for fifteen days' active duty annually to relieve delay in acting upon compensation claims was proposed by C. M. Jones, State service officer and member of the National Executive Committee of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, in a letter to President Hoover.

The plan, Jones said in his letter, was worked out by the executive committee of the Disabled Veterans of the World War, to meet congestion in veterans' bureau regional offices "brought about by the recent liberalization of laws affecting World War veterans."

River Commission Approves Official's Preparations

Action will be Brought in Federal Supreme Court

Attorney-General Tells of Activity in Washington

PHOENIX, Aug. 20. (AP)—The Arizona Colorado River Commission approved unanimously today preparations made in Washington by Atty.-Gen. Peterson for filing a suit to test the constitutionality of the Boulder Canyon Dam Act, and directed Peterson to file a motion for leave to enter the action in the United States Supreme Court. The Attorney-General said he expects to place the motion before the tribunal when the Supreme Court convenes in September.

Peterson reported to the commission on his activities in Washington during a recent visit there, including the filing of a brief with the United States Comptroller asserting the Congressional appropriation of $10,660,000 to be unavailable and illegal because all requirements have not been met. The Attorney-General said the suit to be placed before the Supreme Court, which will attack the Boulder Dam Act in its entirety, is in final form ready for printing.

In attendance at today's meeting, in addition to Ward and Peterson, were Commission Secretary Ross, Commission Member Favor, Special Assistant Attorney-General Mathews and Gov. Phillips.

There are flecked wools, light weight novelty tweeds and interesting new black weaves with touches of fur or lighter silks. Because of the great style importance of wool frocks you'll undoubtedly want several.

NAVY DEFENDS AIR BASE RIGHTS

Secretary Adams Prepares New Letter for Hoover

Army Contention Assailed in Latest Communication

United Sky Force Plan May Go to Congress Again

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The right of the Navy to a limited number of land air bases for its use in protecting American coastal air lanes and national possessions outside the continental limits of the United States is upheld by Secretary of the Navy Adams in a letter prepared today for transmission to President Hoover.

This communication, which is by way of reply to the War Department's contention that all land-based tactical air units should be controlled by the Army, marked the latest development in the long-standing dispute between the Army and Navy over control of coastal air defense. Four communications bearing on this subject have been placed in the President's hands by Secretary of War Hurley and navy officials since Mr. Hoover took up the task of settling the "row."

BOTH HAVE BASES

At present both the Army and Navy maintain tactical fighting units at land bases. Adequate national coastal defense in the air, however, has been jeopardized by the inability of the two services to agree to an acceptable plan for division of the work of coast defense and for unified action in event of war. As a result of the existing situation reports have developed that agitation for a united land air force will be revived when Congress meets next winter.

At present the Navy operates patrol and scouting aircraft from shore in connection with its function of protecting sea lanes from enemy raids. The Army operates aircraft from shore bases for all other purposes. The heart of the dispute is over which service shall provide and control the bombing and pursuit aircraft that will operate from land bases and fly over the sea to their flying radius.

The Navy maintains air-training stations at San Diego and Hampton Roads. It has torpedo units at Panama and Honolulu and is endeavoring to obtain funds for acquiring more torpedo and patrol planes for use at these outlying bases.

DUPLICATION CHARGED

The Army charges that the Navy is duplicating Army work and violating the joint board air agreement when it utilizes bombing planes from Panama and Honolulu. Acting on this theory, Secretary Hurley has urged that the Navy be given no more funds for the purchase of torpedo planes for use at these points. The War Department asserts the Navy now has 188 planes that should have been supplied to the Army.

In his latest communication, Secretary Adams asserts that the Navy cannot sacrifice any of its present land bases if it is to be expected to perform its mission of protecting merchant shipping in the coastal sea lanes and protecting outlying bases. The Secretary called attention to the 1927 agreement for joint air action by the Army and Navy along the coast line which was prepared by the joint board of the Army and Navy and urges that the Army be directed to conform to its provision.

Burned Liner will be Sold

HONOLULU, Aug. 20. (AP)—The steamship City of Honolulu, which recently burned at her wharf here and was scuttled, will be sold soon, possibly for scrapping, it was said today by T. C. Warkman, Pacific Coast representative of Lloyd's, underwriters.

George H. Zeh, master of the ship, turned in her papers to the Collector of Customs, thus giving up control by the Los Angeles Steamship Company. Zeh and four former members of the crew will leave for Los Angeles Saturday.

PINCHOT'S SELECTION SUSTAINED

Court Refuses to Throw Out 60,000 Ballots Which Had Been Perforated

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20. (AP)—Gifford Pinchot's right to the Republican nomination for Governor was formally established today by the Supreme Court of Pennsylvania. The four members of the tribunal who yesterday heard argument in the appeal taken by Francis Shunk Brown, the Philadelphia organization's contender for the nomination, handed down an order dismissing Brown's case.

Brown's fight was based on the paper ballots cast in Luzerne county in the primary May 20. To prevent fraud, by the substitution of spurious ballots, the County Court directed that a custom which had been followed in several previous elections be continued, and that perforated numbers be placed on each ballot. All the perforated numbers in each voting district were the same.

Substantially, the Supreme Court held that while the Luzerne county court had exceeded its legal powers by ordering the perforation of the ballots, this was not sufficient reason for throwing out the 60,000 votes cast by means of them. The throwing out of these votes would have defeated Pinchot.

Tahoe Pumping Allowed Under Order of Court

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20. (AP)—An armistice ending the war which has been raging over Lake Tahoe water rights was reached today when Federal Judge Louderback signed an order modifying a previous restraining order construed to forbid pumping operations at Lake Tahoe.

The decree states that the restraining order "shall not preclude the defendants from pumping water" from the lake. Resumption of pumping activities by John Latourette, Sacramento contractor, is expected at once.

The modifying order was subject to provisions agreed to by the opposing factions under which the Nevada interests will be permitted to pump 20,000 acre feet in addition to the natural flow of the Truckee River, providing the lake level does not fall lower than an elevation of 6223.5 feet.

NAVY GETS REAL TARGETS

Destroyers, One Controlled by Radio, will be Used for Ship and Plane Attacks

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Three scarred and battered destroyers are to become "perennial" targets for the lighter guns of the Navy's battleships.

Already one of these vessels is being equipped with a radio control that will enable it to move crewless about the seas while the guns of the larger ships blaze away at it.

The Stoddert, which has been in service for ten years, is the first of the three destroyers selected to improve the Navy's markmanship. The others will be chosen later from similar craft built during the war.

In firing on these vessels gunners will use target ammunition which contains no explosive and will only tear holes in the defenseless craft instead of blasting them out of the water.

Two other destroyers, the Sloat and the Marcus, are to become stationary targets for bombing tests. They will be dismantled and anchored at sea, where airplanes will drop enough bombs to determine whether four thirty-pound or one 116-pound bomb will be more effective.

The Navy also is hopeful of equipping the battleship Utah, which the United States must lose under the London naval treaty, with radio control for operation as a moving target.

Once before the Navy experimented with a radio-controlled vessel. The battleship Iowa was sunk by gunfire after it had been bombed.

HONORS HEAPED ON SHIP HEROES

Pago Pago Cheers Rescuers of 317 Aboard Tahiti

Passengers Praise Conduct of Crew During Ordeal

Honolulu Plans Welcome to Ventura's Officers

HONOLULU, Aug. 20. (AP)—The Chamber of Commerce today initiated a movement to give officers and crew of the Matson liner Ventura a civic welcome, when the vessel arrives here Monday or Tuesday with the 317 persons rescued from the British liner Tahiti, which went down in the South Pacific off Rarotonga, Cook Islands, Sunday.

A welcoming committee will greet the Ventura outside the harbor and a military band will greet the vessel at the dock.

PAGO PAGO HAILS RESCUERS AND RESCUED

PAGO PAGO (Samoa) Aug. 20. (AP)—A trans-Pacific liner sank in a remote spot in the South Seas last Sunday and the net effect among her 317 passengers and crew members was the fainting of two women during the rescue operations.

Stories of the remarkable rescue echoed through Pago Pago today as the rescue ship Ventura sailed away to San Francisco after making a seven-hour stop here to facilitate handling the survivors of the British steamer Tahiti.

The Ventura, which made a 700-mile dash to the Tahiti and snatched her human cargo from the face of a threatening sea just before the doomed vessel went down, arrived here yesterday afternoon and departed last night amid tumultuous cheers.

The air lanes were swamped with messages of thanks and congratulation for Capt. W. R. Meyer and his crew of the Ventura. A banquet was given in honor of rescuers and rescued. First Assistant Engineer Thompson of the Tahiti also was hailed as a hero.

Every signal station in the harbor spelled out "well done" in international code flags as the Ventura approached. Every available whistle and other noise maker in Pago Pago was brought into play to greet the ship.

The cool headedness of Capt. A. H. Toten of the Tahiti and his crew came in for large measures of praise. For three days fear held sway on the stricken liner and twice it appeared she was about to go down with all hands, but there was no disturbance. The Ventura effected the rescue less than three hours before the Tahiti disappeared beneath the waves.

LONGEST DASH

The 700-mile dash of the Ventura is believed to have been the longest of its kind on record. She turned about, raced through virtually uncharted seas, making sixteen knots under forced draft through rough water and arrived alongside the sinking ship in forty-seven hours.

All hands, passengers, luggage, mail and a consignment of gold were taken aboard. Everyone escaped without a scratch. The two women who fainted were treated by ship's physicians.

Sir Hugh Allen, director of the British Royal College of Music, a passenger of the Tahiti, praised the conduct of the ill-fated liner's crew as well as the work of the rescuers. None of the passengers, he said, knew of the danger until hours after the propeller shaft broke. He said the fight to keep the Tahiti afloat and the rescue operations were carried out as if they were drills.

Bishop Bennett, another passenger, said passengers became slightly nervous when a commotion was heard among the crew but came on deck only to meet smiling officers and stewards who requested them to don life preservers.

Ship's lights went out Saturday night when water reached the electric generators. Flashlights and a few lanterns served the sleepless company. About 11 o'clock that night the Penybryn arrived and circled the Tahiti. This bolstered the morale aboard the stricken ship and all eyes scanned the eastern horizon for the Ventura.

After completing the rescue work the Ventura stood by until the Tahiti sank.

"There was no uncertainty among the passengers and crew of the Tahiti," said Bishop Bennett. "All hands were admirable in handling the situation. It was done so well that it seemed to lack direction."

HAVE TIME TO LAUGH

Chief Officer Trask of the Ventura said all boats of the Tahiti were scuttled and air banks smashed. When the stricken ship did not sink as rapidly as expected, Capt. Toten and the carpenter of the Tahiti went aboard her and opened two water-tight doors and ran for it.

They had time to laugh, however, when the carpenter slipped on the wet, sloping deck in his scramble back to safety. In five minutes the Tahiti stood up on her stern and sank.

Capt. Toten and his crew of 149 and seventeen of the Tahiti's passengers left the Ventura here. Passengers were taken to various Pagopago homes and the crew was housed in military barracks.

Capt. Meyer remained noncommittal. He seemed to regard his rescue feat as a part of the day's work and was anxious to get under way again, hoping to make up some of the time lost in turning back to save the human cargo of the Tahiti.

SAN FRANCISCO PLANS HONORS FOR RESCUERS

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20. (AP)—A hero's welcome for Capt. W. R. Meyer and his officers and crew of the steamship Ventura, who rescued passengers and crew of the liner Tahiti is being planned for his return to San Francisco.

A huge civic celebration beginning with the docking of the Ventura September 1 is being arranged by city officials and members of the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

An elaborate welcome was decided upon at a noon meeting of the Junior Chamber when Capt. S. S. Sandberg, United States Shipping Board commissioner, described the rescuing of those on the Tahiti as "a heroic act, unparalleled in the annals of Pacific shipping."

UNIFORM AIR LAWS SOUGHT

National Conference Backs Federal Regulations

States Urged to Make Their Statutes Conform

Legislation for Control of Airports Advocated

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Adoption of the Federal laws regulating airports, airplanes and air transportation by the various States was recommended today in committee reports passed by the first national air conference at the close of its three-day session.

The recommendation was passed with a view to obtaining uniformity in laws governing the air. Those States which now have conflicting laws were urged to enact legislation which would bring these laws into conformity with the Federal regulations as to air traffic rules and the licensing of aircraft and airmen.

SURVEY REQUESTED

In order to prevent further conflict in regulatory laws the conference asked that a committee be appointed to study the province of the Federal and State governments in matters of aviation regulation.

A third recommendation urged that States provide by law for the purchasing, maintenance and policing of airports by municipalities and that where such airports are established outside the corporate limits the municipalities be granted legislation to permit necessary regulation.

Other recommendations provided that each State undertake the development of a system of airways conforming to the standards of the Federal system; require by law the marking of airports as provided for in Department of Commerce regulations, that cities be marked for airmen and that a State officer be employed to supervise and enforce this law.

AIRWAY SYSTEM FAVORED

The conference went on record as favoring the establishment of a comprehensive system of national airways, giving equal consideration to all sections of the country without regard to questions of population density, but giving greatest consideration where topographical conditions are unfavorable to flying.

The conference, the first of its kind ever held in this country, was attended by delegates from the State legislatures, air-traffic experts, transport operators and flyers, and legal authorities. It was sponsored by the Illinois Aerial Navigation Commission, the air-law institute of Northwestern University, the Illinois Commerce Commission and the Chicago Association of Commerce.

WASSERKRUPPE (Germany) Aug. 20. (AP)—Lieut. Hasse Hemmer of the German military police office, one of the contestants in the international gliding competition here, said today he plans to glide over the English Channel next March.

The novel feature of his scheme is that he intends to ride upon the clouds and winds of a storm. He will use his present machine, a widespread monoplane, and will soar off from Folkestone, England, with the first thunderstorm that heads toward Calais. He intends to carry a parachute and life belt.

It now develops, according to New Jersey authorities, that he had had considerable experience, already having one wife when he met the Cleveland girl. Bigamy charges have been placed against him at Absecon, N. J., by police who say his other wife is the former Elizabeth Gates of Philadelphia.

Miss Thomas was not greatly surprised when she was notified of the bigamy action, McKelvy having deserted her in a small Iowa town just three weeks after their marriage.

MAKE-UP OF NEW BOARD ANNOUNCED

Hoover's Unemployment Commission Personnel Given by Davis

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Secretary Davis today announced the personnel of President Hoover's unemployment statistical commission, which will convene here October 6, next.

The members are John P. Frey of the American Federation of Labor, Arthur O. Wharton of the railroad brotherhoods and affiliated organizations, Dr. Leo Wolman, National Board of Economic Research; Harold F. Brown, National Industrial Conference Board; P. W. Mitchfield, United States Chamber of Commerce; William M. Steuart, director of the census; Ethelbert Stewart, director of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, Department of Labor; Dr. Joseph Willits, advisory committee of the census of unemployment, and Noel Sargent, National Association of Manufacturers.

Secretary Davis expressed confidence in the outcome of the conference, and said he believes a study of statistics will reveal a steady decrease in unemployment.

Much of the unemployment which prevailed throughout the winter and spring and has been prevalent to some extent by reason of the drought should vanish, he said, with the revival of industry, including mining operations slowed down by reason of overproduction.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Employment in California is about 17 per cent lower than a year ago, the California labor market bulletin, issued by the State statistician, Louis Bloch, indicated today.

Dr. Bloch's figures for 775 establishments exclusive of public utilities, but including all other industries show a figure for July 17.6 per cent lower than July, 1929, with a weekly pay roll 21.3 per cent lower.

The average weekly earnings of laborers is computed to be $29.39, a decrease of 4.5 per cent, compared with a year ago.

Naval Academy Urged to Train Civilian Sailors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—A recommendation the Naval Academy enrollment be increased to provide navy-trained men for merchant vessels in time of peace and service ships in war was made in a radio address tonight by Acting Secretary Jahncke of the Navy. He said the academy could accommodate from 150 to 160 students in excess of the Navy's needs.

He added that while it cost about $350,000 to graduate 115 students from three State nautical schools, the number of graduates at Annapolis could be increased 500 at an expenditure of about $475,000.

For twenty years Van and Schenck had been a vaudeville team of headliners and with Schenck's recent sudden death in Detroit his partner decided to go it alone.

WORK TO START ON NEW AIRWAY

Federal Aeronautics Chief Makes Announcement

Route Linking Birmingham and San Diego Planned

Bids for Mail Contract to be Opened Next Monday

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Pursuant to the recommendation of the Interdepartmental Committee on Civil Airways that a southern transcontinental airway be established, and as a result of the action of that body in determining the route to be followed by the air mail, the aeronautics branch will undertake construction of the airway from Birmingham, Ala., to San Diego, via Fort Worth, El Paso, Douglas, Tucson and Phoenix, it was announced today by Clarence M. Young, assistant Secretary of Commerce for aeronautics.

OPENING OF BIDS SET

Bids for an air-mail contract over this route through to Los Angeles are to be opened by the Postoffice Department next Monday.

"That portion of the airway from New York to Birmingham, via Richmond and Atlanta, already is lighted and in operation," Mr. Young said. "From Birmingham the airway will be routed west to Dallas. This section, which will be equipped for day operation only, has not yet been surveyed for intermediate landing-field sites and other aides to air navigation, but work toward this end will go forward shortly.

SURVEY COMPLETED

"From Dallas, the airway will extend west to Fort Worth and will pass through Abilene, Sweetwater, Big Springs, Midland, Wink and El Paso. This section will be equipped for night flying. The survey has been completed and work on conditioning intermediate landing fields, establishing beacon lights and providing radio aids to air navigation will be undertaken at once.

"From El Paso the airway will be routed to Douglas, Tucson and Phoenix, thence southwesterly to Wellton, thence west via Yuma and El Centro and thence due west to San Diego, where it will join with Pacific coastwise air lines.

"The El Paso-San Diego section now is being surveyed for sites for intermediate landing fields, beacon lights and radio aids to air navigation. As soon as the survey is completed, work will be begun."

DEMOCRATS GO WET IN ILLINOIS

Sopping Platform Adopted at State Convention

J. Hamilton Lewis Rails at Prohibition Laws

Mrs. McCormick's Outlays in Campaign Condemned

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Aug. 20. (AP) Denunciation of prohibition; demand for repeal of the Volstead Act, the Jones five-and-ten law, the Illinois "search and seizure act," and enactment of legislation legalizing light wines and beer, were salient points of the platform adopted at the Democratic State convention today.

The "dripping" wet plank, sponsored by members of the powerful Cook county group headed by Anton J. Cermak, was presented after a bitter denunciation of the liquor laws by the party's Senatorial standard bearer, James Hamilton Lewis.

"Prohibition," he said, "has deprived us of character as 'citizens of a State' and made us 'subjects of a province.' Such tyranny it was that parted us, as a country, from England."

Some opposition to an unequivocal antiprohibition platform had been voiced by down-State leaders in committee but the differences were ironed out and the vote of approval was unanimous.

In equally vigorous language, the platform condemned the campaign expenditures of Ruth Hanna McCormick, Lewis's opponent. The platform assailed the Republican party for the tariff and unemployment.

"Colgate's is most efficient cleanser"*

Dr. Shirley W. Wynne

Commissioner of Health of New York City

RESPONSIBLE for the health of six million Americans, Dr. Shirley W. Wynne, Health Commissioner of New York City, singles out Colgate's Ribbon Dental Cream as "the most effective cleanser" of those examined. His approval is undeniably impressive. Interested as he is in all branches of public health, Dr. Wynne recently made a careful study of the difference in dentifrices. He examined tests made by some of America's greatest analytical chemists.

Dr. Wynne's conclusion is based on the recent research of such eminent authorities as Dr. Hardee Chambliss, Dean of the School of Sciences, Catholic University of America, Washington, D. C.; Dr. Philip B. Hawk, M. S., Yale, Ph. D., Columbia; Jerome Alexander, B. S., M. S., internationally famous among consulting chemists and chemical engineers; Dr. H. H. Bunzell, Ph. D., University of Chicago; and others, retained to make analytical tests and report their findings.

All agree that Colgate's is supreme because of its penetrating foam. This active agent flushes out the decaying food particles which lodge between the teeth. Colgate's thus cleanses completely—in a way impossible with sluggish tooth pastes which merely polish the outer surfaces of the teeth.

Dr. Wynne says:

"The sole function of a dentifrice is to thoroughly cleanse the teeth and gums. To be an effective cleanser a dentifrice must have low surface tension in solution. Low surface tension is, therefore, the true scientific indication of cleansing power on the part of a dentifrice in actual use.

"I have examined the reports of laboratory tests made by eminent chemists who have compared Colgate's with other prominent dentifrices and I find that Colgate's rates the lowest surface tension of those examined. This means that Colgate's is the most efficient cleanser because it gets into the crevices between the teeth, thus removing and flooding away decaying foods."*

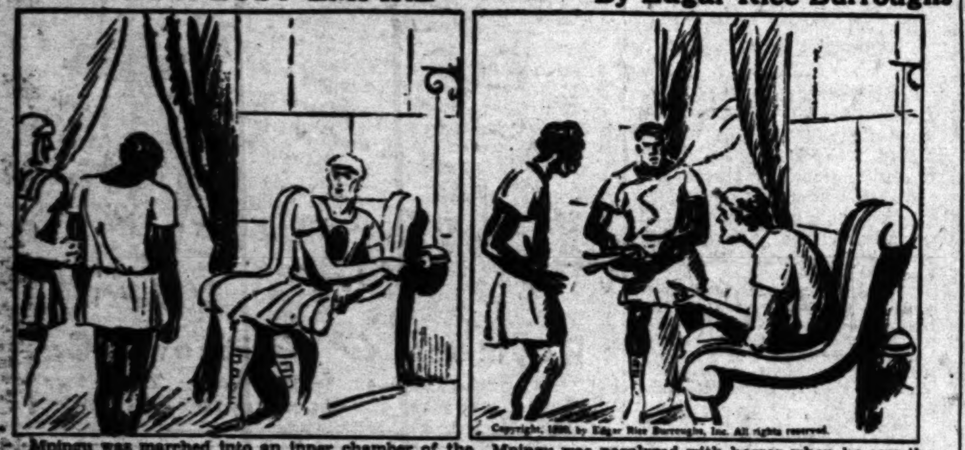
TARZAN AND THE LOST EMPIRE

By Edgar Rice Burroughs



Copyright, 1930, by Edgar Rice Burroughs, Inc. All rights reserved.

Mpingu was marched into an inner chamber of the palace, where a high dignitary of the court confronted him. Although he was trembling with fear, the slave refused to reveal what he knew about Tarzan's hiding place. The Roman turned and struck a gong. An attendant appeared. "Fetch tongs and a brazier with burning iron," the Roman commanded.

Mpingu was paralyzed with horror when he saw the attendant return with the tongs and a lighted burner, from the glowing heart of which protruded the handle of a burning iron. "Your eyes will be burnt out now," the Roman said. "And then if you do not tell us where the barbarian is, your tongue will be cut out. Think it over."

But even then, Mpingu maintained his silence. So, at a signal, the soldiers seized him and threw him roughly to the floor, four of them holding him, one seated upon each limb. "The tongs!" the official commanded. As the burning iron approached his eyes, Mpingu shrieked, "Wait! Wait! I will talk. I will tell you everything."

Mpingu in his terror then revealed the fact that Tarzan was hiding in the home of Maximus Praeclarus. A few minutes later the official who had questioned him entered the apartment of Sublatus where the Emperor was closeted with his son, Fastus. When the official revealed the news, Fastus said craftily, "Don't arrest them. I have a plan. Listen!"

TWO BODIES FOUND IN BAY

San Diego Authorities Declare One Man Suicide and Investigation Continues in Other Case

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—With the discovery of the bodies of two men floating in San Diego Bay this morning, police and Coroner's officers continued an investigation into the death of one of the men while the other was officially declared a suicide.

Circumstances surrounding the finding of the body of a well-dressed man about 30 years old in the bay at the foot of Twenty-fourth street in National City continued to baffle officials. The other body, that of Julien Ballotti, 50, an Italian, was taken from the bay near the foot of Fifth avenue.

Ballotti, an employee of the M. & M. Bar, apparently leaped into the bay late last night. At Ballotti's home, 501 Fourteenth street, Coroner Kelly discovered a suicide note written in Italian. Translated, the note indicated that Ballotti was despondent and depressed over financial difficulties. He left his "best wishes" to his friends, according to the note. Ballotti, at liberty under bond in connection with the sale of bitters in the bar at Sixth and Island avenues, was to face court the 27th inst. for trial, officers said.

The body of the man found on the bay shore at National City was devoid of any external marks of violence, officials said. He was a man about five feet nine inches tall, weighing about 170 pounds. Lott M. Smith of 2026 D avenue, National City, a night watchman, discovered the body. He notified police and Deputy Coroner Harry Leech.

RESERVOIR ROOF MAY COME OFF

Glendale Asks Bids on Placing of Fountain and Removing Wooden Cover

GLENDALE, Aug. 20.—City officials are studying bids submitted in accordance with a plan to remove the present wooden covering from the city reservoir in Chevy Chase Canyon and convert the 15,000,000-gallon tank into one of the city's chief beauty spots.

It is planned to place a fountain in the middle of the reservoir, capable of sending a spray of water fifty feet into the air, and to erect an ornamental fence around the edge of the basin. The fountain would stand on a pedestal.

The reservoir covers approximately three acres in the Chevy Chase district and lies close to the winding roadway through the canyon that is so popular with motorists driving between Glendale and the Pasadena district. The Chevy Chase Golf Club also lies close to the reservoir, and suggestions have been made to the City Council by property owners that the removal of the lumber roof from the reservoir and the substitution of a design that would be in keeping with the surrounding territory would be beneficial.

Six bids have been received, each based on two alternatives. One would leave the ownership of the lumber in the city's name and the other would give the lumber to the contractor whose bid was accepted.

Figures quoted indicate that the final cost will be around $7000 in one case and $10,000 in the other.

Ups and Downs in This Contest

ONTARIO, Aug. 20.—Keeping in step with other marathon-minded communities, this city today was watching with interest a "teeter-totter" contest on the front lawn of the Barton home, 160 Acacia Court, where two teams of youngsters have set out to seek an up-and-down reputation.

One team is composed of Fay Gentry, 140 Acacia Court, and Everett Barton. The others are Rovelle Remington, 110 Acacia Court, and Lenore Barton.

They began teetering Monday night at 8 o'clock, and seemed well on the way to some sort of record by Tuesday night.

Fifteen minutes are taken out each two hours for rest.

Sleeping is done right on the teeter board. While one sleeps huddled at one end of the board, the other keeps it going up and down.

The parents of the respective youngsters are the refuelling teams. They and scores of neighbors keep the marathoners entertained during the daylight hours.

The two teams intend to keep on going up and down until something happens to gain them fame.

Huntington Park Has Natal Day

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 20.—Twenty-four years ago today the voters in Huntington Park at a special election cast their ballots to decide whether this territory should become a city of the sixth class, or whether it should remain unincorporated. When the ballots were counted it was found that the vote was 77 for incorporation and 17 against the proposition. So within a few days after the election reports were sent to the State officials to be recorded, Huntington Park entered the list of cities of the Southland. Since then it has grown to a city with a population of 24,590, according to the recent Federal census.

ONTARIO MAY AGAIN GO BACK TO CURFEW

ONTARIO, Aug. 20.—Ontario may go back to the curfew system of getting the youngsters into bed. A request made to city officials by Policewoman Vangie McMullen that a 9 o'clock blast be blown each night warning youngsters to go into their own homes, is now under consideration by Mayor Francis P. Williams and his cabinet.

Inglewood Tax Rate Reduced Another Time

INGLEWOOD, Aug. 20.—A big reduction in taxes for general city purposes has been effected in this city for the year 1930-31, according to a budget approved by the City Council last evening, which provides for a rate of 90 cents per $100 as compared to $1.05 last year.

The drop was announced after Councilman Ray Darby and his knife-paring associates on the Council had held a slicing-off session, amputating the dollars all over the city's expenditures-anatomy.

Announceemnt of the resultant tax rate of 90 cents per $100 was met with joyful acclaim by local property owners, who have enjoyed a substantial reduction each year for several years. The rate for the year 1929-30 was $1.05, as compared to $1.10 the previous year, and the rate prior to that had been $1.20.

The consistent reduction in rate has brought about no lessened efficiency in service in the various departments, it is declared by local officials, but rather is a reflection of the rapidly increasing value in local property and the increased proportion of developed properties.

The new tax rate, small as it is compared to previous years, nevertheless provides a levy of 10 cents for the erection of an American Legion Memorial Building contemplated as a part of the city's construction program for the coming year. This proposed building will be erected in compliance with the wishes of 3300 taxpayers who petitioned the Council for it.

Boulder Dam to Meet Southland Need for Water

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 20. William O. Harris, international trustee of the Kiwanis clubs and member of the Los Angeles Kiwanis Club, spoke before the council of members at their session here yesterday on the water situation in Southern California.

He declared that this has been a vital question before the people of the Southland for a score of years and will continue to be a vital question for the next decade.

He pointed out that there is less than 1 per cent of the water resources of the entire State, to be found in Southern California, and that only seven-tenths of 1 per cent are in the metropolitan district. He remarked that there are 286,000 acre feet more water used in this area each year than is put into the ground by rainfall; that artesian wells, which years ago overflowed, are now being pumped, while some of them have gone dry.

The speaker brought out the fact that more uses are found for water today than several years ago; that in some cities the per capita use of water is 230 gallons per day, while the lowest per capita has been found to be ninety gallons. He said that the per cipita in the cities listed would average about 130 gallons daily.

He predicted that when the Boulder Dam project is completed and in operation that it will supply sufficient water for an additional population in this section of 9,000,000 persons.

TREE - SITTING RECORD SET

Wilmar Lad Claims Championship

David Haskell "Boughs" to World

Ten-year-old David Haskell of Wilmar was quarantined in July and so he thought he might as well pass the time by entering the tree-sitting endurance contest now raging throughout the country. He's been up in the air ever since July 22, and at 2 p.m. yesterday passed his seven hundredth hour in his tree, with every intention of remaining there until school starts.

WILMAR, Aug. 20.—Ten-year-old David Haskell claims the tree-sitting championship of Wilmar, Los Angeles county, California, the United States and Great Britain. He will even take in jungle territory where most of the leading citizens reside in trees.

David at 2 o'clock this afternoon had passed his seven hundredth hour as an endurance tree-sitter and thoughts of coming down were still remote. He had broken all known records, including the one set by the Hollywood boy, Sal Scarpitt, who maintained his perch for 602 hours.

The local champion undertook his tree-sitting task with little thought of becoming a hero but rather because life at the time was something of a bore. On July 22 David was in quarantine, with the scope of his activities limited by his own back yard. Might as well sit up in the tree, he decided. So he climbed to a comfortable limb, engaged the services of his sisters, Floretta and Phyllis, as refuelers, and began the long grind.

David solemnly declares that he intends establishing a record that will stand for some time, maybe 1000 hours. He might even stay up until school starts. Any way, he's quite comfortable and sees no reason for quitting.

David is the son of Mrs. Stella Haskell. The family lives at 2628 Lindy avenue.

CITY WATER SYSTEM TO BE STUDIED

Monrovia Council Orders Engineer Duell to Make Survey for Extension

MONROVIA, Aug. 20.—A survey regarding extension of the city water system in the foothill area of Gold Hill, Chateau Park, Clover Leaf Canyon and adjoining territory, has been ordered made by the City Council with City Engineer Duell in charge.

A recommendation that Council take steps to make provision for this improvement, declared necessary for the development of the area involved, was submitted by the Chamber of Commerce resources committee, composed of Frank E. Wood and Hal P. Eastman. Extension of the system for adequate water supply and fire protection within the new section, was declared essential in the recommendation, if this area is to develop into a residential section.

Three problems which the city must consider in its decision were outlined in a memorandum submitted by City Engineer Duell. The problems are: Would it be a logical and integral part of an adequate water system for the mountain area; is there sufficient continuous flow from the Five Point weir box to supply this territory, together with the new area which the extension would open; would it be wise to supply a portion of the mountain area exclusively from a source which might become quite inadequate either by reduced flow or by temporary polution, without providing some alternate source, such as pumping from No. 5 reservoir?

Pasadena to be Forest Division Headquarters

PASADENA, Aug. 20.—This city has been selected as the location for headquarters of the State Division of Forestry and offices will be established in the local Federal Building as soon as preliminary details can be worked out, it was learned today.

The new Southern California branch of State Division of Forestry will be in charge of Deputy State Forester Walter H. Coupe, who will be assisted by Jesse A. Graves, formerly of the Los Angeles County Forester's office.

Graves will serve as Fire Chief for counties directly under State supervision, including San Bernardino, Riverside, Orange and San Diego. He will serve as liaison officer between the State and counties having their own organizations which are Los Angeles, Ventura and Santa Barbara.

Another step in the reorganization program is the forming of a new protection district, composed of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, with a State ranger in charge of each county.

This new tricounty protection district will be in charge of State Forest Ranger E. W. Nelander, whose headquarters will be at San Bernardino. The three counties form a natural fire protection pattern in view of the fact that they all obtain their water supply from the San Bernardino Mountains, according to State Forester M. B. Pratt.

"This organization has been made possible," Pratt said today, "through increased Federal funds allotted under the Clark-McNary Act, which gives California an additional $147,000 for forest protection during the next fiscal year."

Missing Records of Electrician's Office Sought

MONROVIA, Aug. 20. — Certain records from the city electrician's office for the fiscal year of 1929-30 are missing, according to Harry Booth, who is auditing the city books.

After notifying members of the City Council Booth declared that the audit can not be completed until the books are located.

The office of city electrician was formerly held by Paul Jones, who left the employ of the city on July 1 of this year, upon the request of the Council.

City officials will make an effort to communicate with Jones immediately concerning the records. Jones is now employed by a utility company at Big Bear Lake, and George Rich now holds his position at the City Hall.

Woman Urges Park Districts

GLENDALE, Aug. 20.—Formation of four park assessment districts within the city, each of which would purchase its own municipal park site, is advocated by Mrs. H. A. Emens, a member of the City Planning Commission, who would have the proposed division worked out by the citizens themselves and not by the commission.

The plan urged by Mrs. Emens would give the city four much-needed parks, each of which would be particularly adapted to the needs of its immediate locality. Payment for the property thus acquired would be made through a bond issue supported by assessments on the property in each district, the bonds to run for a ten-year period.

By supplying each district with a park, Mrs. Emens contends, a definite starting point for future city development and planning would be established.

STATE ARMORY FUND ALLOTTED PASADENA

PASADENA, Aug. 20.—Fifty thousand dollars of State funds will be available for construction of a National Guard Armory here, it was revealed today by D. E. McDaneld, president of the Pasadena Chamber of Commerce. The fund will be granted for the purpose on condition that this city furnish the armory site and it has been suggested that a site in a local park may be reserved for the purpose.

TOWN MEETING ANNOUNCED

Pomona Republicans to Urge Nomination of Southern Californian for Governorship at Gathering

POMONA, Aug. 20.—An old-fashioned political town meeting will be held in this city Saturday night in front of the Postoffice, at which time Pomona Valley Republicans, who are backing Buron Fitts in his candidacy for the governorship, will answer all legitimate questions concerning his campaign platform and will urge the election of a Southern California man for Governor.

Ex-Gov. Friend Richardson, Harry Sewell, Assemblyman from Whittier, and Ralph W. Smith, chief inheritance tax attorney under State Controller Ray L. Riley for four years, will be on the platform to present arguments in favor of Fitts's election.

According to Mark H. Potter of the Pomona Valley Republican Club and chief local sponsor of Fitts's campaign, Pomona has always been one of the strongest Republican centers of the State. When the Los Angeles County Republican Central Committee met at the Mountain Meadows Country Club here last May, a resolution was adopted criticising Gov. Young's nonpartisan political plea.

MAN OF MANY TICKETS

"Hon. L. L. Lostutter of Pomona calls attention to the fact that when he was in the Legislature in 1915 C. C. Young ran for Assembly as a Progressive, Democrat and Republican," Potter stated. "This is a matter of State record and Mr. Lostutter has the State red book to show this. The old-time Republicans in Pomona Valley also remember in 1912, when the Hiram Johnson-C. C. Young nonpartisan movement was at its height, and that year no Republican Presidential electors appeared on the California State ballot. Republicans who wished to vote for Taft for President were compelled to write in names of electors, and again in 1916, when Hiram Johnson became peeved at Mr. Hughes and his State political machine got busy and knifed Mr. Hughes, throwing California into the Democratic column and making our State the pivotal State whereby Woodrow Wilson was elected."

"In view of the termination of the World War and subsequent occurrences California Republicans feel that if Mr. Hughes had represented the United States in the settlement of world affairs history would have been differently written.

HISTORY OF INTEREST

"At this same election Johnson, Republican nominee for United States Senator on the same ballot, carried California by over 200,000, conclusive proof of how perfect the political machine worked. This Republican history is of peculiar interest at this time for the reason that over one-half of the Los Angeles county voters have come to the State and become voters during the past fourteen years, and, therefore, are not posted on how the nonpartisan movement has treated California Republicans."

W.C.T.U. MAILING OUT LITERATURE FOR FITTS

HUNTINGTON PARK, Aug. 20.—Fourteen members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union of Huntington Park are spending the next two days at the Fitts-for-Governor headquarters in this city busily engaged in folding and mailing out campaign literature to the voters showing why Dist.-Atty. Buron Fitts should be elected as the next Governor of the State of California. William Phillips states that it is the intention of the workers to mail out 7000 pieces of literature throughout this section.

FITTS MAKES ADDRESS TO VISALIANS TONIGHT

VISALIA, Aug. 20.—Buron Fitts, well-known veteran of the World War, District Attorney of Los Angeles county and popular candidate for the Republican nomination for Governor of California, will make his only personal appeal to the voters of the Visalia district tomorrow evening, when he is scheduled to speak at a public gathering at Hyde Park at 7:15 o'clock.

Prior to Fitts's talk here he is to be guest of honor at a dinner held in a local cafe, for which capacity reservations are being made.

Fitts's appearances in Tulare county are being arranged by P. D. Nowell, Tulare publisher and well-known ex-service man.

FITTS HEADQUARTERS IN VAN NUYS PLANS TOUR

VAN NUYS, Aug. 20.—The Fitts-for-Governor campaign headquarters here was opened yesterday in the Beckwith Building on Van Nuys Boulevard at Friar street, and plans immediately were begun for a big Fitts rally to be conducted here in the Rivoli Theater Building Saturday at 7:30 p.m., when the candidate is scheduled to appear before local voters.

Late Saturday afternoon Fitts and his campaign cavalcade will commence a San Fernando Valley-wide tour with a meeting in front of the City Hall in Burbank. From there the party will motor to North Hollywood, Van Nuys, Reseda and Owensmouth, with a police motorcycle escort in the lead. At each valley town Fitts will confer with local leaders and then define the issues of the campaign in an address before the people.

Almost every man and woman dry voter in San Fernando Valley annex is solid for Fitts, it is announced today by Mrs. Zella Hunt of Van Nuys, president of the San Fernando Valley District of the W.C.T.U. Mrs. Hunt also stated that an all-day picnic will be held in the Boulanger Park south of the Van Nuys townsite on Friday, for Fitts. The Temperance Union is sponsoring the picnic, which will begin at 10 a.m. and end at 4 p.m. Mrs. Buron Fitts will be the guest of honor of the W.C.T.U. officials and members. Women from all towns in the valley area will be present.

A large crowd tonight attended the meeting conducted at the Fitts headquarters at North Hollywood. W. L. Pollard, one of the local leading business men and civic club leaders, made the address. He spoke on "Southern California's Need of a Governor."

SPEAKER SAYS GOVERNOR SHOULD BE SOUTHLANDER

EL SEGUNDO, Aug. 20.—Speaking on the candidacy of Buron Fitts for the Republican nomination for Governor, Antonio P. Entenza was the principal speaker at the regular meeting of the Kiwanis Club here.

Entenza said that in his travels over the State he has found a gradual turning of voters from the incumbent. He said, irrespective of his own personal advocacy of Dist.-Atty. Fitts, he could truthfully record his own impression that the contest is now between Mayor Rolph of San Francisco and Buron Fitts of Los Angeles. While not a believer in a policy which would emphasize sectionalism, the speaker said that there is a deep and abiding resentment everywhere in Southern California over its disproportionate representation at Sacramento.

He said further that important matters are coming up within the next few years. It will help Southern California to have a strong friend in the Governor's chair. Entenza told of the Boulder Dam, which means so much to the south, the Olympic Games of 1932 and other matters that should have the sympathetic attention of a Governor from Southern California.

GIRL KNIFED; FILIPINO IN COUNTY JAIL

Feeling Runs High Against Santiago Reynas, Asserted Stabber of Eunice Lawyer

CUCAMONGA, Aug. 20.—Feeling ran high in this district today over the asserted brutal attack made last night by Santiago Reynas, Alta Loma Filipino, upon Eunice Lawyer, 15-year-old daughter of Roy Lawyer, Alta Loma, rancher of the Cucamonga-Ontario district.

Miss Lawyer is in a serious condition at San Antonio Community Hospital, suffering deep knife slashes about the arms and legs and the consequent loss of blood. The wounds were caused by Reynas, according to Deputy Sheriff D. W. Brown of Cucamonga, who arrested Reynas at 5:30 o'clock this morning at Etiwanda.

According to Brown, Reynas slit the screen to the girl's bedroom late last night, entered where the sleeping girl lay and, holding a knife over her, whispered that he would kill her if she refused to marry him. The girl screamed and Reynas slashed wildly with his knife, cutting deep gashes in her arms and legs. Brown, who lives close to the Lawyer home, heard the screams and rushed to the scene. Reynas had fled, but, aided by deputies from the San Bernardino Sheriff's office, Reynas was caught at Etiwanda and, Brown said, confessed to the knife attack.

According to Dr. C. P. Shaffer of Alta Loma, the girl has a good chance to recover from the wounds.

The Filipino was arraigned today before Judge James Sharp in Cucamonga court, and placed in San Bernardino County Jail for later hearing.

Mrs. Pulling, who was 85 years of age, died yesterday at the home of her son, Albert Pulling, with whom she made her home. MOTORIST'S HURTS GRAVE

Plunge of Car from Road to Beach Near Oxnard May Result in Death of Los Angeles Man

OXNARD, Aug. 20.—Two men were injured, one probably fatally, at 2 a.m. today, when the automobile in which they were riding, left the Coast Highway fourteen miles southeast of here and plunged over an embankment to the beach below. Joe Flaherty, 37 years of age, of Los Angeles, is near death at St. John's Hospital here, where he was taken following the accident, and his companion, Bert Brown, 45, is recovering from severe bruises at an Oxnard hotel.

Flaherty was suffering from a fractured skull, internal injuries, a paralyzed right side and a lacerated scalp. He has regained consciousness but is not expected to live, according to Dr. Everett C. Beach, who attended him at the hospital.

According to a report at the California Highway Patrol, Brown, driver of the car, told officers he was driving toward this city when another car approached him from the opposite direction, on the wrong side of the road. To avoid striking the machine Brown wheeled to the left and went over the bank, he said. The other machine did not stop, according to the report.

Both men lived at 520 Stanford avenue, Los Angeles.

JOHN H. LOGIE WILL ON FILE

Last Testament of Redlands Man Ready for Probate

Written Before European Trip on Which He Died

Wife Bequeathed All Except Bonds to Daughters

REDLANDS, Aug. 20.—The will of John Harold Logie, prominent local resident who died July 19 in Scotland while on a tour of Europe, was filed for probate with the Superior Court yesterday. The entire estate, with exception of $5000 in bonds to each of the two daughters, goes to the widow, Mrs. Alice L. Logie.

The instrument consisted of a will drawn up here on November 9, 1905, and witnessed by A. N. Dike, leaving the entire estate, real and personal property, to Mrs. Logie. No provision was made for the children "for the reason that I know my wife will properly care and provide for them." On May 24, last, just previous to the European trip, Mr. Logie added a codicil, changing the terms to include the daughters, Mrs. Helen Logie Hammett and Mrs. Marguerite Logie Robinson. The entire document was in Mr. Logie's precise handwriting and the codicil was drafted in recognition of the fact that, "I, John Harold Logie, being about to make an ocean voyage," wished to make provision for the children in event of his death.

Mrs. Logie, according to its terms, is made executrix without bonds. In the petition for probate the only inventory of the estate is given as "stocks, bonds and real estate valued in excess of $10,000."

GEORGE THURBER DIES IN GREECE OF APOPLEXY

REDLANDS, Aug. 20.—Sudden death of George Thurber in Greece, where he was engaged in Near East relief work, has been learned here today. A communication from Edna Bassett, Supervisor of the Macedonia area for the organization at Salonica, tells of his death on May 31 of apoplexy after an illness of fourteen hours. Except for an attack of pneumonia a year ago he had been in apparently good health recently and with an unbounded enthusiasm for his work.

He was buried in Athens by the Greek government with honors of a retired Greek general. In his last testament he had requested that he be buried in Greece with the Greek service, the last paragraph reading, "To all I have labored with in Greece, I implore forgiveness for my ill temper, impatience and inconsideration. Most of them know it all came from an overburdened soul and a heart breaking because I so often had to turn my face away from God's poor."

Six years ago he was in charge of the young people's work for the Trinity Episcopal Church under the Rev. E. S. Lane, now of Phoenix. He had come to this city from Pasadena for the rest after several years of harassing work in the near east, the terrible conditions with which he had contended, handicapped by equipment that could care for only a fraction of the thousands needing aid, having proved an almost superhuman strain.

Glendora Man Enters Upland Pioneer Event

GLENDORA, Aug. 20.—To vie for honors with other pioneer residents of California, Charles C. Modie of this city will be an entrant in the Pioneer Pilgrimage to be held in Upland on September 9, it was announced today by Julius Jorgensen, secretary of the Glendora Chamber of Commerce.

Modie, who is 77 years of age, was born in Napa City on March 22, 1853, coming to Los Angeles in 1890. His parents came to California from Ohio and crossed the continent by ox teams.

"I can remember them telling me stories, as a little boy, of the hardships they endured while crossing the plains," the old pioneer related while reminiscing about the early days in California. "My father and mother first started mining in the El Dorado Canyon country, and mother used to say that the gold at one time was practically worthless to the miners and that she could go out her back door any time and pick up nuggets of gold scattered about," he further recalled.

Jorgensen stated today the pioneers entering the pilgrimage from Glendora would be escorted to Upland by the Chamber of Commerce.

Shea Signs for His Own Recall

REDONDO BEACH, Aug. 20.—Petitions asking an election to recall from the office of City Councilman Mayor May B. Hopkins and John Russell Shea have been placed in circulation here. The petitions are being sent out from recall headquarters at 122 North Pacific avenue and are unique in the fact that the document directed against Councilman Shea bears his own signature.

His recall is asked on the contention that he is unfitted by temperament for the office of City Trustee, that he is inefficient in said office and does not represent the will of the people.

The petition asking the removal of Mayor Hopkins contains the charges that she is incompetent and inefficient, that she has used her office for political purposes, is nonprogressive and does not represent the will of the people.

Both officials were elected to office in April of 1928, and their terms will not expire until April, 1932.

GANTLET FLUNG BY CHURCHILL

Turn "Wretched Socialist" Regime Out, He Urges

Conservatives Get Appeal to Unify for Campaign

Indian Policy of MacDonald Particularly Assailed

MINSTER (Kent, Eng.) Aug. 20. (AP)—A plea for unification of the Conservative party in an effort to arouse the party's supporters and oust what he called "this wretched Socialist government" was made by Winston Churchill here today. His speech seemed likely to be taken as the opening drive of a predicted Tory drive to defeat the Labor regime.

Personal and sectional aims should be put aside "to avert the decline and fall of the British Empire," the fortunes of which the former Chancellor of the Exchequer declared he never would have believed could decline so rapidly as they have done of late.

INDIAN SITUATION

Mr. Churchill devoted much of his ammunition to an attack on the way the MacDonald government has been handling the Indian situation, particularly the way in which the Pathan tribesmen have come down out of the mountains and are "molesting and insulting a famous city," with a large garrison of British and Indian troops.

"Such a lamentable spectacle would have been impossible in former times," he exclaimed. "It would almost seem that the same spirit of defeatism in high places which is so rapidly throwing India into chaos has paralyzed military action at Peshawar."

GANDHI ASSAILED

The former Chancellor, who referred to Mahatma Gandhi as "this malevolent fanatic," declared that the proposal of dominion status for India would pass even the present House of Commons. While saying this he reaffirmed the "inflexible resolve of Great Britain to aid the Indian people to fit themselves increasingly for the duties of self-government."

He asserted the fall of the Labor government would restore confidence in Britain and would spread from Britain around the world.

"Industry will be stimulated by a tariff," he said, "agriculture will be aided by a guarantee, the dole will be purged of abuse and imposture and we shall bear out our part in the general revival of national and imperial strength."

CELLAR MAY BE FUTURE AIRDROME

Underground Harbor for Aircraft Viewed as Only Kind Not Vulnerable

LONDON, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—A great underground air harbor is the novel suggestion advanced by air experts studying the recent Royal Air Force maneuvers. They point out that the outstanding lesson of last week's air exercises is the vulnerability of airdromes to an attack from the air.

Time and again at 190 miles per hour the bombers penetrated the defenses and theoretically destroyed the enemy airplanes before they could leave the hangars, while fast single-seater fighters carried out successful low flying attacks, raking the airdromes with machine-gun fire.

Aviation experts now suggest that the only safeguard against these attacks is the construction of huge concrete sheds for housing the machines underground, using large lifts heavily protected by concrete to bring the airplanes to the airdrome level.

Official Shields to Adorn Cars of Dry Agents

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Automobiles of dry agents henceforth must bear metal shields of the Department of Justice on the right door.

Amos W. W. Woodcock, prohibition enforcement director, decided so today at a conference with Maryland Automobile Club officials, who had protested that unless agents could identify themselves motorists would have no protection against impostors.

About 1000 shields will be ordered. They will be 17x20 inches.

Washington Fete Auto 'Ad' Flayed

ALEXANDRIA (Va.) Aug. 20. (AP) The Washington society of this old Virginia town where the father of his country went to church has adopted a resolution condemning automobile tire covers advertising the George Washington bicentennial celebration as "beneath the dignity of the man."

The tire covers, carrying a portrait of Washington and the American flag, were sponsored by Representative Bloom of New York, a member of the bicentennial commission, and were the subject of a heated debate in the House last spring.

ATLANTA, Aug. 20. (AP)—J. H. Kirby, Forsyth county Representative in the Georgia Legislature, was arrested here today on a charge of robbery in connection with a recent hold-up in an office building.

It ended a seven weeks' drought and broke up a card game of rummy started Monday by members of the Fairmont Recreation Club.

CAREY SAFE FOR SENATE IN WYOMING

Ex-Governor Widens Lead for Primary Nomination; Carter for Congress

CHEYENNE (Wyo.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Former Gov. Carey continued to increase his lead in the Republican Senatorial contest for the long and short term nominations as additional precincts reported late today from Tuesday's primary election.

With 439 of Wyoming's 679 precincts reported, Carey had a lead of approximately 4000 over Charles E. Winter, former Representative, his closest competitor. The vote was: Carey, 13,050; Winter, 9084; William C. Deming, Cheyenne, 3594, and W. L. Walls, wet candidate, 2146. Carey led in all but six counties.

Incumbents seeking renomination for State offices and for Representative in Congress are believed assured victory. Gov. Emerson carried twenty-two of the State's twenty-three counties for renomination.

Representative Carter had a lead of more than 6000 over Harry B. Henderson, Cheyenne, his closest rival, in the three-cornered contest for the nomination for Representative in Congress.

Mexican Envoys Seek Ship Link with California

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Jose J. Razo, vice-president of the Confederation of Chambers of Commerce, and Ignacio Helguera, a member of the confederation, left last night for Sacramento as the official delegates of Mexico to the Pan-American Commercial Congress, to be held from the 25th to the 30th inst. in the California capital.

In a press interview before leaving Mexico City, Razo said he will propose the establishment of regular steamship service along the Pacific Coast between California and Mexican ports. Many products, principally vegetables and grains of the western Mexican States, including Jalisco, Sonora, Sinaloa, Colima, Nayarit and Guerrero, are being lost annually because of inadequate steamship service between Mexico and California, Razo said.

Fewer Children; Census Plan Off

SACRAMENTO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Formulas heretofore employed in estimating State population on the basis of school attendance will have to be revised, Walter Morgan, chief of the division of statistics and research of the State Department of Education, said today.

Using the 1920 Federal census as the base and the average daily attendance figures by the public schools as the medium, the 1930 population of California was estimated by the department at 5,917,461. However, the Census Bureau gave the State's total as 5,642,282. Morgan declares the discrepancy is due largely to the decreasing number of children in families, which has thrown the ratio of ten years out of line.

Johnny Wilson, Fighter, Hunted in Police Death

PORTLAND (Me.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Johnny Wilson of Boston, former middleweight boxing champion, was sought today for questioning in connection with the death of Patrolman Michael T. Connolly, whose body, the wrists manacled with his own handcuffs, was found on the waterfront Friday.

Authorities said Wilson had been in Portland several weeks previous to the patrolman's drowning.

Wilson was questioned during the investigation into the slaying in New York three years ago of Frankie Marlowe.

OCEAN RETAINS BODY OF BLACK

Search Practically Given Up for Baltimore Publisher

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—The shoreward sea lanes along New Jersey's coast, capped by high waves which billowed out into the deep, refused today to yield to searchers by air and water the body of Van Lear Black.

The hunt, pressed through every daylight hour from the time the Baltimore publisher's disappearance from his yacht Monday evening became known, was virtually abandoned at noon today, and tonight even the last of the Coast Guard boats had quit the scene of search.

Three planes which renewed the quest at dawn spent several hours flying over the water south of Scotland Light, around the spot where the wealthy Baltimore man last was seen sitting on a deck rail of his yacht Savalo.

Their pilots came back and reported the offshore current so strong there was no likelihood the body might be washed to the beach.

There remains one meager possibility; that some small freighter or fishing boat, equipped with radio, may have picked up the publisher, who was an excellent swimmer, after he fell from his yacht. It is a hope too slight, however, to be entertained seriously.

RETURN TO WALTZ SEEN AS DRESSES LENGTHEN

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—It's going to be a "Waltz Me Around Again Willie" year, according to the prophecy of Fred W. Kehl, 68-year-old dancing master attending the thirty-seventh annual convention of members of his profession at the Commodore.

Kehl predicted today that we are going back to the waltz, forsaking the acrobatic, jumping-jack and clutch-and-gag ballroom dances which were the vogue when skirts were above the knees.

It's not easy to be a Charleston stepper in floating chiffons and the new trailing feminine fripperies are making a return to the graceful, indolent waltz imperative.

Despite Henry Ford's efforts to revive the square dances, however, Kehl is of the opinion that they are definitely passe.

"When a young man nowadays dances," he said, "he's used to having his arms around a girl."

"When a fellow dances the old-time square dances he simply doesn't feel he's in the same room with his young lady."

Many new steps are being tried out at the convention.

PERSHING IN MOOD FOR FIGHT

General to Push Battle Over Monument Erected at French Cemetery

PARIS, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The unexpected departure of Gen. John J. Pershing on the Ile de France yesterday is reported today to have resulted from the storm stirred up in America by his stand in the squabble over the monument to the Three Hundred and Sixteenth Infantry at Sivry-sur-Meuse, near Verdun.

The trouble started when the Battle Monument Commission refused the veterans permission to erect the monument because of the ruling of the commission against anything smaller than divisional memorials. The wily veterans then turned the money over to the French, who built the monument, but Gen. Pershing was infuriated at what he considered a trick, and has asked Premier Tardieu to tear the monument down.

It is understood that Gen. Pershing is making a personal issue out of the conflict and is returning to face the attacks by Senator Reed, who has rallied to the defense of the Pennsylvania veterans in the capacity of honorary president of the Association of the Three Hundred Sixteenth Infantry. It is believed here that Gen. Pershing will take the question directly to President Hoover and the prospects for a good political row are foreseen.

Work Begun on First Unit of Schoolhouse

McFARLAND, Aug. 20.—Construction work has started on the first unit of the proposed eight-classroom project for the McFarland Union Grammar School, Architect Edward J. Symmes, who also is in charge of construction activities, reported today.

OPENING PRICE SET ON RAISINS

Three and One-eighth Cents Per Pound to Packers

Centralization Fee of $3 Per Ton for Assembling

Two and One-half Cents to be Net to Growers

FRESNO, Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—Clearing the way for operation of the dried-fruit program of the Federal Farm Board's plan for stabilization of the California vineyard industry, the directors of the California raisin pool today set 3 1-8 cents per pound, plus a centralization fe eof $3 per ton, as the opening price at which raisins will be sold to independent packers and the Sun-Maid raisin growers.

The concentration fee which is added to the quotation is to cover the cost of assembling the raisins at one point.

The prices, based upon fruit of standard quality, was announced as $62.50 per ton for Thompson seedless raisins and $57.50 per ton for muscats, plus the $3 fee. All raisins are to be sold in the sweat box.

The opening prices are based upon initial allotment to the packers of from 27,000 to 28,000 tons from the 1930 crop, and it is expected that a higher price will be quoted on the second allotment as the result of good demand and early disposal of the tonnage by the packers and Sun-Maid.

Wylie M. Giffen, president of the pool, said that the net payment to the growers on the basis of the opening prices should be approximately 2½ cents per pound.

Six days after delivery the growers will receive their advance payment of 2 cents per pound net, the sum fixed by the Farm Board, and an additional five-eighths of a cent of the gross advance payment will be deducted to cover overhead costs.

It was announced that the pool is not offering the packers Sultanas, currants, substandards or dried grapes, as there is no way to determine at the present time, even approximately, the amount of these varieties the pool will receive.

FITTS GIVES PLEDGE TO UPHOLD LAW

Corrupt Officials Hit by Fighting Prosecutor in Talk to Women

OAKLAND, Aug. 20. "Primarily, the oath an official takes is as sacred as the one taken by a soldier before going on the field of battle. Public officials must first obey the law themselves before successfully upholding it. We do not make the laws but you send us there to uphold them."

SHELL OIL DIVIDEND OMITTED

Quarterly of 35 Cents on Common Eliminated; Preferred Paid

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Directors of Shell Union Oil Corporation today omitted the quarterly dividend of 35 cents on the common stock due at this time. The regular quarterly dividend of $1.37½ was declared on the preferred. This is the first time the company has omitted a dividend since payments were initiated in 1922.

Shell Union Oil dividend payments on the common stock were 25 cents quarterly to March 31, 1925, when the rate was increased to 35 cents. An extra dividend of 60 cents was paid in 1926.

J. C. Van Eck, president, said the decision to omit the common dividend reflected the decreased earnings of the company, partly as a result of the company's curtailment of production in conformity with "widespread policies which are being worked out in the interest of conservation and stabilization of the industry, and partly as a result of unsatisfactory price conditions prevailing in markets in which the company is selling its products."

He added that although after making "its usual conservative reserve for depreciation" the company is at present operating on a profitable basis, "there is as yet no indication of an early recovery or improvement of unsettled conditions prevailing in the industry and for that reason it is considered prudent to conserve cash resources so that the company will have ample resources to continue to the fullest extent its normal program of development without need of further financing."

Avery Turns New Mile Post in Bank Career

M. N. Avery, vice-president, Security-First National Bank, today is celebrating his fortieth anniversary as a Los Angeles banker. Formerly a physician in Niles, Mich., Mr. Avery began his banking career here in 1890 by assisting in the organization of one of the first exclusively savings institutions in the city. This was the German-American Savings Bank, of which Mr. Avery became secretary-cashier.

With consistent growth, the German-American bank found extension of its banking facilities to include commercial and trust service necessary, which resulted in several changes of the bank's name.

After serving as vice-president for four years, Mr. Avery was elected president in 1910. He remained at the helm of that institution until it became the Guaranty Office of the former Security Trust and Savings Bank, now Security-First National, in 1921, when he was appointed manager there. At the same time he was elected vice-president of the bank, a member of the board of directors, and chairman of the executive committee.

During the past nine years, Mr. Avery has taken a continuous and prominent place among the senior executives of the Security-First National Bank in the direction of its affairs. He continues as a director member of the executive committee and of the trust committee of the bank.

VIEWS ON OIL TREND DIFFER

Shell-Union Action Disappointing to Group of Leaders on Other Side; Hope Seen for Gasoline

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Passing of the Shell Union dividend yesterday, while not unexpected, was nevertheless a jolt to the hopes of those confident prophets in the industry who have predicted an early turn for the better.

Many men high in the councils of the oil business will disagree with the pessimistic remark of J. C. Van Eck, Shell-Union president, that "there is as yet no indication of an early recovery or improvement of unsettled conditions prevailing in the industry."

PROGRESS NOTED

Success of the curtailment program in California, the new State order to reduce Texas production to 750,000 barrels daily, and further reduction planned in the Oklahoma output are regarded as constructive developments of significance. In Pennsylvania, moreover, there is a movement on foot to further extend the curtailment program.

Other competent observers, however will string along with the Shell-Union attitude as a reflection of world-wide observation of petroleum conditions, and consequently a more accurate index.

On gasoline-marketing conditions there is a feeling among well-posted men in the trade that the time for discouragement has passed. More will be known of the true state of affairs when the storage figures for July are released. In June, on the Pacific Coast alone, the gasoline stocks were reduced about 1,500,000 barrels, bringing the total stocks to approximately 17,000,000 barrels.

If a further substantial reduction took place in July, the Pacific Coast marketers will rightfully take an optimistic slant on the gasoline business. Continuation of this trend through August and September would bring the industry into the winter months with stocks not far from normal.

REMEDY SEEN

Uneasiness, nevertheless, is still the dominant note with respect to gasoline prices on both the Pacific and Atlantic coasts. There is still considerable evidence of price cutting, and on the surface the indications are not healthy. But on the inside a number of constructive developments are moving along, especially affecting marketing practices with the objective of bringing about stabilization.

In California several of the major companies have adopted the policy of refusing to deliver gasoline to independents posting cut-price signs. This policy is not universal, which may account for the fact that some of the independent marketers are still able to maintain cut prices.

If all of the large refiners decide on the same policy the belief has been expressed that the cut-price situation will quickly clear up in this State. This is the chief hope around which encouragement for better times in the gasoline business are built.

Business School Graduates will Get Diplomas

College certificates in banking and finance, credit management, foreign trade, and real estate to signify successful completion of sixty units of related work will be awarded in the future by the University College, evening school of the University of Southern California. This announcement was made yesterday by Dean Ernest W. Tiegs in connection with the statement that registration for the fall quarter will open September 8th.

"Prospective employers are more and more demanding tangible evidence of applicable knowledge, and the University of Southern California has arranged groups of co-ordinated convenient-hour courses of a practical nature, available to employed and unemployed adults, to take care of this demand," stated Dean Tiegs yesterday.

"The current business depression, we feel, is greatly responsible for increased applications for enrollment in University College. Men and women see that the college-trained worker is retained by industry when noncollege personnel is being laid off, and decide to remedy their lack of adequate training through evening attendance at college. Others are anxious to brush up on fundamentals or to familiarize themselves with recently developed business procedure."

Price Reduced on Beet Sugar

DENVER, Aug. 20. (AP)—The Great Western Sugar Company today cut the price of beet sugar to $5.07 a hundred. Officials said it was the lowest price, with one exception, in the history of the company.

State Valencia Orange Market Shows Strength

Warm weather throughout the country, below-normal shipments of deciduous fruit and well regulated sales of exchange Valencias, averaging about 650 cars a week, combined to make a very satisfactory market for California oranges at strong levels during the past month, Dana C. King, orange sales manager of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, announced yesterday.

During the current month exchange shippers will forward approximately 100 cars of Valencias daily with total shipments from the State reaching about 750 cars a week, said Mr. King. Information from exchange sales offices throughout the country indicate prospects for a good orange market throughout the month.

The August 1 estimate shows a total of 7900 cars of California Valencias to be shipped to the end of the season, which compares with shipments for the same period last year of 19,000 cars and in 1928 of 8300 cars.

During the first nine months of the 1929-30 season the exchange shipped 76.08 per cent of the total California citrus shipments against 74.10 per cent for the same period last year. The exchange percentages were 71.95 for oranges, 92.96 for lemons and 59.72 for grapefruit.

Cordes Gains Banking Post

A. L. Lathrop, vice-president and secretary, Union Bank and Trust Company of Los Angeles, yesterday announced the appointment of Elmer H. Cordes to handle the trust real estate of the Union bank.

Net income after all charges including depreciation and Federal taxes amounted to $158,983.14, equal to $1.58 a share on 100,000 shares of no-par capital stock as compared with $157,400.01, or $1.57 a share on the same number of shares in the year ended May 31, 1929.

In his remarks to stockholders, Mr. Milnor said that in view of general conditions it was gratifying to have shown an increase in volume of sales and net profits. Net income before depreciation and Federal taxes of $191,228.04, as against $190,572.31 in the previous year was less than had been anticipated but this was due to the decrease in sales during the last quarter of the fiscal year, Mr. Milnor said.

After payment of $100,000 in dividends, surplus at the end of the year stood at $398,851.34, as against $339,856.72 at the close of the previous year in which dividends paid totaled $31,500.

Total current assets as of May 31, last, were $597,583.08, as compared to $567,752.30 at the close of the previous year, while total current liabilities amounted to $22,566.61, as against $56,018.08 in the preceding year. Total assets increased from $614,874.80 as of May 31, 1929, to $654,390.58, as of May 31, last.

Directors of Douglas Vote Dividend Rate

Directors of the Douglas Aircraft Company yesterday declared a dividend of 50 cents a share on the common stock and voted to establish the stock on a regular semiannual dividend basis at the rate of $1 per annum.

T. C. McMahon, secretary, who made the announcement, stated that it is probable that directors will declare a special dividend near the close of the year should earnings hold up to present expectations. This will be in addition to the regular dividend for the last six months period.

At the close of last year an initial dividend of 75 cents a share was paid based on 1929 operations. The dividend declared yesterday will accrue to stockholders of record September 10, and be payable on or near October 20.

Tone of Trade in Los Angeles Continues Dull

Business in the Los Angeles area has changed little in the past week with all lines reporting that sales volume continues to run behind a year ago and that collections are slow to very slow, Bradstreet's announced yesterday in its weekly Los Angeles summary.

Inactivity of new building reflects on the building-supply trade which reported a decided decrease in business compared with a year ago. Radio manufacturers, especially those engaged in the manufacturing of radios that sell for less than $100, report very good business according to the survey.

Summer resorts say that business is 10 to 15 per cent less than a year ago, although auto camps report that their business has shown only a very small decline.

While every effort is being made by oil producers to hold down production, new fields have increased the Southern California output, the gain for the past week being more than 2000 barrels daily.

WAGE THEORY CONFLICTING

Industrial Leaders Take Opposing Sides on Question of Labor's Rate of Return

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Aug. 20.—Harvey S. Firestone's emphasis on "business readjustment" in his address before New England business men shows the trend of business. Some have top-heavy inventories; some, too restricted markets; others, too heavy executive overheads; still others, too much idle cash. Every business, in these days, requires frequent individual examination and overhauling, for business readjustment is the order of the day.

E. R. Johnston, former president of the Victor company, champions high industrial wages to enable the country to "snap out of the present slump."

"All Europe, with the exception of France and Holland, is in a state of general business depression," says Mr. Johnston. "One of the reasons why Holland and France are more prosperous than the others 's that they manufacture specialties. They do not go in for mass production. They also are further developed on a firm agricultural basis."

American business recovery will be much more rapid than European, because America "is made up of free individuals, filled with personal ambition, whose requirements and demands know no bounds," Mr. Johnston thinks.

"High wages are the secret of American prosperity," said Secretary Davis of the Department of Labor in a recent article, and advised the rest of the world to "enrich itself" by such methods.

"As I see it, the main need is to go the wage scale up, to increase purchasing power, to enlarge the market, to help more people to consume more and finer things," wrote the Secretary.

Fine, in a great free trade zone like the United States, where mass production methods can be applied.

But, the statement of Mr. Johnston, quoted above, that Holland and France were prosperous above other European nations because they did not go in for mass production, but for specialties, shows the other side of the problem.

Europe would like to pay more wages. She would like to sell more goods. No nation desires low wages and growing unemployment. Her leaders are aware of the difficulties involved, but the markets all through are so restricted that the mass production basis hasn't any chance to develop.

Another thing! Wages even in the United States cannot be maintained if unemployment continues.

Says the Conservative Commercial and Financial Chronicle:

"Unemployment in time will force wages down. No employer listening to the false plea of 'consuming power,' can pay more wages than the conditions of his own business and the conditions of the country warrant. No union can continue to exact tribute against prolonged general depression.

"If, as is so often said, the United States is in a period of readjustment after a period of inflation, the country must expect wages to follow the trend and respond to the new era."

BANK RATE CUT

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 20.—The Federal Reserve Bank of Peru today reno change in the rediscount rate of 8 per cent.

Railroads Seek Delay on Grain Rate Schedule

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Western trunk line railroads asked the Interstate Commerce Commission today for an extension of time in which to put into effect new rate schedules recently ordered by the commission to govern grain traffic.

The petition gave notice that it was the carriers' purpose to get a reconsideration and reversal of the original grain decision.

Whether the petition for reconsideration is granted or not, the argument filed today said, it will be impossible for the railroads to complete the task of writing the new rate schedule by October 1, the date on which the commission ordered the revision to become effective.

At least ninety days more will be required for the clerical operations, and the commission was asked to consider this.

The grain rate schedules, under the revision ordered, are to be materially reduced throughout the West. The railroad's opposition is founded partly on the anticipated annual loss of $13,000,000 in revenue by the decision.

30 Stocks of the nation's leading corporations are included in Diversified Trustees Shares, Series C. No substitutions may be made for any of the stocks constituting a unit, and stock dividends, splits, rights and other non-cash distributions are required to be retained and added to the Unit... features adding to the safety and profit possibilities of this convenient investment.

Had Diversified Trustee Shares been in existence in 1921, each unit would have had a market value of $93,060 on January 1, 1930, as against $30,535 on January 1, 1921. Income on the Unit would have totaled $33,354. The importance of retaining shares received through stock dividends and splitups (to the extent divisible by five) is clearly indicated. Had all shares in excess of the original five been sold, and the proceeds included in dividends, the investor would have had an increase of $26,134 in total income, but would have sacrificed $62,905 in the value of his investment.

At Less Than 10 Cents a Day

COSTING less per year than the average family spends per month for upkeep and depreciation on an automobile, electricity has become one of the cheapest items in the family budget. The comforts and conveniences of this necessary service may be enjoyed for a whole day for about the price of a loaf of bread and for less than the price of a good cigar.

In bringing low cost electricity to the 20,700,000 wired homes, the group management or holding companies have led the way. Through the application of mass production principles to the generation and distribution of electricity, group management companies have effected many important economies. Consolidated large scale buying of equipment and supplies has resulted in savings amounting to 2% of gross earnings. Even greater savings have been brought about by group financing. More efficient utilization of coal has also materially lowered production costs—in 1929 the same amount of electricity was produced with 76% less fuel than would have been required in 1902.

Incorporated in 1906, the Associated Gas and Electric Company was one of the first, and is now one of the largest, engaged in centralized operation of public utility properties. More than 1,375,000 gas and electric and other utility customers are served in 26 states, the Maritime Provinces of Canada, and throughout the Philippine Islands.

Corn Features Grain Advance in Chicago Pit

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Corn led an upward flight of grain values today. Authoritative estimates that United States wheat, oats, rye and barley supplies this season lumped together with corn were 435,000,000 bushels short of the actual disappearance of these grains last season did much to bring about the soaring of prices. It was also pointed out that in addition to the shortage of grain, there have been immense losses in potatoes and other root crops as well as sorghums and forage, and wheat and rye were approximately 50c under prices of a year ago with corn and oats 10c under.

Closing quotations on corn were unsettled, 2@2⅜c a bushel higher than yesterday's finish. Wheat closed firm, 1½@2c up, oats, 1¼@1½c advanced, and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 37c.

Friends of higher prices for corn and other cereals contended the extraordinary damage to the 1930 corn crop should not be regarded individually, but all the grain crops this season from one inseparable unit such as never before to a like extent has been the case. Tending further to lift the corn market today were official reports indicating that in important areas the corn crop despite recent rains was not better than a week ago.

One of the foremost unofficial crop experts went on record as saying the corn prospect in Northern Illinois was surprisingly poor owing to the number of ears with kernels so backward they could not ripen into mercantile grain.

Wheat and oats paralleled the action of corn, but wheat gains were checked by word of better weather in Europe and of ideal market weather in Canada, with export demand slow for wheat from North America. Provisions reflected the jumps in hog values and also in grain.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Trading in the wool is quite spotty, with some concerns continuing to receive fair demand, while other are experiencing much less call than last week. There is, however, a fairly broad interest from mills in the small lots for trying out their lines of goods. This inquiry is giving members of the trade a great deal of encouragement even though business apparently is dull. Asking prices are generally firm.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Industrials and utilities registered gains as the Stock Exchange list, with the exception of the oils, moved up today. The opening was firm and prices moved up until midsession, when they softened.

Pacific Telephone advanced 2 points to 1.37 and Pacific Lighting preferred, Pacific Public Service, Pacific Gas common and Pacific Gas preferred moved up fractionally.

In the industrial group Sherman & Clay prior preferred jumped 3 to 50. Western Pipe and Steel moved up 1½ to 22½ and Caterpillar Tractor 1 to 54.

Tide Water common and Union Oil were the only oils to improve. Shell, Richfield and Standard dropped.

Transamerica made another fractional gain, closing at 21⅝.

AVIATION STOCKS

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (AP)—Speculative operations in the curb market today concentrated on extending the advance and met with a moderate degree of success.

Utility issues continued to attract the greatest portion of the buying and the net gains ranged from a small fraction to 1 and 2 points. A miscellaneous group of industrials showed strength, with Translux and Durant Motors the featured shares in the low-price securities.

There were intermittent flurries of selling, but the offerings were well absorbed, and the trend from shortly after the opening was upward. Trading was moderate with total transactions approximating 375,900 shares.

Electric Bond & Share extended its gain on the present advance 1⅛, and at one time crossed 82. American Gas & Electric was depressed about 2 points early but finished 1 point net higher. American and Foreign Power warrants rose 1⅝. Electric Power & Light warrants, International Utilities A and Tri-Utilities gained a point or more.

Petroleum issues were quiet. Cities Service was stable and closed ⅛ higher. Weak spots were Standard Oil of Ohio, off 1⅝, and Gulf Oil which sagged 2⅝.

Translux was a speculative favorite and advanced 1⅛ on a large turnover. Durant Motors was very active, its return to the list of active stocks being coincident with yesterday's announcement that William C. Durant has resumed the presidency of the company. It closed steady.

Strong spots among industrials were U. S. Gypsum, United States Dairy A and Great Atlantic & Pacific, with gains of a point or two. Pacific Finance sagged to a new low.

Investment and holding companies were little changed. Goldman Sachs was firm, gaining ¼. Pennroad and United Founders were steady.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low and both low and close when same as the high.

Several projects a short distance from the area that has been actively prospected for shallow sand production at Maricopa Flat have aroused interest since one was reported to have penetrated showings of oil sand at about 7000 feet and now is making rapid progress below 7500 feet.

The Union Oil Company's Houchin No. 4 is the deepest active well of two in the Maricopa Flat area. It is about one and one-half miles east of the Doyle Petroleum Company's productive government permits on Section 8, 11-23. Just how much further Union will go in Houchin No. 4 is undetermined.

Three miles west of Union's Houchin No. 4 the Birch Oil Company is drilling below 6200 feet in Maricopa No. 2 on Section 7. No oil sand showings have been encountered in this deep test.

One of the first deep tests to search for production near Maricopa Flat was the Rio Grande Oil Company's Lentholtz No. 1 which went to a depth slightly below 6000 feet and failed to find oil. It is three miles southeast of the Doyle Petroleum Company's permits.

Other Tests

In the south Belridge district the General Petroleum Corporation has started construction of derrick for Berry No. 1. This is six miles south of the Belridge Oil Company's No. 15 which has penetrated more than 300 feet of oil sand and probably will soon make another production test. In the north Belridge district Richfield is drilling a test within a short distance of Belridge's project.

On the south dome of the Buttonwillow district the Nordon Petroleum Corporation encountered heavy gas pressure recently in Salisbury No. 2 and now is drilling below 4850 feet.

Drilling Permits Increase

The Venice field received the biggest share of the drilling permits issued last week by the State Mining Bureau. Of the twenty-eight granted, seventeen were for the Venice field, two at Signal Hill, two at Elwood, three in the fields of Kern county, one in Tulare county, one in the Ventura-avenue field and one in the Lompoc district.

Following are the permits at Venice: Brunwin-Clark & Bean's No. 1, Knox Powell Stockton's No. 1, M. C. R. R. Company's No. 1, Burket & Braun's No. 2, Toy Petroleum Company's No. 1, Elmer Company's No. 4 and No. 6, Barnsdall-Cypress combination's Burke No. 13-A, Byrens & Company's Burns No. 1, Corrigan Petroleum Corporation's Babe Allison No. 2, Ohio Oil Company's Block H No. 1, Pacific Shore Oil Company's No. 1, George Wolfe's Wolfe No. 1, Beverly Hills Petroleum Corporation's Burkholder No. 8, Elmer Company's No. 5, Goodfield Petroleum Company's No. 1, Grace Bryan Hargraves's No. 1.

Wood-Callahan Oil Company's S. S. Wortley No. 2 and Philip L. Bixby's No. 4 at Signal Hill. Associated Oil Company's Lloyd No. 85 in Ventura-avenue field; Bankline Oil Company's Tideland Permit No. 86-7 and Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination's Tideland Permit No. 86-5 at Elwood; Vaqueros Major Oil Company's Union-Annex No. 2 in Lompoc district; Arden Oil Company's Rowland No. 1 on Sec. 15, 2-10 in Los Angeles county; Union Oil Company's Son No. 2 and Standard Oil Company's No. 60 in Sunset district; Shell Oil Company's Jewett Three No. 4 at Round Mountain; Consolidated Properties' No. 2 in Tulare county.

Deep One Flowing

The Dabney-Johnston Oil Corporation's No. 53 in the southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field yesterday started flowing by heads with bottom of the hole at 7500 feet and may be on steady production today or tomorrow.

In the central portion of the Signal Hill field the Richfield Oil Company's Haas No. 8 has just been recompleted for about 700 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 6617 feet. This project formerly produced at about 5404 feet and was deepened.

The Star Petroleum Company's Colby No. 2 and the Italo Petroleum Corporation's Gem No. 2 in the Los Cerritos field are now the two deepest projects there. Italo's Gem No. 2 is producing 1000 barrels of oil a day with bottom at 7344 feet and Star's Colby No. 2 is drilling ahead with bottom below 7573 feet. Signal Hill is producing at the rate of 103,000 barrels of oil a day from 750 wells. There are 120 active projects drilling.

Heavy Gas Pressure

Heavy gas pressure in the Richfield Oil Company's Universal Consolidated No. 49 at Lost Hills recently halted drilling for a short time. Bottom is at 2960 feet. This project is about five miles northwest of the Shell Oil Company's Williams No. 1 at Semi Tropic which is making progress below 5500 feet with substantial gas showings.

Deepening

The Plymouth Oil Company's No. 11 in the extreme southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field is coring in oil sand below 6900 feet and will be carried on down to 7000 feet or more before another production test is made. It recently tested wet at about 6700 feet. Considerable oil sand has been cored.

Completes One

The Barnsdall Oil Company yesterday, completed Son-Crail No. 1 at Maricopa Flat. It came in at the rate of 850 barrels of oil a day from a depth of 3653 feet. In the same general vicinity the Doyle Petroleum Company's Son-Crail No. 9 is drilling below 2086 feet.

Slight Decline

Daily average production of oil in the Venice field declined recently and is putting out a little in excess of 12,000 barrels of oil a day. There are seventeen producing wells, fifty drilling ahead and at least seventy-five of the field's total operations that are rigging up to spud in.

Five wells in the Venice field are in the oil sand at present and will probably be completed within the next two weeks. These include the Knickerbocker Petroleum Company's No. 1, Mohawk Petroleum Company's No. 1, Nelson Petroleum Company's No. 1, Mutual Oil Company's No. 1 and the Burket and Brown No. 1.

On Steady

The Bolsa Chica Oil Corporation's Snow 1-A in the Piru district has been placed on production at a depth of 2497 feet and is flowing approximately 300 barrels of oil a day. An adjoining operator's pipe line is being utilized to run out the production.

Nearly $500,000,000 worth of artificial teeth from America were received into the United Kingdom last year.

Impoverished by dignity?

OUR ONLY WAY OF MAKING A PROFIT . . in the old-fashioned, small-town . . MUTUAL Building and Loan Association OF POMONA . . is to use the utmost of caution in making safe loans . . and then we try to save that profit . . by economy.

So we have 10th floor offices in Los Angeles in keeping with the sort of clientage which has built us three State building-loan records in Pomona Valley, where neighbors and friends have known the type of officers and directors that have served them for 37½ years, personally.

WE SOLICIT YOUR JUDGMENT . . on the safety of such an institution . . in carrying UNLIMITED LIABILITY behind $3,400,000 paid-in capital, surplus and reserve . . with resources of $15,000,000 . . managed in this old-fashioned, small-town manner.

Consider our neighborly loan-method of charging no interest on any dollar of a loan until it is USED by the borrower. Nor do we use any of the 36 methods of shrinking that borrowed dollar by side-line profits of late-day cleverness. We get good loans.

Are you good-naturedly prejudiced against such an old-fashioned, small-town institution? Or did you make YOUR fortune by unpretentious hard work and economy? Then we'll prosper without too-much-expensive-dignity!

Wine Rations in French Army

Since vine-growing is, after all, a form of farming, one would not expect the master of the vineyards to be an optimist; in his professional capacity he would be an expert in apprehensions, with an outlook unwarmed by the Wine God's potent charm. And it very often seems that he has much excuse for apprehension—in the past for fears of phylloxera, the dreaded vine pest which to the wine-grower is as bad as foot-and-mouth disease to the stockbreeder, and in the present through overproduction and possibly the operations of prohibition.

Both France and Italy are badly overstocked with wine at the moment; if there were any profit to be made out of the affair it would be easy enough to restage the medieval gesture of making the fountains "run with wine." As it is there are demands in Italy for propaganda to increase the domestic consumption—a "Drink More Wine" campaign seems to be indicated—and in France the native growers wish that Algeria, where the too obedient desert has been taught to blossom like a grape, had never been invented.

But in France, which has always strength, another remedy has been mentioned—wine-growers are urging the Ministry of War to double the wine ration of the army. This seems to be an Anacreon's idea of military life:

And, O! I deem it better far
To fall in banquet than in war.

The French have a large army, and a double wine ration should make a large difference; and if the difference is still not large enough the ration might be trebled. After all, the soldiers need not drink it; so long as the War Ministry paid for it the surplus might be poured out on the barrack square as a libation to the gods of disordered finance and the system of recouping private losses out of the public purse. It is possible, of course, that the army might willingly do its best and call for "another and another cup to drown" the woes of the wine-growers. An odd army would result—but how Sir John Falstaff would have enjoyed the position of its generalissimo!—[Manchester Guardian.

SUPEREROGATORY SCIENCE

The report from the United States Geological Survey that the water in Chesapeake Bay is saltier on the eastern shore than on the western shore is no news in Maryland.

Obviously salt water possesses "greater salinity" on the eastern shore not merely than on the western shore, but than anywhere else in the world. Fresh water is fresher, blue skies are bluer, smart politicians smarter (and dumb ones dumber,) hams sweeter and piety more pious than in other places. The eastern shore accentuates the characteristics of nature, physical and psychological. If the largest crab you ever saw was fourteen inches across, Crisfield has them two feet long. If you have been impressed with the devotion exhibited at a Good Friday procession in Seville, try spending Lent at Easton. If the resourcefulness and craft of Tammany Hall and Vare Philadelphia seems noteworthy, some exploration of the eastern shore counties with Cambridge as a base will be illuminating.

By arduous and patient scientific experiments the Geological Survey has proved what every Marylander has long known a priori. Perhaps the promological department will issue a bulletin pointing out that eastern shore apples average six inches in diameter; this will be mere corroboration of long known facts. If vital statistics should prove that eastern shore babies are eating their dozen oysters at 6 weeks, vital statistics will but confirm the common knowledge. In short, the eastern shore is a poor field for the scientist, because his feverish announcement of the discovery of some new wonder is greeted with scornful cries of "That's nothing." And, in comparison with eastern shore wonders long since revealed and known, nothing it is.—[Baltimore Sun.

JUST GROWL

Visitor: And how old are you, Bobbie?

Bobbie: I'm just at the awkward age.

Visitor: Really? And what do you call the awkward age?

Bobbie (bitterly:) I'm too old to cry an' too young to swear.—[Masonic Craftsman.

Little Ikey came up to his father with a very solemn face. "Is it true, father?" he asked, "that marriage is a failure?"

His father surveyed him thoughtfully for a moment. "Well, Ikey," he finally replied, "if you get a rich wife, it's almost as good as a failure."—[A. C. M. News.

County Budget May Not Change

SAN DIEGO, Aug. 20.—Chance that the preliminary county budget would stand for the fiscal year ending next June 30, was indicated today when the Board of Supervisors met to hear protests. No protests were offered by taxpayers.

The tax rate, if based on the budget total as proposed in the preliminary budget, will be $1.81, or 1 cent lower than last year's basic county rate of $1.82. To this rate must be added the school tax rate, not yet fixed, and the city rate of $2.19, for city property owners.

The "inside," or city rate, as first proposed, would have amounted to $5.60 on each $100 valuation. But prospect is that the cut in the school rate will materially reduce the "inside" rate.

City to Fight Claim Based on Water Use

ONTARIO, Aug. 20.—Asserting that the organization has been damaged to the extent of $92,000, the Marshall Corporation is seeking to collect that amount from the city of Ontario because of water taken from the city well at Dessau street and Euclid avenue, it was revealed today.

When the claim was presented to the City Council it was flatly turned down when City Attorney E. H. Jolliffe branded it "baseless and foolish."

The claim was presented through L. B. Joraloman, sales manager for the Marshall Corporation, asserting the city has pumped 1,840,000,000 gallons of water which, it is declared, the city has used unlawfully, since the site was acquired four years ago for water purposes.

City Manager Austin Burt, in presenting the claim, informed the City Council that the city has only pumped water from the well two years, as the property had not been developed for two years after it was acquired, and that in the two years of operation 500,000,000 gallons of water have been pumped.

In announcing his opposition to the claim, City Attorney Jolliffe referred to the days when Richard Gird owned Chino rancho, one of the largest single ranches in Southern California. The land in question is a portion of the old Richard Gird property, which he deeded forty years ago and in which deed he wrote the restriction that water was to be developed from the well only in such amounts as to maintain the land itself and that more than that amount of water could not be removed unless the supply reverted to the grantor.

Jolliffe said in outlining the restriction that Gird, by parting with the deed, automatically rendered the restriction void by so doing. The land was purchased by the city of Ontario four years ago.

Members of the City Council said they would no longer entertain any such claim from the corporation seeking to gain remuneration on "baseless and foolish" principles.

BAT SPEEDS AROUND IN JUSTICE COURT

SOUTH PASADENA, Aug. 20.—Disturbed by testimony being given here in justice court by a witness in a speeding case, a large bat flew about the courtroom at such a high velocity that Justice of the Peace W. Cloyd Snyder was forced to adjourn court for fifteen minutes today. After the courtroom had been cleared the bat relinquished its attempts to butt its nose through the windows and went to sleep upside down on a curtain rod while court was resumed.

Blood Tests to Save Boy's Life Made on Seven

SAN BERNARDINO, Aug. 20.—When 10-year-old George Spaulding of 1318 West Oliver street, Redlands, who has been stricken with a complication of diseases, fought for his life today at the County Hospital, the blood of seven persons who each volunteered to give a pint of the fluid to save the lad's life was being tested to determine whether it was suitable for use, and nearly a score of others telephoned County Hospital authorities offering to give their blood.

The offer to supply blood followed a plea from County Hospital authorities last night. The need is acute and probably will be the difference between life and death for the boy. The diseases have been gradually wasting his strength and a blood transfusion is practically imperative to insure sufficient strength to combat his ills.

The blood-testing is under the direction of Dr. Delbert Williams, assistant County Hospital superintendent, who is in charge of the case. There were two women in the first group of seven who volunteered their blood. Those who underwent blood tests were Mrs. W. P. Berg, 777 Fifth street; John McCann, 202 G street; H. C. Kaltenborn, city policeman; H. H. Kresge, 1643 F street; S. W. Frame of San Bernardino; Ariel Wright, 418 F street, and Charles V. Samuels, 3923 E street.

Unfortunately, said Dr. Williams, the immediate members of the boy's family are unable to do anything for him, and the lad is dependent on the mercy of strangers, if the blood necessary for the transfusion is to be obtained. George's brother, 12 years of age, volunteered to give his blood, but the older brother not long ago had a serious attack of rheumatic fever, and hospital surgeons consider it inadvisable to take the fluid from this source. Neither the boy's father, a World War veteran, nor his brother, is in good health, either, and their blood would not be suitable for the purpose, according to the surgeons.

Los Aeropuertos de lo Futuro Serán Tal Vez Sótanos

LONDRES, Agosto 20.—La idea de un gran aeropuerto subterráneo ha sido lanzada por los peritos aeronautas que ha nestado estudiando las recientes maniobras de la Fuerza Aérea Real. Hacen observar que la lección que más de relieve han puesto los ejercicios aéreos de la semana próximo pasada es la vulnerabilidad de los aeródromos ante un ataque desde el aire.

Una y otra vez, los aviones de bombardeo penetraron en las defensas a 190 millas por hora, y, teóricamente, destruyeron los aeroplanos enemigos antes de que estos salieran de sus cobertizos. Los aviones de ataque ligeros y de un asiento realizaban, entretanto, asaltos felices, volando bajo y destruyendo los aeródromos con fuego de ametralladoras.

Los peritos en aviación indican ahora que la única salvaguardia contra esos ataques es la construcción de inmensos cobertizos de hormigón para alojar los aparatos bajo tierra, y el uso de grandes ascensores bien protegidos por hormigón para subir los aviones a la superficie del campo.

Mediante los Rayos X se Sigue el Derrotero de un Alfiler de Seguridad

En el Hospital General se está tomando cada hora una radiografía para seguir el camino de un imperdible abierto que se tragó el lunes último el niño de 16 meses Harold Kern. La criatura se halla al cuidado de la doctora Emma Kittredge. Hasta este momento sus funciones son normales, lo que hace pensar a la doctora que el imperdible se eliminará de modo natural.

Las fotografías tomadas anoche revelan que ya el alfiler salió del estómago, lo que indica que tal vez sea removido sin necesidad de intervención quirúrgica.

En un momento en que la madre del niño se descuidó, la criatura se tragó el imperdible. Esto ocurrió en la casa de ambos, avenida de Elysian Park, 1262.

Flower Vender Charged with Petty Theft

HANFORD, Aug. 20.—Entering the local plant of the Benham Ice Cream Company here just before noon today, W. D. Power carried a basket of artificial flowers which he was "selling." When he emerged he carried with him a handful of silver and currency amounting approximately to $35, according to local authorities.

When Manager W. D. Bannister was engaged in another part of the office Power, the officers say, spied the open safe and grabbed what money he could hurriedly find, making a quick exit. Bannister became suspicious when he saw Power leave in a rush and gave chase, catching him after a short run. Bystanders assisted him in holding Power until Sheriff W. V. Buckner and deputies arrived.

Power gave his address as Oakland.

Later a truck driver by the name of C. C. Wright was taken into custody. Police suspect he was waiting to assist Power in making an escape. In Wright's truck was a quantity of artificial flowers identically like those Power was vending.

THE "SPEECH" THAT WAS NEVER MADE!

[...]SSIONAL RECORD—HOUSE JUNE 19

of fertilizer as has been determined in the original purpose for the construction of Muscle Shoals. You may talk of farm relief, but the manufacture of fertilizer here for the farmer will mean real relief.

I am informed that the Senate is willing to compromise on this measure and let us have all of the fertilizer that we are looking for providing we will promise to let the Government control the power, and we can use every kilowatt of it for the manufacture of fertilizer if it is necessary.

I sincerely hope that there may be a compromise, and I feel that it is unfortunate that the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. Reece] should take the position that he is credited with taking. I appeal to the leaders of the House that they bring about a compromise of the situation and that they give us what we are entitled to at Muscle Shoals. This is a great question and one the administration must face. We now stand on the threshold of accomplishment on the one hand and failure on the other. Which will be taken? May God help us to take the road to accomplishment in the interest of our people of all America.

Mr. Chairman, I intend to vote against any resolution of adjournment until we have enacted these measures into law.

I ask unanimous consent to extend my remarks in the Record.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection?

There was no objection.

Mr. AYRES. Mr. Chairman, I yield two minutes to the gentleman from Alabama [Mr. Oliver].

Mr. OLIVER of Alabama. Mr. Chairman, I was very much interested in the statement of the gentleman from Tennessee [Mr. Davis], and I regret exceedingly that further time could not have been granted him. May I ask the gentleman from Tennessee whether he has heard any explanation offered why the two companies he mentioned were not made defendants to the suit?

Mr. DAVIS. No; I have not.

Mr. OLIVER of Alabama. In your study of this question, is it your thought that further enabling legislation might be helpful in the prosecution of a suit like this?

Mr. DAVIS. Just what does the gentleman have in mind?

Mr. OLIVER of Alabama. This, that under existing laws some important suits have been brought which resulted in unsatisfactory decisions. Recognizing that this House is opposed to permitting radio interests to form a trust, it occurred to me that we should remove all possible doubt of it by passing enabling legislation which would carry out the evident intent and purpose of Congress, which the gentleman from Tennessee has so well voiced.

Mr. DAVIS. There are in the radio law of 1927 several provisions intended to effect that end, most of which I think I had the honor to draw, and I have from time to time offered several other provisions which the House and the Senate did not see proper to accept. I think very salutary legislation could be enacted along that line.

Mr. WASON. Mr. Chairman, I yield one minute to the gentleman from California [Mr. Crail].

Mr. CRAIL. Mr. Chairman and my colleagues of the House, the constituency which I represent is vitally interested in that item of the bill which is now under consideration, which appropriates ten million and more dollars for the commencement of actual work on the construction of the Boulder Dam on the Colorado River. In fact, all of the great southwest [illegible] of the United States is greatly concerned that this [illegible] second deficiency appropriation bill shall not be disturbed.

I have listened to the debate this afternoon. The gentleman from Arizona [Mr. Douglas] questions the engineering feasibility of the project. He throws suspicion on the validity of the contracts entered into by the Secretary of the Interior to sell power and water which will pay for the cost of construction, the carrying charges, and [illegible] repay the Government in less than 50 years, and in the meantime pay great fortunes every year to the States of Arizona and Nevada. He is sure that the Government, and particularly the State of California, are going to despoil the weak State of Arizona and rob it of its birthright. Woe, woe, woe.

I can assure you, my colleagues, that there is nothing that this Congress could do in regard to the Colorado River that would meet with the approval of the gentleman from Arizona. These matters were fully considered and argued at great length, when the bill authorizing the appropriation of hundreds of millions for the construction of the Boulder Dam and the all-American canal was before the House. These questions were decided at that time, so far as the Congress can decide them, and they were all decided and rightly decided against the contentions of the gentleman from Arizona. All there is before the House at this time in relation to this matter is the mere detail of carrying out the first step in the decision which was made by this Congress when the Boulder Dam bill was enacted into law. This Congress must keep the faith with the people of the Southwest and with the people of the Nation, for it is true that the people of the Nation are interested in this matter and have issued their fiat that the dam shall be built. Nothing can be gained by delay.

Hard times are more or less nation-wide at this time. The President and the Congress have said that public improvements should go ahead. I am not speaking solely for Boulder Dam in this respect. Public improvements should go ahead all over the country. In carrying on this program, millions [illegible] work that otherwise would not, and because the [illegible] going ahead with its development projects [illegible] inspired in private institution and in municipality [illegible] and State for like activities. The result will be [illegible] better times will follow, and every man and every woman who is out of work and who wants a job will have one. The work should proceed at once.

Of course, this item in the bill for the Boulder Dam [illegible] to carry, and carry by a large majority. I do [illegible] there can be any question of that. I am not [illegible] the result. I am not pleading for votes. I expect the [illegible] of Congress to do their duty. I know that you are [illegible] this project by a large majority. I believe that a [illegible] to strike out this appropriation will be lost by more [illegible] 2 to 1. But I feel it is my duty to let you know that the [illegible] of Los Angeles and all of the people of southern California are trusting in the good word of Congress that the work [illegible] dam will proceed as soon as the Secretary of the Interior [illegible] entered into valid contracts for the sale of power and [illegible] that will repay to the Government all of the money [illegible] shall advance toward this enterprise.

I have heard it argued [illegible] the people of Los Angeles are not interested in this project. My friends, the very existence of the city of Los Angeles depends upon the success of this enterprise. Southern California is naturally a semiarid, almost semidesert area. We have no running waters, no rivers with water in them the year around, no lakes—unless you call the artificially [illegible] reservoirs lakes. Southern California is the modern Garden of Eden. But her green lawns, her waving fields, her spreading trees, and orchards are made possible through water which is made available for irrigation by the ingenuity of man. Water is life in the great Southwest. If water is not available, our farms, our villages, and our cities would shrivel up and perish.

Southern California is growing in population at a great rate. We have already almost reached the limit of the waters which are available for our use. The time has now come when we must have water from the Colorado River. The question is whether we can hold out until those waters are provided. Your vote on this appropriation will largely determine that question.

Domestic use is the highest purpose to which water can be applied. The city of Los Angeles and the other 12 cities of the metropolitan water district of California want this water for no other purpose than domestic use. We are asking for water to drink, water to use in our kitchens, water to give to our children in the years to come.

I think I can safely say that 99 per cent of the people of Los Angeles are in favor of the Boulder Dam and are eagerly expecting the Congress to go ahead with the completion of the project.

It would serve no useful purpose for me to discuss the validity of these contracts which my friend from Arizona derides. The Attorney General of the United States has given his written opinion that they are valid and will protect the Government of the United States in the return of whatever moneys it expends in the construction of Boulder Dam. What better evidence of their validity does the Congress want than this? The Secretary of the Interior appeared before the Committee on Appropriations and urged that the appropriation be made, and stated that the legal aides in his department had passed on the validity of these contracts. He also stated to the committee that he had called in the best outside legal advice that he could obtain to pass on the validity of these contracts, and that from the opinions of the attorneys in his department and the opinion of the outside attorneys whose assistance he had obtained he was fully satisfied that the contracts were good, binding, and valid contracts, and were full protection to the Government.

I understand, of course, that no vote will be taken on this bill to-night. I thought, however, that we should not adjourn for the day without a statement from the representative of the city of Los Angeles reaffirming what you already know, that this project, the Boulder Dam on the Colorado River, is vital to the welfare, the growth, the happiness, and the prosperity of our fair city, aye, to its very life.

To-morrow, when the vote is taken, we confidently expect that you, my colleagues, the Representatives of the American people, will stand true to what you have already done, true to conviction and right, and will appropriate for the commencement of this enterprise the amount which the Secretary of the Interior has stated is necessary for that purpose. In advance, I extend to you the heartfelt thanks of a grateful and deserving people. [Applause.]

[illegible] Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks.

The CHAIRMAN. Is there objection to the request of the gentleman from California?

There was no objection.

The CHAIRMAN. There being no further general debate, the Clerk will read the first paragraph of the bill.

The Clerk read as follows:

A bill making appropriations to supply deficiencies in certain appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and prior fiscal years, to provide supplemental appropriations for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1930, and June 30, 1931, and for other purposes

Be it enacted, etc., That the following sums are appropriated, out of any money in the Treasury not otherwise appropriated, to supply deficiencies in certain appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and prior fiscal years, to provide supplemental appropriations for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1930, and June 30, 1931, and for other purposes, namely:

The CHAIRMAN. Under the order of the House the authority for this sitting in committee is exhausted, and the committee automatically rises.

Thereupon the committee rose; and the Speaker having resumed the chair, Mr. Chindblom, Chairman of the Committee of the Whole House on the state of the Union, having had under consideration the bill (H. R. 12902) making appropriations to supply deficiencies in certain appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1930, and prior fiscal years, to provide supplemental appropriations for the fiscal years ending June 30, 1930, and June 30, 1931, and for other purposes, reported that that committee had come to no resolution thereon.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Mr. Clarke of New York (at the request of Mr. Vestal) was granted leave of absence, indefinitely on account of illness.

FURTHER MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

A further message from the Senate by Mr. Craven, its principal clerk, announced that the Senate agrees to the report of the committee of conference on the disagreeing votes of the two Houses on the amendment of the House to the bill (S. 4017) entitled "An act to amend the act of May 29, 1928, pertaining to certain War Department contracts by repealing the expiration date of that act."

SENATE BILLS REFERRED

Bills and joint resolutions of the Senate of the following titles were taken from the Speaker's table and under the rule referred as follows:

S. 2901. An act authorizing and directing the Secretary of Agriculture to investigate all phases of taxation in relation to agriculture; to the Committee on Agriculture.

S. 2908. An act for the relief of Rebecca Green; to the Committee on Claims.

S. 5004. An act to amend the red light law of the District of Columbia; to the Committee on the District of Columbia.

S. J. Res. 58. Joint resolution creating a commission to make a study with respect to the adequacy of the supply of unskilled agricultural labor; to the Committee on Immigration and Naturalization.

S. J. Res. 177. Joint resolution to provide for the erection of a monument to William Howard Taft at Manila, Philippine Islands; to the Committee on the Library.

ENROLLED BILLS SIGNED

Mr. CAMPBELL of Pennsylvania, from the Committee on Enrolled Bills, reported that that committee had examined and found truly enrolled bills of the House of the following titles which were thereupon signed by the Speaker:

H. R. 515. An act to extend the benefits of the employees' compensation act of September 7, 1916, to Jackson D. Wiseman, a former employee of the Government Dairy Farm, Beltsville, Md.;

H. R. 593. An act for the relief of First Lieut. John B. Bailey;

No. 149——13

ABOVE is a photographic reproduction of part of the Congressional Record (Pages 11648 and 11649) containing what purports to have been Congressman Joe Crail's eloquent contribution to the debate on the floor of the House on the Boulder Dam appropriation. This measure was by far the most important of the session so far as concerns the Tenth (Los Angeles) District, which Mr. Crail is supposed to represent in Congress and for which he is seeking renomination at the primary next Tuesday.

Notwithstanding the extreme importance of the measure to his constituents, Mr. Crail took a negligible part in the proceedings. He did NOT deliver the address here inserted by him in the Congressional Record and cunningly so worded as to make it appear a part of the debate on the floor of that day and date, even to the word "Applause" bracketed at the end. Particularly significant, in this connection, is the concluding, underlined paragraph, so worded as deliberately to imply that the "speech" was made on the day of the debate, the day before the vote was taken. No such words were delivered by Mr. Crail.

The "speech" here attributed to himself by Mr. Crail for the edification of Tenth District voters, with his personal applause added, contains 1276 words. What Mr. Crail actually said consisted of exactly 111 words of which the most significant were these: "Mr. Chairman, I ask unanimous consent to revise and extend my remarks." This is a device whereby certain Congressmen who are so disposed may insert undelivered speeches in the Record and thereafter distribute, at government expense, the government-printed sections of the Record containing these "speeches" in large numbers to their constituents to create a fictitious impression of activity in their behalf.

The importance attributed by his colleagues to Mr. Crail's part in the debate is indicated by the fact that he was given one minute in which to make his "speech" in favor of the Boulder Dam appropriation.

In a ruling submitted yesterday by City Attorney Werner the City Council and not the Board of Public Works is deemed to have jurisdiction over the assignment of space in the City Hall.

'REALIFE' FILMS TO BE SHOWN

Ordinary Machine Can be Used for Projecting New Wide-Screen Pictures

Perfection of a method for projecting wide-screen pictures through ordinary projection machines was announced yesterday by Louis B. Mayer, head of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

The new film is to be called "Realife" and will have many revolutionary advantages, Mr. Mayer said. It will enable the showing of pictures filling all available screen space, offer a three-dimensional effect or perspective through greater depth of focus and give perfect naturalness, with players in lifelike proportions against more impressive backgrounds than in ordinary films, he said. Theaters will be able to use it without adding new equipment.

The invention is the result of more than a year of experimentation by the studio's technicians.

"Billy the Kid," directed by King Vidor and featuring Johnny Mack Brown and Kay Johnson, is to be the first picture to be shown with the "Realife" effect.

KEATON TRIAL START NEAR

Completion of Jury Selection Today Deemed Likely; Six Women and Five Men Accepted

The legal battle to complete a jury to pass on the sanity of Frank D. Keaton, slayer of Motley Flint, which began in Superior Judge Schauer's court three days ago, probably will end some time this morning, according to counsel.

With the court adjournment last night six women and five men were in the jury box passed for cause by Defense Counsel D'Orr and Reynolds and Dep. Dist.-Attys. Burgess and Russell. All of them, according to both sides, will be accepted as permanent jurors. With one more in the box and two alternate jurors selected the evidence in the trial can begin.

Since last Monday morning when the jury selection began, forty-nine prospective jurors have been examined by the attorneys. Of that number eleven remain in the jury box, nine were excused by the prosecution and three by the defense while the rest left the box by challenges for cause or stipulation of counsel. At the close of court last night the panels from Departments Twenty-three, Twenty-four and Twenty-six had been exhausted.

LINE OF QUESTIONING

All day yesterday interrogation dealt with legal insanity as differing from medical insanity and the various rules of law which attach to an insanity trial. Once in a while the prosecution questioned a new prospect regarding Rev. R. P. Shuler, whose name has been mentioned in the case.

As the end of the third day of jury questioning approached, the crowd in attendance dwindled, only a small handful of the regulars remaining.

During the late afternoon Keaton appeared to fall asleep at his end of the counsel table, where for the past three days he has been sitting with his head resting in his hands. He was awakened by Defense Counsel Reynolds.

DEFENDANT INDIFFERENT

Not once yesterday did Keaton alter his apparent indifference, which has continued since his first day in court. He paid no attention to any of the proceedings. Meanwhile Drs. Victor Parkin and Thom-

PAIR DELAY ENDURANCE TRIP IN AIR

Mendell and Reinhart to Wait Another Ten Days so Motor Can be Tuned

Ten days at least will be required to prepare the Wright Whirlwind motor for the proposed refueling endurance flight from Grand Central Air Terminal of Loren Mendell and R. B. Reinhart, it was learned at the airport yesterday.

The local flyers, once endurance champions, have ordered the motor tuned for a 1000-hour stay in the air with the object of shattering the St. Louis Jackson-O'Brine record of 647h. 28m. 30s.

The take-off was set tentatively for yesterday, but work on the motor and on the Albatross high-winged monoplane will postpone it for another two weeks.

Besides the two pilots plans call for a third man to complete the endurance crew. The third will operate the radio set for broadcasting.

Mendell is scheduled to appear before United States District Judge Cosgrave on September 7, for setting of his trial date on a charge of conspiring to violate the immigration laws. He entered a plea of not guilty on an indictment that he attempted to smuggle Japanese into the United States across the Mexican border in an airplane.

Frank H. True, president of the Wisconsin Society, yesterday issued a final call to all Badgers to attend the picnic rally Saturday at Sycamore Grove Park.

FAMILY LIST REFUSED TO COUNCILMEN

Civil Service Commission Declines to Hunt Data on Municipal Workers

The City Council's request to the Civil Service Commission for a list of city employees who have wives or other family members working for the city was turned down by the commission yesterday.

The request was the result of a suggestion by the Men's Brotherhood of the University Christian Church that married men with families to support should be favored in city employment, although City Attorney Werner had rendered an opinion that such a plan would be illegal, as employees are chosen under the charter from eligible lists obtained from competitive examinations.

The commission directed General Manager Amsden to inform the Council that it has no data available on the relationships of the employees, numbering more than 17,000; that to obtain it would entail a lot of expense for which there is no provision in the department's budget, and that in view of the ruling as to illegality of the procedure there is no object in undertaking such a costly task.

Tenth Street Bids Received

Nine contractors yesterday submitted bids to the Board of Public Works for the improvement of the westerly link of Tenth street, known as the Olympic Boulevard and Stanley avenue improvement district. They all were referred to the City Engineer for checking and analysis. They range from a low of $458,138 to the high bid of $555,504.

The improvement runs from Rimpau to Robertson boulevards, about two and one-half miles.

MRS. M'PHERSON GAINS SWIFTLY

Evangelist Plans to Speak at Temple Sunday

"Ma" Kennedy Sticks to Her Story of Fight

Discharge of Mrs. Waldron Price of Peace

So marked was the improvement yesterday in the physical condition of Aimee Semple McPherson, evangelist, that today she will be permitted to see visitors at her secluded beach home, and by Sunday evening may be able to appear at Angelus Temple for the divine services.

Reports of the speedy recovery from a reputed nervous breakdown, an attack of near blindness and a facial operation came from her bedside attendants, her aides at the temple and officially from her attending physician, Dr. Edward H. Williams.

RAPID RECOVERY

Mrs. McPherson is improving in such a manner that Dr. Williams, who was called to attend her Monday after her flight to the seaside cottage, that he canceled his sundown visit to her bedside yesterday.

Dr. Williams visited his patient shortly before noon and found that she had greatly improved, and that she had spent a most restful night. He expects to make a call late today and indicated last night that this will be the only additional visit and examination necessary for her complete recovery.

The physician stated that Mrs. McPherson wants to return to Angelus Temple Sunday. She is still nervous, he stated, but possessed of great recuperative powers, and may be able to carry out her plans, although he thinks them ill-advised.

Dr. Williams, when told that the followers of the evangelist persist in believing she is blind and are praying for her, said, "Let them pray. It can't hurt them."

From Mae Waldron, spokesman for the evangelist, came word that Mrs. McPherson slept most of the afternoon, and that she was resting very nicely. This was verified by Miss Bessie Sylva, special nurse assigned to the case by Dr. Williams, who added that the evangelist is in no danger, that she is perfectly rational.

WEIGHT LOST

It is reported that Mrs. McPherson has lost some twenty-eight pounds since she entered the Brentwood Sanatorium for her face lifting and that she is still in a nervous condition.

Strong indications that she is planning to return to the temple for the Sunday night sermon came when Miss Waldron announced that the evangelist wants to preach that evening, but it may be decided that she should rest longer.

According to Miss Waldron, the plans at present are to keep Mrs. McPherson at the Malibu Beach cottage for several days, or until she is fully recovered. She will be permitted to see visitors, members of her congregation, officers of the temple and others.

In addition, arrangements are being made to have the Angelus Temple Glee Club and other musical organizations visit the cottage during the day and entertain her with songs.

"MA" STICKS TO STORY

Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the evangelist, resting from her operation for a broken nose, was able to leave her bed yesterday and will be ready to leave the sanatorium in a few days.

"I do not care how many denials are issued that my nose was not broken in a fight with my daughter," the mother said in speaking of a report that Mrs. McPherson had charged that there was no fight, but that the injury was caused in a fall on the kitchen floor at the Temple home.

TERMS SPECIFIED

"My nose was broken during a heated argument between Sister and myself and that is all there is to the matter. The attendants at the sanatorium, the surgeon and friends of both of us know about the trouble, and know that it was caused by my objection to Mae Waldron in the official family at the Temple.

"Why, I have a letter from Sister," continued Mrs. Kennedy, "in which she wrote me frankly that she was getting rid of this Waldron woman for all time. This was one of the conditions under which I agreed to return to aid her in straightening out Temple affairs."

Mrs. Kennedy expects to leave the sanatorium shortly and go to a mountain retreat where she can recover from the shock of her latest

VOTING DAY

Next Tuesday we will all get into a voting booth and survey with bewilderment and depression a long list of names that looks like the United States census and wonder dumbly which one is a horse thief and which a proper candidate for office.

The painful fact is that democracy is a great idea, but the machinery of democracy has been outgrown. There is only one way around the difficulty, which is to take the lists the newspapers have investigated and trust the newspaper which seems most trustworthy.

MYSTERY OF THE RACES

Ambassador Dawes is hotfooting it off to Spain to look at the recent finds of the Neolithic era—mines, pictures, etc.

It would be difficult to think of a more fascinating investigation. This is the great mystery of the world. It is evident that these men of the early dawn of the world were a remarkable race. Some of the art they have left—scrawled on the walls of dark caves—had a beauty and instinct for line that has never been surpassed by artists since their day.

For some reason that has never been explained they seem to have been wiped off the face of the earth to give place to a race not much above animals.

WOMEN DRIVERS

An insurance company has discovered that women drivers end in the morgue less frequently than men. Which most of us knew already.

There are only two classes of people of whom I am afraid when I drive. The worst are old men. They poke along in the middle of the road and turn on inspiration without holding out their hands. The other are boys in cleaning-establishment delivery trucks. Whenever one of the latter comes along I draw up to the curb and climb a telegraph pole until the crisis seems to be over.

High-school boys in Fords give you the heebee-jeebees with their apparent recklessness, but most of them are fine drivers. They allow themselves a sixteenth of an inch on each side to tear through at 180 miles an hour; but it seems to be enough.

WELL, WELL, DAVID

David Belasco says that, were he younger, he would become a producer of silent pictures—so convinced is he that talking pictures will flop.

You never can tell when David is trying to show off and when he means it.

To my way of thinking, you can't say that either silent pictures or talking pictures will succeed or fail. A magic-lantern show would draw crowds were it good enough.

The real trouble with talkies is that the producers thought they could get away with anything, due to the fascination of the new medium.

AS TO HEARTS

Thinking again of David Belasco—

Recently he told the reporters of his most dramatic experience. He said he was invited to a post mortem where they were cutting up a young lady—deceased. When they took the cover off her face he found her to be a jilt who had

FOUR LIVES TRAFFIC'S TOLL

Two Women, Child and Young Man Fall Victims in Yesterday's Accidents on Highways

Two women, a young child and a man lost their lives yesterday and last night in a series of traffic accidents in the local area, police reports showed.

Mrs. Hannah Marie Elby, 54 years of age, 10525 Ohio avenue, West Los Angeles, wife of Henry Elby, professor at University of California at Los Angeles, died last night in the Santa Monica Hospital from injuries received earlier in the evening at Westwood and Wilshire Boulevards. A car, reported by officers to have been driven by Edward Durkin, 6264 Afton Place, struck Mrs. Elby as she was crossing the intersection on foot. Durkin was detained while police investigated.

Eager to start on the automobile ride on which he was to accompany his mother and a woman visitor, Johnny Lee Garrett, 20 months of age, scrambled off the porch at the family home at 4450 Mosier street yesterday and toddled toward the car which was being backed out of the garage.

Johnny's mother was in the house picking up some things she was going to take on the ride, and Miss Olga Rieger, the visitor, was backing out the car. Johnny ran directly in its path, the wheels passed over him, crushing his small body so terribly that he died at the Pasadena-avenue Receiving Hospital.

Mrs. Katherine Kunz, 64, of 3535 Dahlia street, according to police report, was struck by a Pacific Electric street car at Sunset Boulevard and Golden Gate avenue and hurled into an automobile driven by Foster H. Grantham of 1616 North Normandie avenue. She died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital several hours after the accident.

HOT-AIR BALLOON MIGHT BE CHEAPEST FOR COUNCIL

Reminiscent of the closing days of the World War, the City Council yesterday refought a battle over sedans, without a definite conclusion, but with the expenditure of much oratory.

The Council had before it a report of the Supply Committee, recommending the purchase of a new sedan. Councilman Webster moved as a substitute that two new cars be purchased. This was defeated, 5 to 9.

Comment ran something like this:

Councilman Lewis: "No difference how many sedans we purchase, we'll have the same conditions, some people will hog them."

Councilman Cooke: "I find it satisfactory to drive my own car."

Councilman Burns: "That arrangement suits me."

Councilman Barthel: "When we voted a gas-and-oil expense account of $75 per month, I bought myself a new sedan. Then the City Attorney ruled the plan was illegal. Where does that leave me?"

Councilman Webster: "I'm sick and tired of the whole business. I drive my own, but I'm just trying to solve this problem to uphold the dignity of the City Council. The members should have adequate transportation, but somehow, when cars are needed for official business, some Councilman's wife has them out on a shopping tour."

Councilman Williams: "I move that we buy a Ford for each member."

Councilman Ingram: "Aw, let's buy kiddie kars and roller skates."

A voice from the rear: "Get a horse, mister."

COLISEUM CONTRACT LET

Work Started at Once on $454,000 Unit B Job to Provide Seats for 105,000

The contract for enlarging the Coliseum to seat 105,000 persons was signed yesterday between the Board of Public Works and Edwards, Wildey & Dixon Company, contractors. The total amount, shared equally by the city and county, is $454,000.

The contractor recently finished the first unit and has all his equipment and machinery on the job, which was turned to the new work at once.

During the past few months the contractor has razed the wooden upper decks and replaced them with concrete and steel construction. The operation also increased slightly the seating capacity, making it about 80,000.

The work on Unit B, as the job now commenced is termed, calls for the extension upward and backward of additional rows of seats, inclusion of rest rooms under the stands, immense lighting standards for use in night exercises and games, and the installation of press stands and radio rooms unequaled anywhere in the world.

It is expected the work finally will be completed in time for important intercollegiate games in the latter part of the season, particularly when Notre Dame comes here to engage University of Southern California.

The purpose of the enlargement, however, is to provide, well in advance, adequate arrangements for the Olympic Games in 1932. The Community Development Association, which financed and constructed the original structure nine years ago, will continue to exercise control over the Coliseum, with the Olympiad Commission, until the end of 1932.

Funds for the final work were provided by the Board of Supervisors and the City Council.

In announcing her retirement, Mrs. Kennedy again reiterated that she still loves her daughter, and is ready to answer her call for aid. She made it plain, however, that she will not consider a reconciliation until Mrs. McPherson releases Miss Waldron as a member of her staff.

Throughout yesterday the praying and shouting continued at Angelus Temple, and while the prayers are continuous at one time there were approximately 2000 men and women engaged in loud supplications that could be heard for a radius of a block about the tabernacle.

Mrs. Harriet Jordan, head of the Bible School, appeared before massed members of the congregation during the day and warned them to disregard all published reports as to Mrs. McPherson’s condition. She affirmed the evangelist to be blind and asserted that tests had been made by a committee from the flock that convinced them of the truth of the tragedy.

An afternoon bulletin, not signed by a physician, but issued by Mrs. Jordan, said: “Latest news from Mrs. McPherson is that she continues to improve. Do not cease praying.”

WORSHIPER GETS WET

Mrs. Jordan said there is slight chance that Mrs. McPherson will return to the temple until Sunday or later, and her statement is confirmed by “Brother” J. W. Arthur.

Emma Shaffer, a personal secretary, went into the temple during yesterday and had a long conference with other leaders. After she left she was quoted as saying that Mrs. McPherson remains in a critical condition and will be unable to attend a meeting for several days.

Some excitement prevailed in the vicinity of the temple during the day when one member of the flock was rescued from the adjoining Echo Lake. His rescuers said the man became so ardent in his prayers for the evangelist that he attempted to walk on the water.

After considerable floundering and splashing the middle-aged worshiper was hauled dripping wet over the mossy banks—but his straw hat was a total loss.

SEATTLE MEETING OF PASTOR CALLED OFF

SEATTLE (Wash.) Aug. 20. (AP)—The present illness of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, necessitated cancellation of plans for a twelve-day revival meeting here from September 24 to October 5, it became known today.

William Coyle, manager of the Civic Auditorium, revealed the evangelist had arranged to rent the hall at $300 a night for the meetings, but the arrangement was canceled today, he said, in a telegram received from Rev. H. W. Jefferies, one of Mrs. McPherson’s lieutenants, who wired from Portland.

Mrs. McPherson announced while here last month she would return “in late summer or early fall for a series of good old-fashioned evangelistic meetings,” and declared “Seattle is the next step—the logical place, in fact, for establishment of a permanent church.”

Gruell, 1923 East Fourth street, was postponed yesterday by Municipal Judge Ballard until next Thursday when prosecution witnesses failed to appear. as J. Orbison, who have had him under observation since one hour following the fatal shooting, spent the day in the courtroom making a study of the man.

Keaton, as will be shown by prosecution testimony, walked into a local courtroom about five weeks ago and shot to death Motley Flint, banker, as the latter left the witness stand after giving testimony in a civil action. Following the shooting it developed, according to the police, that Keaton was carrying a booklet written by Rev. R. P. Shuler in his pocket. The booklet claimed to set forth facts regarding the Julian Petroleum Corporation crash and placed some of the blame upon Flint.

SOCIAL WORKER SUCCUMBS

Mrs. W. S. James, Noted for Philanthropies, Dies from Effects of Heart Attack

Mrs. W. S. James, 71 years of age, social worker and philanthropist, who was for twenty-three years secretary of the Psychopathic Association of Southern California, died yesterday afternoon at her home, 531 Shatto Place, after a brief illness.

Last Sunday evening Mrs. James returned from Berkeley, where she had attended a meeting of the Institute of International Relations. On Monday morning she suffered a heart attack from which she failed to rally.

HALL NAMED AFTER HER

Long active on many legislative committees, Mrs. James was credited for being largely instrumental in gaining Norwalk Hospital for the Insane for Southern California. She carried the fight for the hospital to the State Legislature and urged it to vote the necessary appropriation. In recognition of her efforts and those of her late husband, who died seven years ago, the new assembly hall at the hospital has been named James Hall.

LEAVES SISTER

Born in England, Mrs. James, when a young girl accompanied her parents to Chicago, where for a time the family made its home. In 1887 she came to Los Angeles, living here continuously until her death. Her efforts along social and philanthropic lines caused her to be widely known and brought her in contact with President Hoover.

She leaves a sister, Mrs. Ellen M. Potts of South Kingsley Drive.

The funeral has been set tentatively for Saturday afternoon, although the hour and other details were still to be arranged last night.

Noted Dancers will Appear on Fiesta Program

Nationally known dancers including many interpreters of Spanish and Mexican themes will be among the featured performers on La Fiesta de Los Angeles program, celebrating the city’s 149th birthday, September 4, it was anounced yesterday by Phil Whiting, production manager.

Bandits Pay Visit to Candy Store

Terrifying two girl clerks with a revolver, two sheikish bandits wearing white caps and sporty shirts open at the neck, held up the Albert Sheets Candy Store at 2501 Wilshire Boulevard last night, making off with $125.

A third man kept watch outside the store during the hold-up. After the robbery they drove away in a dark roadster.

The two clerks, Anne Sperry and Virginia McCann, provided the police with a description of the hold-up men.

HUSBAND SERVING IN ROAD CAMP DIVORCED

With her husband sentenced to a road camp for a year, Mrs. Mildred Elsie McMorris yesterday obtained a divorce from James Jarvis McMorris. She accused him of disrespect, indifference and failure to support her and their daughter, Mildred Ruth, 6 years of age. Her complaint set forth that McMorris was sentenced to the county road camp October 30, 1929, for failure to provide. They were married July 26, 1923, and separated August 30, 1929. Superior Judge Hahn granted the wife a decree, and $45 a month for the child’s support.

TRAFFIC DAY FATAL TO FOUR

The street car was in charge of Motorman Leonard B. Hall.

Fatally injured yesterday morning when the automobile he was driving collided with another car and then swerved into a truck at Center and Michigan streets in Hynes, Herbert Lucas, 35, 1063 East Anaheim Boulevard, Long Beach, died a short while later at Los Campanos Hospital, Compton.

Lucas, according to Deputy Sheriff Gompert, collided with a machine driven by Bertha Wylie of Cypress and then hit a truck operated by Robert Mitchell, 2433 Seabright avenue, Long Beach, causing minor injuries to Mitchell and H. L. Meyers, 1047 Ohio street, Long Beach, who was riding in the truck. The body was removed to the undertaking parlors of R. R. Moreland, Compton, pending inquest.

MURDER CHARGED

James T. Nicholson, Whittier oil worker, yesterday was charged with the murder of J. T. McMahon, Belvedere night watchman, who was run down by an automobile and killed while walking on Whittier Boulevard near San Gabriel River bridge Monday night. The complaint was issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McKay.

Nicholson was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ballard immediately after the complaint was issued. His preliminary hearing was fixed for the 25th inst., at 10 a.m.

The murder charge was demanded instead of manslaughter because Nicholson is asserted to have been intoxicated at the time of the accident.

VICTIM SUCCUMBS

An inquest into the death of James Byrne, 74, of Puente, who was fatally injured Tuesday night when struck by an automobile at Seventh street and Valley Boulevard, Puente, will be conducted tomorrow at 9:30 a.m. at the undertaking parlors of Addleman & Klingerman, El Monte.

Byrne, according to a Sheriff’s office report, was crossing the road with his brother, Richard, when he was hit by a truck operated by Edmund G. Herring, 40, 922 West Thirtieth street. Herring was not held.

Evelyn Hall, who told Hollywood police she is a motion-picture actress, residing at 6520½ Franklin avenue, last night lost control of her car in a parking lot at Melrose and Bronson avenues. The car ran into E. O. Fauskee, an attendant at the lot, bruising his leg. Miss Hall said a tire on her car blew out. She was not detained.

Herbert Schiemann, 32, of 153 North Rampart Boulevard, may die from internal injuries and shock sustained when he was struck down late last night at Third street and Vermont avenue, by an automobile driven by Mrs. Al Ruiz, 6020 1-4 South Main street. Schiemann was treated at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital. Mrs. Ruiz was not held.

A nervous breakdown is blamed for his act.

DEATHS OF PAIR LAID TO NEGLIGENCE

Coroner’s Jury Criticises Lack of Ventilation on Ship Tank Painting

Fatal gassing of Jack Montoya and Guadelupe Escalanti while painting in a San Pedro tanker the 17th inst., was due to asphyxiation caused by failure to use proper ventilation, according to jury findings at the inquest conducted yesterday by Deputy Coroner Monfort at Wood’s Mortuary, Wilmington.

Peres Galli, foreman of the paint gang, testified customary blowers had not been used in the inclosed tank till the men collapsed. Eight of thirteen men also gassed testified, as did R. W. Curry, paint dealer, who attributed the gas to benzol, a volatile ingredient of the paint.

T. W. Osgood, assistant superintendent of the State Industrial Accident Commission, said regulations now are being drawn to safeguard against similar accidents.

Funeral services will be conducted for Montoya at his home, 602 Upland avenue, San Pedro, at 8 a.m. today and for Escalanti at Saints Peter and Paul Church, Wilmington, at 10 a.m.

THE DUKE OF YORK

The Duke of York is in the public eye as the most renowned prospective father.

He must be a popular idol, judging from the applause that greets his speeches. I heard one in the talkies. He said: “I have come to dedicate this gate given by a generous donor who prefers to remain anonymous.” And when he stopped with that the crowd yelled its head off.

Just as it receives with equanimity H. G. Wells’s story of the Prince of Wales—how he asked Thomas Hardy if he wrote books, and said he would have to read them some time. The English like their kings dumb. Which is curious as coming from one of the most diabolically clever of all races.

SULKY SPOUSE STORY WINS WIFE DECREE

Her husband sulked when visitors came, Mrs. Mabelle Francis Ansbro asserted yesterday in getting a divorce from Mathieu Ansbro. She complained that he would retire to his room and refuse to greet callers. Also, she added, he struck her with his fists in the presence of her child and his three children by a previous marriage. Although Ansbro filed a cross-complaint, he did not contest the suit. Superior Judge Collier granted the wife a decree.

BERMAN TAKEN BACK TO ISLAND

Julian Figure to Come Back for Further Trials

Twice-Convicted Principal to Face Another Charge

Jacob Berman, former officer of the Julian Petroleum Corporation and a witness for the corporation in cases following its collapse, was slipped out of the County Jail last night by his guards and started on his return trip to McNeil Island, where he is serving a seven-year term for using the mails to defraud.

The Federal guards, who have had Berman in their custody constantly since he was taken from McNeil’s Island, made every effort to keep their mission secret. It was learned, however, that he was placed aboard a north-bound train at 6:10 p.m.

Berman’s departure does not mark the end of the reopened Julian collapse trials, however, according to Robert P. Stewart, chief deputy District Attorney. He still is scheduled to be a witness at the trial of several prominent stock brokers and others accused of conspiring to overissue stock of the Julian concern, and will be returned to Los Angeles whenever the case is called for trial, it was announced.

He also is scheduled to return to Los Angeles on December 5, next, with S. C. Lewis, former president of the Julian Petroleum Corporation, for trial in Federal court on another charge.

When Berman finishes serving his seven-year sentence he still faces imprisonment in San Quentin penitentiary on three counts of forgery upon which he was convicted in Superior Court.

Paving of New Figueroa Link Gets Attention

Advised that within ninety days the city will be in possession of land necessary for the opening and widening of the North Figueroa extension and Dayton avenue from the latter’s intersection with Pasadena avenue to Second street, City Attorney Jessup yesterday requested the City Council to issue instructions for the preparation of plans for paving the new artery. At present the Elysian Park tunnels of the project are under construction.

Jessup suggests permanent pavement, seventy-four feet wide, in Dayton avenue between Avenue Twenty-two and Pasadena avenue, and in Figueroa street between Bishop Road and Second street, and with curbs, gutters, sidewalks, drains and water mains.

CONTRACT TO BE VISED

Cromwell, who will appear as David in Columbia’s new talking version of “Tol’able David,” is a minor, and as such his contract must be approved by the court.

CASH REGISTER FIRE HAZARD

Machine's Electric Spark Fires Gasoline-soaked Clothing of User

The victim of an unusually freakish accident, Albert Reed, 21 years of age, of 2848 Brighton avenue, was treated at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital yesterday for burns of the entire body.

Reed, a new employee at a gasoline service station at Adams street and Normandie avenue, forgot to turn off the gasoline after filling the tank of an automobile. The liquid drenched his clothing and splashed over near-by objects. One of these objects was a cash register operated by electricity.

On the instant he opened the money box, a spark from the electric wiring ignited his clothing. Before fellow-workers could smother the flames Reed suffered numerous second-degree burns.

LINGUAL PRODIGIES REVEALED

Youngsters Masters of Languages

Werther and Wolfgang Weidler

INFANT prodigies are not uncommon in musical and physical fields—but it was left to the talkies to discover the "infant prodigy, lingual."

Two of them appeared at the R.-K.-O. studios yesterday in answer to a "call" for small boys who could speak perfect German in a picture.

The boys are Werther and Wolfgang Weidler, 6 and 5 years of age, respectively, who not only speak, read and write German, but English, French and Italian as well. In addition they sing operas in all tongues and are expert at many folk dances.

The Weidler boys, who reside with their parents at 1433 North Normandie avenue, were born in Hamburg, Germany. They came to America four years ago.

Bone Gnawing Set Forth as Aid to Health

Gnaw a bone, if you would have health!

Our cave man ancestors, with their simple fare, had the right idea for keeping themselves in physical trim, according to Dr. Marie K. Griffith of San Antonio, Tex., at the National Progressive Chiropractic convention being held at the Los Angeles College of Chiropractic.

Dr. Griffith, woman chiropractic expert, is attached to the Bon Air Hospital of the Texas city.

"A good hearty plate of corned beef and cabbage, despite its lowly place in the social scale, is far more sustaining and much less injurious to the human system than the supposedly light meal of sandwiches and ice cream which many of us customarily eat for lunch," she asserted.

Convention officials were busy yesterday with final arrangements for their "perfect back contest" to be held today, followed by a public display of the contestants at Venice next Sunday. Cameramen from several news reel organizations will protograph the contestants. More than 300 girls are entered in the competition.

Copper Magnate Foresees Early Business Gains

Spencer Penrose, owner and operator of the Broadmoor Hotel, near Colorado Springs, Colo., and a director of a number of the country's leading copper companies, paid Los Angeles a flying visit yesterday on his way from Santa Barbara to Ensenada, Baja California, stopping at the Biltmore.

As far as the copper companies are concerned, he said, business is no worse than it was after the World War, and he looks for improvement shortly.

Penrose went to Ensenada with Jack Dempsey. He is a brother of the late Boise Penrose, Republican leader of Pennsylvania.

Youths Rescued from Sea After Upset of Boat

James Pearson and Alfred O'Shaughnessy, San Pedro youths, owe their lives to Arthur Jamieson, 2800 Pacific avenue. In trying to fight a leak in their small boat at Cabrillo Beach both were spilled out. Neither could swim, but both could yell, and did. Jamieson, fully clothed, ran to a navy landing, dived in and pulled both boys out.

Ballard Wilcox and John Smith, Long Beach boys, returned home early yesterday in their outboard motor boat, for which Coast Guard Patrol Boat 260 had searched hours after the boys were reported lost all day at sea. They had started for a distant fishing barge.

LOVE OF LOVE'S LOVE LOST AS LOVE LEAVES

The wife said Love tried to set her up in a shack in an alley in Bakersfield, with only a mattress on the floor for a bed. They married May 5, 1923, and separated September 1, 1923. Superior Judge Needham granted Mrs. Love a divorce from Love.

State Demands First-Degree Verdict on Widow

Mrs. Oesterreich Denies She Fired One of Shots

Deliberations Expected to be Started Today

The fate of Mrs. Walburga Oesterreich, charged with the murder of her husband, will probably be placed in the hands of the jury in Superior Judge Hardy's court late today.

Both sides rested their cases shortly after noon yesterday and Dep. Dist.-Atty. Russell finished the State's opening argument to the jury before court adjourned last evening.

While there is no limitation of the length of time that may be consumed in arguing a murder case, both defense and prosecution made a tentative agreement not to talk longer than three hours to a side.

CALLED COLD-BLOODED

This morning, Defense Counsel Giesler will make the opening plea in behalf of the accused woman. Giesler will be followed by Attorney Le Compte Davis, upon whom will fall the burden of making the final effort to save Mrs. Oesterreich from the gallows. Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello will close for the State.

Russell asked the jury to return a verdict of first-degree murder, which carries the death penalty. He painted Mrs. Oesterreich as a cold-blooded murderess, who either herself fired some of the shots that ended her husband's life eight years ago, or aided and abetted Otto Sanhuber, her "garret ghost" lover, in perpetrating the crime.

"If there is any sympathy to be felt in this case do not waste it on this woman," shouted Russell. "All of your sympathy should be with the dead man who wanted a home and a loving wife and who was shot down in his own home when he discovered the lover of his unfaithful wife in his own living-room."

WIDOW IN TEARS

As Russell talked, Mrs. Oesterreich sat at the counsel table near her lawyers and wept.

Before the arguments started Dep. Dist.-Atty. Costello finished his cross-examination of Mrs. Oesterreich, who took the witness stand in her own defense Tuesday afternoon. Despite the rapid-fire of the prosecutor's questions, however, the woman stuck to the story that she told upon direct examination—that Sanhuber killed Oesterreich and that she later shielded the killer because she did not believe that he (Sanhuber) had meant to do it and because she did not want the world to know that she had kept her lover for years in her attic.

DENIES FIRING SHOT

"Isn't it a fact, Mrs. Oesterreich, that when you saw Sanhuber struggling with your husband that you ran to a cabinet, procured a gun and yourself fired one of the shots at your husband?" demanded Costello.

"It certainly is not," denied the accused woman, her voice rising with vehemence.

To expedite the conclusion of the case, court will convene at 9:30 a.m. today.

He sped his little red Cessna monoplane to a new east-to-west record last Monday and hopes to better the return time of twenty-eight hours and eighteen minutes, set by the late Frank Goldsborough.

Mishap Abroad Kills Nobleman

Word was received in Los Angeles yesterday of the recent accidental death in Europe of Count Robert Clestin Carricart de Verneil, 26-year-old nobleman, who had numerous friends here. He was killed by a fall from his horse. His burial from Chateau De Verneil was marked by military honors.

He leaves three brothers, Count Antoine Carricart, de Verneil, Duke Andre Carricart de Verneil, now in Florida, and Count Robert Carricart de Verneil, former tenor with the New York and Chicago Opera companies.

X-Ray Traces Swallowed Pin

An X-ray picture each hour to trace the path of the open safety pin little 16-months-old Harold Kern swallowed last Monday is being taken at the General Hospital, where he is under the care of Dr. Emma Kittredge. The child is behaving normally and there is every indication the pin will eliminate itself naturally, she said.

Pictures taken last night show the pin has left the stomach. This indicates it will probably be removed without the need of a surgical operation

The baby swallowed the pin when his mother was not looking, at their home at 1262 Elysian Park avenue.

IDLE IN ENGLAND

It is declared that there are now more than 2,000,000 unemployed workers in England and Wales. This is the greatest number of idle known since 1921, when commerce and industry were all shot to pieces. The problems before the Labor Cabinet are very acute and the plans for the betterment of conditions are varied and numerous, but not particularly assuring. But the Britons are never downhearted.

JUDGMENT OF PARIS

French fashion designers are accusing American dressmakers of planting spies in their midst for the purpose of copying their latest creations before they get to the public. It is alleged that they found duplicates of some of their models in the rooms of a couple of American modistes, but the visitors gave proof that they had purchased the styles in the open market. This not saying that they had any particular use for them, either. The Parisians are not the whole works when it comes to dolling up the dames.

WORTH GOWNS

Over in Paris the Worths are trying to do things to the world's fashions. One of the garments recently offered by them was a dress containing fifteen yards of material. Just now two or three yards seems ample for the average gown. The Worth model has the big leg-o'-lamb sleeves that were the rage thirty years ago. The Paris fashion sharps will have a heck of a time bringing them back. The silk and woolen mills will lend every encouragement, but they will not be able to make it. A dame with those sleeves looked as broad as a motor bus.

FOOLISH TALK

Various European countries are seeking or undertaking methods of retaliation against the United States on account of recent tariff advances. But they do not go very far and in a few months this campaign will blow over. The right of a people to make their own tariffs cannot be denied. Democrats are talking in a visionary way about the disturbance our new schedules have made abroad, but most of it is just florid conversation for political ends. Even if they had the power the Democrats would not undertake any serious revision of the tariff. If they did it would be like signing their own death warrant. The people want no more jockeying or juggling over the customs schedules.

DROUGHT BOARD IS NAMED

Henry M. Robinson, Los Angeles banker, is called to another post of great importance in his appointment as a member of the National Drought Relief Committee. Mr. Robinson will have the duty of co-ordinating Federal, State and local credit agencies in the drought-stricken region and constitutes with Gov. Young of the Federal Reserve Board the only banking representation on the committee. Other members are Secretary of Agriculture Hyde, chairman; Chairman Bestor of the Federal Farm Loan Board; Chairman Legge of the Federal Farm Board; Chairman Payne of the American Red Cross; Chairman Ashton of the American Railway Association, and Ogden Mills, undersecretary of the Treasury.

The drought survey indicates that distress is acute in more than 300 counties, in which crop destruction had gone too far for recent rains to cure. While the rains will help pasturage to some extent, they came too late for corn in many places and shipping of either feed or live stock becomes a necessity. It will be Mr. Robinson's job to help mobilize funds to carry out this work and tide the growers over until they can get on their feet again.

The Red Cross will handle relief work where there is personal suffering and expects to have to devote its entire $5,000,000 emergency fund to the purpose. This relief will be needed throughout the winter.

President Hoover's statement announcing the appointments confirms the seriousness of the situation and particularly thanks the railways for their prompt action in reducing rates and in offering other co-operation.

FOR THE LEGISLATURE

For their self-protection, Los Angeles voters should give more than casual attention at next Tuesday's primary to the merits of the various candidates seeking election to the State Legislature, there being one State Senator and twenty-two Assemblymen to be named from this city and county under the terms of the new constitutional provision governing legislative representation.

The Legislature of the State is the revenue-providing body of government, fixing rates, tax schedules and other means for supplying State agencies with the finances for carrying on their activities. Likewise, the Legislature makes such appropriations of public money as are required from year to year to conduct governmental business.

The laws of the State, great and small, must pass through the legislative mill before reaching the statute books—there to affect for good or ill the daily lives of every man, woman and child residing within the confines of the commonwealth.

On the theory of popular government, the Assembly is the body expected to give the readiest expression of popular will to government practice, and, hence, is, or should be, most responsive to public requirements. The practical results of the theory of popular government are determined entirely by the degree of intelligent discrimination exercised by the voters at the polls.

In the primary election on the 26th inst., the actual selection of those who are to occupy legislative seats will be within the Republican lists, as the preponderance of Republican party strength in this county virtually precludes opportunity for election of a Democrat or other party nominee. Thus the primary election, although designed to serve the purpose merely of a preliminary elimination of partisan contenders, determines the final result and makes the November election nothing more, in this instance, than a ratification ceremony.

Republican voters of the city and county, therefore, are urged to scrutinize carefully the records and weigh the qualities of the various legislative candidates. The Times has independently investigated the relative merits of the candidates in the different districts and submits herewith the best judgment of this newspaper as to the individuals deserving public confidence and support.

For election to the State Senate from Los Angeles county The Times recommends State Senator J. W. McKinley.

For election to the twenty-two Assembly seats from this county, The Times recommends:

Sarah E. Kellogg, Fifty-first District; William E. Prather, Fifty-second; M. H. LeVan, Fifty-third; William G. Bonelli, Fifty-fourth; Milton M. Golden, Fifty-fifth; Walter J. Little, incumbent, Fifty-sixth; W. H. Lollier, Fifty-seventh; Lawrence Cobb, Fifty-eighth; Willard E. Badham, incumbent, Fifty-ninth; Willis M. Baum, incumbent, Sixtieth; Clarence M. Wakefield, Sixty-first; Frederick M. Roberts, incumbent, Sixty-second; James V. Brewer, Sixty-third; Harry Lyons, incumbent, Sixty-fourth; Sam M. Greene, Sixty-fifth; James E. Stockwell, incumbent, Sixty-sixth; Charles E. Whiteside, Sixty-seventh; George H. Wilber, Sixty-eighth; Harry F. Sewell, incumbent, Sixty-ninth; James K. Reid, Seventieth; Harry B. Riley, Seventy-first, and Ben A. Hill, Seventy-second District.

The election of this group of candidates, in the opinion of The Times, will assure Los Angeles city and county able and honest legislative representation in our State government.

THE GRAPE PROBLEM

With an estimated surplus of 770,000 tons (not pounds) of grapes in sight for 1930, it is plain that the grape stabilization program will not be able to accomplish all that was hoped for it, at least not this year. It is a disappointing result for growers, who can, however, console themselves with the thought that it would have been worse if there had been no stabilization program.

Beyond the control of the Federal Farm Board or of the Grape Control Board are world-wide depression and dumping, which have pretty well destroyed the foreign market for grapes and raisins; domestic depression and the eastern drought which have crippled buying power over a large area. The control board believes that there is a market for 160,000 tons of raisins and 780,000 tons of fresh grapes, while the total production will be 2,100,000 tons and there is a raisin carry-over from last year of 40,000 tons. The expected surplus, at the time the control plan was adopted, was 300,000 tons.

There is nothing for the grape men in such a situation to do but to grin and bear it and to hope for better luck next year. The principal men of the industry see and accept the facts; they realize that neither the Federal Farm Board nor the Grape Control Board can possibly mend matters any more than they are being mended. They can prevent utter chaos and this they will do, starting the industry off on a firm foundation on which a useful superstructure can be erected when general business improves.

The grape program will require some $20,000,000 of capital, of which $16,000,000 will be furnished by the Farm Board and the remainder by commercial bankers. The Farm Board has other farmers to look out for and cannot possibly spare the grape men enough money to hold the surplus off the market. There will be some salvage of this surplus through Fruit Industries, Inc., which will convert grapes of all varieties into by-products, but here again the market is limited by the necessarily curtailed demand.

In the course of time, Fruit Industries undoubtedly will be able to build up its by-product market to a useful point, and normal surpluses will be taken care of. But no set of devices can take care of such a surplus as this year will produce, more than twice, nearly three times, the normal amount. The conditions which bring it about are not only beyond control, but could not have been foreseen.

THE LEE SIDE O' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

AT LAST we are able to clear up the mystery. This is the true story of the Banana Grove.

No doubt you often have noticed the banana grove, when out for a Sunday drive. Banana trees still are rare enough here to attract attention. When even two or three good specimens grace one yard the passer is likely to point and exclaim: "Oh, look!" So that place which is a real tropical jungle, a grove of banana trees which surrounds the house like a series of solid hedges, has impressed everyone who has passed it. Nowhere else in Southern California are there so many banana trees in one place.

And the odd thing is that the couple who built that house took an oath, years ago, that there never should be a banana tree near it!

Best Laid Plans

"No, sirree!" said Mrs. Forthright, as she and Forthright walked appraisingly about their new home for the forty-second time that day, "we'll have no banana trees on this lot. Beside a Spanish house banana trees look all right. But this is a colonial house. They'd be utterly out of place here. It's taken us twenty years to get a home of our own, John, and we're going to have it just precisely the way we want it, without a blessed blade of grass which isn't just the kind we want."

"Excepting, perhaps, a little devil grass," murmured Forthright.

"I beg pardon," said Mrs. Forthright, warningly.

"I said, you're quite right, dear," said Forthright. "It's our house and we shall plant what we do want and shall not plant what we do not want, no matter if all the landscape architects in the country try to make us."

They were so intent that they did not see a car stop before their door. Mrs. Forthright's mother alighted from it. She was carrying a bundle, and beaming from ear to ear.

SURPRISE FOR YOU!

"Children!" she called, excitedly, "I've brought a lovely surprise for you. I want to be the very first to give you something to beautify your new home. I've brought you three darling little banana trees."

'Tis Thus the Native Hue of Resolution—

"Vera says—" began Forthright. But Mrs. Forthright gave him a warning look and took the conversation from him. She knew her mother was a very sensitive soul who would not understand.

"Yes," she said, "I was just saying we really should have a banana tree. It was darling of you to think of us, mother."

"I think one will look charming in this corner," said mother, briskly. "And one right over here. And the other one over there. Too bad we haven't four. But maybe I can get another one. Get your spade, John, and let's set them out right now."

John set them out, in plenty of water—and with plenty of instructions as he did it. But after mother had gone he tore them up by the roots and threw them into the incinerator.

But mother, ignorant of that, drove around for a cup of tea with her old friend, Mrs. Gardner Moore—the wife of Forthright's boss. She told of the present she had just made. "And it was just precisely what they wanted most," she added. "They're enthusiastic about banana trees. Too bad I had only three."

"How fortunate that you told me," said Mrs. Moore. "We have dozens of shoots that we don't know what to do with. I'll have our gardener get them together and take them over and plant them."

Clever Plan to Explain All

It had been at Vera Forthright's command that Forthright had torn up the just-planted banana trees, but when her mother telephoned her that evening that the Moores were planning another surprise for them, and that she was coming next day to see how delighted they were with it, qualms began to act like shooting pains.

"We've got to have some really good excuse, or mother will be terribly hurt," she said.

Forthright looked at his watch. In just an hour the neighborhood paper would go to press. He reached for his hat. "I'll fix it," he said.

That evening, as Mrs. Forthright's mother was perusing the personal-mention column in the Neighborhood Squeak, a column in which she hasn't missed an item in twenty years, she suddenly came on this paragraph:

"A peculiar act of vandalism is mystifying Mr. and Mrs. John Forthright. This morning they were delighted by a gift of three banana trees from Mrs. Forthright's mother and set them out at once. Some time afterward, probably while they were at luncheon, some fiend in human form tore those helpless, innocent young shoots out of the ground and threw them into the incinerator, where they were scorched beyond recovery. The Forthrights are heartbroken."

"The poor dears," she murmured. "I'll be around there tomorrow and give them another happy surprise—a whole dozen banana trees, twice as big as those they lost."

Neighbors to the Rescue

Everyone in that suburb reads the Squeak, and it is one of the most neighborly suburbs in California. The next day there was a procession of friends bearing banana shoots to the new Forthright home, and half a dozen kind neighbors sent over their gardeners to see that the shoots were planted correctly. Gardner Moore, John's boss, was there with his gardener to oversee everything. And Gardner Moore is a big business man who believes in mass production.

So there was no room left for the things the Forthrights wanted to plant. Every available inch of ground was taken for banana trees. And the Forthrights had to act as if banana trees were what they wanted most in this world. And, lo! Now that years have passed, their meek acceptance of their fate has made them famous. They are the owners of the most notable banana grove in California, one thousand of motorists drive miles to see every Sunday. Besides that, they sell several thousand banana shoots each year and have become recognized as outstanding authorities on banana-raising in California.

WHERE IS THE GROVE?
WHERE ISN'T IT?

But no man can say just what he is or isn't going to raise in his garden. That's largely dictated by his relatives and friends.

THE LAMENT OF A FAN
By James J. Montague

Now that all-night baseball has been made possible

It was hard to keep up with the national game
When the ball yard you daily would seek,
To watch the great ath-a-letes playing the same
For two or three sessions a week.
Then two leagues were born where but one was before,
And this boss and his eager young clerk
In order to keep daily tabs on the score
Had to cut out their afternoon's work.
And make up at night for the times that they lost
While liners were clouted and twisters were tossed.

But now, although nightfall descends on the park,
The pastime may yet be pursued,
For clusters of flood lights abolish the dark,
And profits can still be accrued.
And soon the big leagues will play right 'round the clock,
Irrespective of night or of day,
While the heroes run bases and wallop and sock,
And the magnates tuck money away.
What time you and I lay our business aside
And gladly exhibit our national pride.

I am wondering how, on my beggarly wage
I can always be there, day and night,
To see the great Titans of baseball engage
In a constant continuous fight.
The market at present affords little chance
To bring in an extra few "grand"
And I have no available way to finance
The hours I spend in the stand.
Some racket I'll have to devise after this
For none of those games am I going to miss.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

"CONSTITUTIONAL RIGHTS"
[Riverside Enterprise]

Voters who do not appreciate that they have been deprived of their constitutional rights in adequate representation at Sacramento for twenty years, should secure the Wednesday Times and read the front-page political editorial.

While this statement goes into detail about Northern California's strangle hold upon California politics, through a ruthless political machine that has balked the southern counties at every turn to secure their rightful State support, it does not tell the whole story. There are numerous other maps that might be shown contrasting the north with the south in the matter of patronage, political appointments and governmental favors.

Under California's constitution, it was mandatory upon the State Legislature to reapportion legislative districts in the State on the basis of population after each census. It was not done, however, and up to this time we have been required to submit to a position in Southern California which allots us a representation at Sacramento on the basis of the census of twenty years ago, although this part of the State has increased many fold since that time.

To a Legislature controlled by northern politicians, the constitution was looked upon as a mere scrap of paper. Nothing was done about it until the people had the opportunity to vote on the matter and then they had to accept a proposition framed in such a manner as to continue the control of the Senate in the north permanently with an even chance for it to continue to control the Assembly until the new distribution of districts is put into effect and quite likely after that date.

CHINA IN THE DEPTHS
I.—THE EVIL

BY FRED HOGUE

Nine years have elapsed since the leading world powers were invited to send delegates to a conference in Washington for the double purpose of reducing world armaments and giving aid to the stabilization and reconstruction of China.

China was formally recognized as a world power. Tariff autonomy was granted. Great Britain, Japan, France and the United States mutually agreed to protect Chinese territory from foreign occupation, exploitation or interference.

Opportunity, freed from foreign interference, was given to the Chinese to realize their aspirations for national independence and a complete restoration of sovereignty.

The western powers agreed to stand by—and in this category Japan was included—while China should establish a stabilized, unified government; should put an end to armed insurrection and banditry within; should promulgate and put into effect a code of civil and criminal law conforming to the world-accepted principles of justice and orderly government. In return for the recognition of the rights and privileges of national sovereignty, the Chinese pledged themselves to accept and discharge the obligation and responsibility of national sovereignty.

Chinese leaders pledged themselves to place national above personal interests; to work in unity for reforms in education, transportation, protection of life and property and sanitation, which are absolutely essential to the acceptation of China on a basis of equality in the comity of nations.

During the nine years that have intervened each of these foreign powers has fulfilled every pledge made at that conference. The voluntary return by Japan of Shantung to China, a province with a population of more than 30,000,000, that Japan held under a lease transferred from Germany, a lease expressly recognized and guaranteed in the Versailles Treaty—this was the most notable of the free concessions made by the powers in order to enable the Chinese to put their own household in order, without foreign interference. But both Great Britain and France returned voluntarily concessions which they held in Chinese territory.

Never had international co-operation, in the interest of a single power, been carried so far. Never were so many voluntary concessions, without any material consideration, made to any country or people.

And the people of all the countries concerned applauded the philanthropic action of their representatives — for philanthropy it was, philanthropy of governments, which had not hitherto been regarded as philanthropic institutions.

What return has China made in the way of unification, stabilization, in improved transportation facilities, in the safeguarding of life and property, in elevation of the standard of living of her own people since she has been freed from outside, from "imperialistic" interference?

Alas! One has but to read the cables from the Near West and listen to the personal experiences of those living in the interior of China who escaped from the terror.

Instead of a unified government, there are now four capitals in the territory recognized by the agreement of the powers as China. Civil war is raging in the northern part of the republic. The whole of the country, from the Yangste Valley to the borders of Indo-China, is bleeding from the wounds inflicted by murderous bands under the name of Communism. Manchuria, under Japanese protection, functions as an independent state.

Churches, schools, hospitals, industries are in ashes. The looting resembles that of the Tartar hordes in Eastern Europe under Genghis and Kublai Khan. Foreign clergymen, teachers, physicians and nurses are fleeing for their lives. Gunboats of five nations have been rushed to the Yangste River and its tributaries to bring the foreign refugees to a place of refuge in Shanghai, outside the dominion and jurisdiction of the Chinese.

One faction, that headed by Feng, the one-time "Christian general," and Yen of Shansi—the "model governor"—hold all the territory north of the Yellow River in Eastern China, including the old capital, Peking, and are driving south in a campaign to capture Nanking and overthrow the Nationalist government.

Another faction, that headed by Chiang Kai-shek and recognized by the foreign governments as the official Chinese government—this faction is fighting to drive the rebel forces back north of the Yellow River, to suppress the so-called Feng-Yen revolt.

A third faction occupies the three northern provinces outside the great wall—Manchuria and inner Mongolia. Its headquarters are in Mukden, the old walled capital of the Manchus. Chang Hsueh-liang, the Manchurian dictator and war lord, has not plunged into the blood bath south of the great wall. But his ammunition factory in Mukden, the largest and best equipped in China, is constantly turning out war material, and the enlistment and training of troops go steadily forward.

From this distance, it looks as though the young marshal is biding his time to strike. He led one of his father's armies south of the great wall in 1926, when old Marshal Chang Tso-lin captured Peking and established his government there. Neutral observers are of the opinion that he is preparing for an attempt to regain what his father lost.

At no time since the fall of the Manchu dynasty in 1912 has China been farther from unification. At no time has there been more killing of Chinese by Chinese, has there been more poverty, has the suffering of the Chinese people been so great.

Our traditional policy of the "open door" in China has been overthrown; for the door has been closed and barred by the Chinese themselves. Transportation by railway, even for Chinese products, has ceased to exist. When the trains are able to operate they are under the control of the war lords and are used for military purposes.

The struggle between the Nationalists and the northern alliance may be regarded as de facto civil war. There has been no report of wanton burning, looting and pillage from the northern front.

The mercenary forces fighting under the banner of Communism are divided by sectional interests, but united by crime. They make no pretense of holding the cities they occupy. They loot, burn, kill and hold victims for ransom. Recent cables from Yangste River ports told of the sending in of fingers cut from the hands of foreign women held for ransom as an example of the fate awaiting them if ransoms were not promptly paid.

Wherever the Communists have appeared the antiforeign fanaticism has been more inflam...: than during the Boxer rebellion.

The foreign legations at Peking—to which its old name has been restored while the northern alliance is in possession—these legations occupy an anomalous and critical position. The members of the legations are all allocated to the Nationalist government. But the seat of the Nationalist government is in Nanking, about 1000 miles south. Peking is in the control of the northern alliance, which is making war on the government which the foreign powers recognize.

Feng and Yen, however, are old campaigners. They are not adding to the number of their enemies by interfering with the foreign legations. In fact, foreigners are safer in Peking than in any other part of China at the present time, not even excepting Shanghai.

Where are the pledges made by the Chinese delegates at the Washington conference? "Where are the snows of yesteryear?"

Those delegates asserted passionately that there could be no unification and restoration in China until interference from foreign governments ceased. For nine years there has been no outside interference; but conditions in the interior of China are vastly worse than when the conference was called.

When the foreign powers agreed to recognize the Nationalist government three years ago Feng, Yen and Chiang gave mutual pledges to disband their armies and go for a term of years into voluntary exile in foreign countries. This pledge was given to show that they put national interest above personal interest and were taking part in military and political affairs solely in the interest of the public welfare.

Far from disbanding their armies and departing, they are now fighting desperately for military supremacy.

In nine years much has been destroyed and little restored. And perhaps the greatest destruction has been that of the confidence of the governments and peoples who sincerely believed they were aiding the suffering millions of China when they agreed to stand by, to prevent the interference of aggressive forces from the outside, while the Chinese righted their internal affairs in their own fashion.

Time has proven that the ideals of the peoples when the Washington conference was held were ideals to which the Chinese people could not, or would not, conform; that the problems of China, which have never been solved except by force, could not be resolved by altruistic solutions.

The western powers should have learned that from their intercourse with Japan; but they did not. They listened to those who were "thinking wishes," who preferred a consoling, altruistic illusion to looking squarely into the tragic face of truth.

One of the weaknesses of our modern occidental civilization is that, in our altruism, we demand of truth that it shall be consoling and refuse to learn from experience that truth is more likely to be tragic.

Japan now stands third in the rank of world powers. In the Near West Japan has builded an empire that is one of the wonders of the modern industrial and political world. Wherever the Japanese flag floats, that red sun in a field of white, is peace and security for life and property. There were fewer crimes of violence per capita in Japan last year than in any political subdivision of Europe or the two Americas.

While the other nations have benefited immensely, especially we of the Pacific Coast, from our trade relations with the awakened Japan, the Japanese themselves have benefited more. Japan sold to the United States last year more products than any country of Europe. Japan's growth in economic power, in wealth and in influence verges on the phenomenal.

Diver Sucked up Pipe

While clearing a culvert underneath the Portsmouth (Eng.) dock yard, Harry Rodgers, a diver, was sucked half-way up an air suction pipe, and was held prisoner for six hours. His air pipes and lifeline were not cut, so it was posible to continue to supply him with oxygen. Welders eventually cut the suction pipe and brought that section containing the man to the land, where Rodgers was released.

AID SOCIETY FINDS RELATIVES OF BOY

Eddie Carson

Eddie Carson, 7 years of age, of Denver knows what it feels like to look for a needle in a haystack. Eddie, however, found what he was looking for.

When Eddie boarded a Union Pacific train in Denver, his grandmother handed him a paper tag bearing the inscription, "Aunt Carrie—Los Angeles."

"You'll have no trouble finding Aunt Carrie," Grandma said.

Eddie's confidence never weakened, but the train conductor was more skeptical. He wired an S.O.S. to the Travelers' Aid Society here.

When Eddie arrived here it was to find not only Aunt Carrie, but also a father whom he had not seen for three years waiting to greet him.

Harbor Board Opens Bids on Dredging Job

Bids on dredging work in the West Basin at the harbor, which were turned down by the United States Board of Engineers in its recommendation for other harbor dredging and the breakwater extention for which Congress has appropriated more than $8,000,000, were opened yesterday by the harbor board, which has decided to have the department do the minor job.

The project contemplates removal of approximately 121,000 cubic yards of soil to deepen to thirty-five feet the channel in front of the basin's east shore, where new terminals are to be constructed, and to make a channel sufficiently wide to accommodate vessels which will use the new wharves.

The Merritt, Chapman & Scott corporation bid $45,665.20 in the channel widening and deepening project, while the Standard Dredging Company bid $33,780 on the shore side portion of the deepening.

Youth Shot in Escape Attempt Held for Trial

Jack Yelvington, 19 years of age, shot by Police Officer Nolan on July 22, last, when he made an attempt to escape from custody at First street and Broadway, held up a shoe shop at 214 West Fifth street the day before and then walked around the corner and into a motion-picture theater, witnesses testified yesterday in Municipal Judge Russill's court.

Judge Russill ordered Yelvington held to Superior Court trial on four counts of robbery, three of which, according to Nolan, he admitted. His bail was set at $10,000.

Mrs. Austin also asserted she saw them go together to more than one downtown hotel.

"Once, in a parked car, they indulged in long kisses," said the wife. She started to measure their length.

"I know what long, lingering kisses are, but their length makes no difference," interrupted Judge Lambert.

Again Mrs. Austin testified to eavesdropping at the South Pasadena house, and, hearing her husband tell Miss Hoskins to tuck in the bed covers carefully, as it was important the covers reached over his feet.

"That's right. They should," commented the judge.

Austin's cross-complaint asserts Mrs. Austin distressed him by her unkind treatment of his children, Norwin, 25 years of age, and Esther, 23, and by instituting a suit against Miss Hoskins, asking $100,000 for asserted alienation of affections. Miss Hoskins is a schoolteacher at Placentia. She was in court yesterday waiting to testify.

HARBOR TUNNEL PLEA RENEWED

Kosin Declares Ferry System Not Satisfactory

Commission to Study Plan and Report to Mayor

Cost of "T" Shaped Project Caused Objections

Holding that the proposal by the city to build a ferry connecting San Pedro and East San Pedro at an initial cost of $750,000 would be a waste of the taxpayers' money, Edward Kosin of 351 West Eleventh street, San Pedro, defeated candidate for the City Council from the Fifteenth District last year, renewed his plea to the Board of Harbor Commissioners yesterday for a T-shaped tunnel as the only permanent solution to the traffic problem at the Harbor.

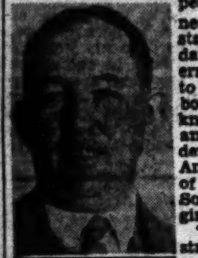
The communication, copies of which have been sent to the Mayor, the Council, Board of Public Works, County Supervisors, traffic and civic organizations, and candidates for office, was referred to the Mayor's ferry committee, of which L. C. Mott of San Pedro, is chairman, for investigation and report direct to the Mayor.

Kosin's plan, first brought up a year ago at the public hearing on a municipal ferry system at San Pedro, calls for connecting the coast highway in San Pedro with Ocean avenue in Long Beach by a tunnel between San Pedro and Terminal Island and between Terminal Island and Long Beach beneath the latter's entrance channel, and a tunnel between San Pedro and Wilmington, beneath the entrance to the West Basin.

Harbor engineers hitherto have discountenanced tunnel plans because of excessive cost, but Kosin holds that in the long run such facilities would be cheaper because of permanancy, efficiency and saving of time for traffic of all kinds, in addition to public convenience and necessity. He also points out such tunnels would provide the necessary connecting link for the coast highway.

FITTS GIVEN SUPPORT BY ENGINEER

Osborne Says Southland Candidate Appeals from Efficiency Standpoint



HENRY Z. OSBORNE

Because of his pledge to conduct an efficient, energetic, square-dealing administration, Buron Fitts appeals to engineers as the outstanding candidate for Governor, according to Henry Z. Osborne, well-known engineer and past-president of the Los Angeles chapter of the American Society of Engineers.

"Engineers strive to make one efficient dollar do the work of two ordinary ones," Mr. Osborne said. "A capable executive like Buron Fitts, pledged to an economical administration, can and will save the taxpayers hundreds of thousands of dollars annually by eliminating unnecessary commissions and wasteful extravagance incidental to such form of administration as we have at Sacramento today.

"The great mass of voters who work for their living and who foot the bill will do all in their power to elect Buron Fitts Governor of California to correct existing evils."

Largest Auto Tire en Route to Los Angeles

The largest tire in the world, according to local Goodyear executives, will arrive in the city tomorrow. An official welcome to the tire and entourage will be extended by Mayor Porter at the City Hall at 2 p.m.

The tire measures twelve feet in height and four feet in width, and weighs 3900 pounds. It was built by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company at Akron, O. Three months' time was required to construct the rubber giant, which is, except for size, an exact replica of a standard Goodyear all-weather tread tire. Forty-five minutes are necessary to inflate it.

The giant casing is attached to a specially constructed bus by two shafts extending from the chassis, and is being brought to Los Angeles from Akron via Denver, El Paso, Phoenix and Needles.

Jury Selection in Slaying Lags

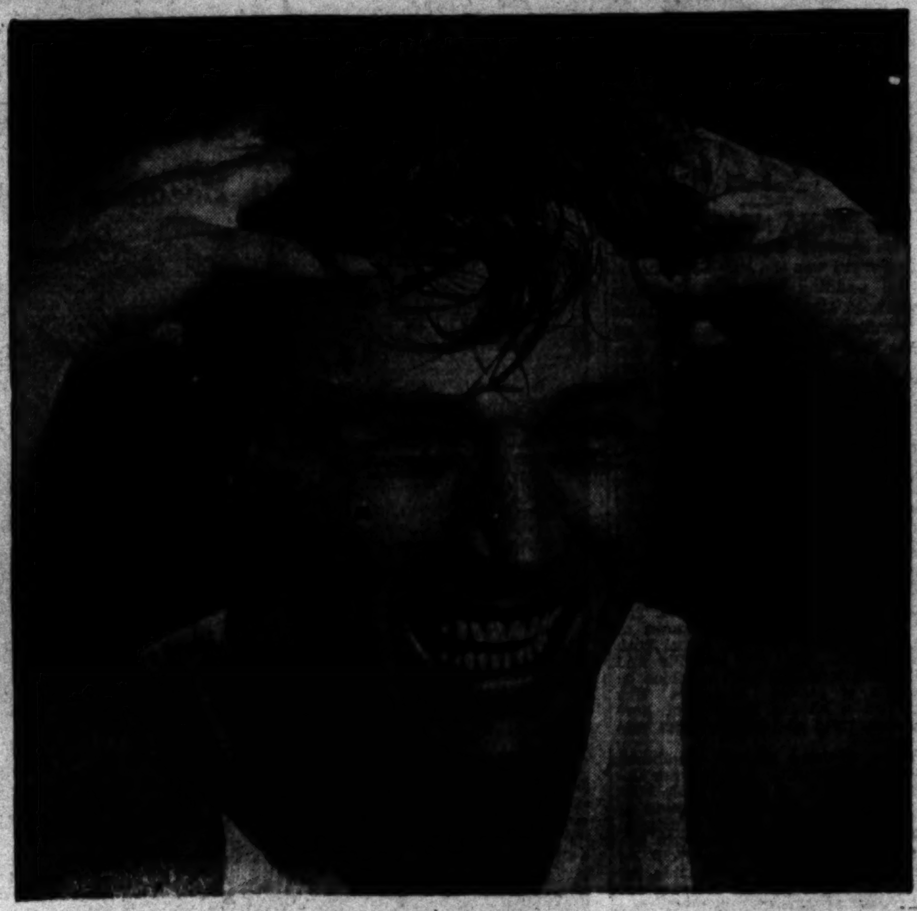
Opposition to the death penalty voiced by prospective jurors yesterday delayed the trial of Juan Reyna, charged with shooting to death Verne A. Brindley, Los Angeles police officer, and assault with intent to murder L. E. Williams, Brindley's partner.

Questioning of jurors will be continued today by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Blalock and C. V. Rude and J. O. Hughes, defense attorneys.

It is charged that Reyna, when arrested following a collision between his car and a police automobile, seized Brindley's revolver and shot him to death and wounded Williams.

RELATIVES SOUGHT HERE

In a letter received yesterday, Mrs. Sylvia Donaldson, 1441 West One Hundred and Second street, requests The Times to aid in locating her father, Corby A. Phelps, and two aunts, Mrs. Lillian Eddy and Mrs. Hazel Childers. She says she has not heard from them for twenty years but believes they are in the city.



LOOSE

what it is . . how to remove it

quick relief for infected, burning and itching scalp

Great dermatologists declare that a normal, healthy scalp is extremely rare. Some go as far as to say that there is no scalp that is not troubled in some way, to some degree.

The most common—and humiliating—condition is loose dandruff.

Infection makes fat glands overactive

Dandruff is caused by overactivity of the fat glands of the scalp—which expel a greasy whitish substance known as sebum.

This overactivity is the result of infection, many dermatologists claim. They advise immediate treatment. Whatever the cause, this activity should be checked lest the condition continue and cause eczema, falling hair, and baldness.

Why Listerine checks dandruff

Frequent shampoo, vigorous massage, and the use of an antiseptic constitute effective treatment for ordinary cases of loose dandruff.

The success of Listerine in combating this condition is due to certain unusual qualities.

Since it is a safe though powerful germicide* Listerine combats any irritation that may be present on the scalp.

It dissolves and removes incrustations of sebum from the hair and scalp, assuring antiseptic cleanliness. It produces on the scalp an astringent effect, exhilarates and invigorates the tissue around the hair roots.

It allays itching, and soothes inflammation and eruption frequently associated with dandruff.

Results achieved quickly

You simply use Listerine as a part of the shampoo, or independent of it. Douse it on the scalp full strength and massage vigorously.

Keep the treatment up, using a little olive oil if the scalp is excessively dry.

You will be delighted to see how quickly you get results. Frequently loose dandruff disappears after one or two treatments. Sometimes however, if the case is stubborn, a week or two and perhaps more will be required. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo.

Germicidal Power—with safety

*Though safe to use in any body cavity, full strength Listerine kills even the resistant Staphylococcus Aureus (pus) and Bacillus Typhosus (typhoid) germs in counts ranging to 200,000,000 in 15 seconds. (Fastest time science has accurately recorded.)

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

St. James's Church in Wilshire Boulevard was the scene of a beautiful wedding yesterday afternoon when at 4:30 o'clock Miss Lorraine Hamilton, attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roth Hamilton, became the bride of Paul Swain Havens. Rev. Ray O. Miller officiated and Mr. Hamilton gave his daughter in marriage.

A color motif of sunset shades from the palest shell to the deep flame tones was attractively carried out in the decorations of the church, gladioli and dahlias being used in profusion against a background of ferns, palms and potted plants. The altar was lighted by tall cathedral candelabra, while down the aisles were tall candles with clusters of flowers tied with broad tulle in the same tones. The bride was charming in a gown of eggshell satin, princess model with lace train. Her veil of tulle and Brussels lace was held in place by sprays of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of gardenias, roses and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Richard Edward Hambrook (Mignon Hamilton) assisted her sister as matron of honor while Miss Virginia Glendenning was maid of honor and Misses Theda Dickinson of Santa Cruz, Miss Harriette Segall and Miss Dorothy Wolff of Tempe, Ariz., were bridesmaids. All wore frocks of chiffon, carrying out the color scheme of the flower decorations, with hats of tulle to match. Their bouquets were of Talisman roses and blue delphinium with showers of narrow pale blue satin ribbons knotted and falling to the floor. Miss Dickinson was in palest pink and Miss Glendenning in the flame tones.

Gerald Bruce Hamilton served as best man while Richard Edward Hambrook, Joseph Bitterlin, Joseph O'Connor and H. N. Lewis of New York ushered. Mrs. Mona Mayes Hastings sang and Sibley G. Pease presided at the organ. Six hundred and fifty invitations were issued to the church ceremony. A reception and wedding supper for the bridal party, relatives and a few close friends followed at the home of the bride's parents in Ardmore avenue.

The same color scheme was carried out in the decorations of the house as at the church, the dining-room where the bride's table was laid, however, being in white and green, with a profusion of gardenias and lilies of the valley.

Mrs. Hamilton received her guests in a gown of orchid chiffon embroidered in pearls, with hat of tulle to harmonize.

Mr. and Mrs. Havens are motoring north on their honeymoon and after September 15 will be at home in Claremont, where the bridegroom is to have the chair of English at Scripps College next year.

Owing to illness in the family, Prof. and Mrs. H. A. Havens, parents of the bridegroom, who make their home in Lawrence, N. J., were not able to come west for the wedding.

Mrs. Havens was graduated from Mills College in June, while Mr. Havens is a Princeton University man.

Mistake in Date

Owing to a mistake, the Los Angeles Plant, Fruit and Flower Guild golf-tea was noted in yesterday morning's paper as taking place yesterday afternoon instead of next Wednesday, the 27th inst. The affair will be given at the Mary Louise Golf Course in South Flower street between Tenth and Eleventh streets. The Mary Louise is co-operating with the guild, whose object is to distribute fresh roses and flowers to the hospitals, orphanages of the city and county as well as shut-ins and aged.

An interesting feature of the afternoon will be the drawing of the Shetland pony Rusty, owned by the guild.

Roy Wilcox is guild chairman, while W. M. Williamson is vice-chairman.

Wedding Announced

Miss Ellen Rhone of 718 North Monterey street, Alhambra, announces the marriage of her niece, Miss Caroline Anne Rhone, to Theodore Hewitson, son of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Hewitson of Los Angeles. The marriage was solemnized the 16th inst. in the garden of the bride's home in Alhambra with Rev. C. E. Boyer officiating. The bride was given in marriage by her brother, John Frederick Rhone. Her gown was of pale blue chiffon and she carried white roses. Her slippers were those worn by her mother at her own marriage. Miss Helen Caldwell of Smyrna, Turkey, was her only attendant and Edward Rhone, the bride's brother, served as best man.

Mr. and Mrs. Hewitson are on a honeymoon tour of California. Upon their return they will go to Tucson, where both will attend the University of Arizona during the coming year.

The bride is the daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rhone, and granddaughter of Mrs. W. S. Bosbyshell. Her grandfather was one of the pioneers of California and Los Angeles. Mr. Hewitson's parents formerly lived in Ambleside, Eng.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Hewitson were graduated from Los Angeles High School and of the University of California at Los Angeles. Mr. Hewitson is a member of Phi Beta Kappa.

At Del Monte

"Fifty Years After," gala night show to be presented here Saturday, as the feature event at Hotel Del Monte's golden jubilee celebration, has attracted to its cast many of the San Francisco and Monterey Peninsula set.

Under the direction of George Ball, veteran Carmel actor-director, the hilarious musical farce has already reached last rehearsals. Willette Allen, well-known dancer, is training the choruses in the steps that made famous the "Floradora Girl" and the equally noted "Bathing Revue of 1880."

Included in the cast are Ruth Thurman and Betty Ankersmit of Carmel, Carroll Sandholdt of Monterey, and Carl Bachelder, Jr., of San Francisco and Pebble Beach; and the Misses Jane Foster, Mary Green and Constance Heron of Carmel, Betty Hughes of Monterey Presidio, Jean Wingfield of Reno and San Francisco, Virginia Law of San Francisco and Pebble Beach, Eleanor Hornby of Redlands and Pebble Beach, and Barbara Lumberg, Ada Whiffen and Barbara Wellington.

William Larue of Piedmont will take a leading role as comedian-in-chief. Others are taken by Carl Bachelder, Jr., of San Francisco, Robert Cooke Smith of Carmel, Carroll Sandholdt of Monterey, Winsor and Talbert Josselyn of Carmel, Frank Sheridan of Carmel, Gordon Nelson of Carmel, Ted Reed and Ashton Stanley of Del Monte, and Galt Bell of Carmel.

A specialty number is planned for Miss Marion Minges of Carmel and Hal Girvin.

Miss Martha Wiggett Becomes Bride

[Ray Huff studios]

Mrs. Alton Graves Layne

A PRETTY ceremony of recent date was that of Saturday afternoon, when at 4 o'clock Miss Martha Wiggett, daughter of Mrs. Charles Henry Wiggett, became the bride of Alton Graves Layne. The ceremony, taking place in St. James Church, united two prominent alumni of University of Southern California. Rev. Ray O. Miller officiated. The attractive bride, who is a member of Delta Delta Delta Sorority, was given in marriage by her cousin, Gordon Wiggett of Ventura, and Miss Jean Lang, a sorority sister, was her only attendant. Brown Wiggett served as best man. A reception in the Rose Room of the Mary Louise followed the ceremony, after which Mr. and Mrs. Layne left on their honeymoon at Carmel.

An office holder in many campus organizations, the bride had the distinction of being president of the Trojan Amazons, upper class tradition enforcing body, and judge of the Amazon Court. She was also president of Delta Delta Delta and student legislative council. Mr. student legislative Council. Mr. Layne, son of Dr. and Mrs. R. E. Layne of 1816 West Seventy-third street, is affiliated with Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity at Southern California.

"C" Car Line Route Decision Expected Soon

A decision probably will be reached September 5 on the proposal by the Central Business District Association and many other civic organizations to reroute the Los Angeles Railway's "C" line cars through the Third street tunnel to eliminate congestion at Fifth and Hill streets, straighten out the service and lay the foundation for a new cross-town line, it was indicated by the Board of Public Utilities and Transportation at a special meeting yesterday.

The board will give the Central Business District Association fifteen minutes for a final summing up of arguments in behalf of the plan and the same amount of time to the Home Defense League, which is opposing it.

IMPY LEARNS FROM TIMMY

> Always be prepared to learn;

> —Old Mother Nature.

Two odd little cousins sat on the old stone wall in the midst of the Black Shadows. They were Impy the Black Chipmunk and Timmy the Flying Squirrel. Impy should have been at home in bed. Yes, sir, that is where he should have been. But he liked to be out in the early evening and it was all on account of that black coat of his. It gave him a feeling of safety which he would not have had in the usual striped coat of the Chipmunk family. Until Timmy had suddenly landed beside him, Impy hadn't known that he had such a cousin.

"I've seen my cousin Happy Jack the Gray Squirrel and my other cousin Chatterer the Red Squirrel. I have seen them many times. Why have I never seen you before?" said Impy.

Timmy chuckled. He seemed to be full of chuckles. I've seen you before," said he.

"I'd like to know when," cried Impy.

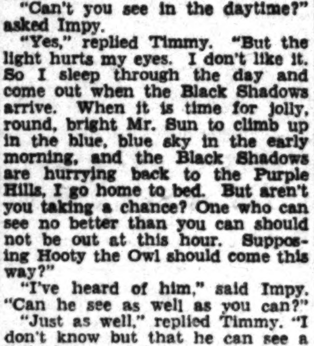
"Several times," replied Impy. "I've watched you when you didn't have the least idea I was anywhere near. That's what comes from having the right kind of eyes for seeing at night."

Impy leaned forward and looked closely at Timmy's eyes. They are large, said he. "Do you really think you can see better than I can?"

"I don't think anything about it; I know," replied Timmy. "Do you see that beetle over there crossing that stone?"

Impy looked where Timmy pointed, but he saw no bettle. In fact, he could do little more than make out the outline of the stone. "I don't see any beetle," said he, "and I don't believe you do either."

Instead of replying, Timmy suddenly darted forward and in a moment he was back. He had a large beetle. "Here it is," said he, and proceeded to pound it on the stone on which they were sitting. Then he ate it and smacked his lips. Meanwhile, Impy was feeling very foolish. He realized that Timmy really had seen that beetle and that, therefore, Timmy's eyes must be better than his own.



"I've seen you before," said he

"Why have I never seen you in the daytime?" Impy asked.

"For the same reason that I never see any of your family at night," replied Timmy. "Chipmunks are day folk; Flying Squirrels are night folk."

"Can't you see in the daytime?" asked Impy.

"Yes," replied Timmy. "But the light hurts my eyes. I don't like it. So I sleep through the day and come out when the Black Shadows arrive. When it is time for jolly, round, bright Mr. Sun to climb up in the blue, blue sky in the early morning, and the Black Shadows are hurrying back to the Purple Hills, I go home to bed. But aren't you taking a chance? One who can see no better than you can should not be out at this hour. Supposing Hooty the Owl should come this way?"

"I've heard of him," said Impy. "Can he see as well as you can?"

"Just as well," replied Timmy. "I don't know but that he can see a little better. I have to watch out for Hooty the Horned Owl and Spooky the Screech Owl every night, just as you have to watch out for members of the Hawk family during the day. If you'll take my advice, cousin, you won't venture far from your doorstep after shadow time."

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

WHAT THE SMALL BOY AND GIRL WILL WEAR TO SCHOOL

For those early autumn days when the young miss and master embark on their school career, their wardrobes offer few problems. The washable clothes which have carried them through the summer will suffice for the first month or so. The usual costume consists of washable suits for Johnny in quantities to keep him clean, and washable dresses for Sally with washable bloomers to match. A heavy sweater for cooler days, the raincoat, hat, rubbers and umbrella for those inevitable rainy mornings will be all that is necessary up to November.

From then on throughout the winter the young misses' clothes go amusingly adult. Even if she is only 5 there are washable jersey outfits that in proper sizes would be appropriate for her mother. They consist of plaited jersey skirts, and matching cardigan jacket buttoning right down the front. For wear with these are washable blouses, as simple or as elaborate as one desires, or, for colder days, a white jersey slipover sweater of diminutive size. These dresses are the nicest of choices for those cold mornings when it seems nothing short of cruel to send a child out in a cotton dress.

MODERN CHANGES

The small boy for the colder days wears flannel shorts of dark colors and washable blouses or shirts. On cold days he, too, wears a sweater over his shirt, and both boys and girls wear socks or long ribbed lisle thread hose of dark colors and low shoes. On inclement fall days they don rubbers and on cold days galoshes are still in high favor.

Underwear shows decided modern changes. I couldn't find a suit of long-sleeved, long-legged union suits of the type with which most mothers are familiar. Instead the new type union suits for both boys and girls are of four weights—lightweight, knitted cotton, heavier weight cotton, light silk and wool, or cotton and wool. They have buttons down the front of sufficient size for each child to dress and button himself up.

There are no sleeves and the knees are of two types, the French knee, which is very, very short, and the cuffed knee, which is suitable with long hose for the boy or girl who is always cold.

Sister wears washable knitted silk or rayon bloomers in shades to match her dresses and they are exactly like her mother's with rubber at the waist and knee and nary a buttonhole anywhere.

Clothes for the modern child are made with the knowledge that our modern houses are much hotter than those of previous generations.

Children should learn to dress themselves; therefore, clothes should have the fewest of buttons, which should be large and easily reached, and as many of the garments as possible should be of the slip-on variety.

We offer a brand-new leaflet suggesting the full list of garments which will suffice to carry the child through the fall and winter school season. It will suggest to mothers some of the necessities which may not occur to her until the morning they are to be used. Self-addressed and stamped envelope is all that is necessary to get "Boys' and Girls' School Outfits."

Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY
Author of "The Fast Way to Health"

CALORIES AND COMBINATIONS

The majority of textbooks on diet tell a good deal about the calory theory, a little about the vitamins, and scarcely anything about the important mineral elements which are usually grouped together under the uninteresting name of "ash." The textbooks overemphasize the foods which are rich in calories, such as the starches, sugars, and fats, and pay comparatively little attention to the proteins, vitamins and mineral elements. As a result of this one-sided attention, many physicians and earnest students of dietetics are often misled, and place too much stress on the calory theory.

A calory is supposed to represent the amount of heat created by the oxidation of food to raise a kilo of water one degree centigrade. The body is supposed to be a sort of machine which burns up food, and the theory is that the body obtains practically as much heat or energy elements out of food as could be obtained in a machine. However, the calory standard is not an exact one, for it accords equality to many foods which have a distinctly dissimilar effect when taken into the human system.

It should be remembered that the value of a food is not how much energy element it has outside of the body, but how many of these energy elements can be assimilated and made use of by the living cells. If foods are eaten in such combinations that the digestive system is overtaxed in digesting them, it stands to reason that one will not obtain as much benefit from a large amount of food improperly digested as from a smaller amount of food eaten in the right combination so that it is easily digested.

You can't live on calories alone. If you could, a pound of refined lard would supply all of the food needed by a man doing hard physical labor all day. A pound of sugar would be an ideal meal, but you know that this is not so.

Experiments have shown that it is possible to kill animals by feeding them on refined high-calorie foods which are deficient in mineral elements and vitamins—often more quickly than if they had received no food at all.

If one were to select one's food entirely by the caloric method it would almost be necessary to have a set of scales on the table while a meal was being eaten and each variety of food carefully weighed. The institutions which are depending on this theory in selecting the food for their patients are failing to get the results they could accomplish if they placed more emphasis on the proper balancing and combining of foods. Such facts the calory enthusiasts fail to recognize.

I believe that some factors which are much more important to a good diet than calories are good food combinations, the wholesome and appetising preparations of foods, and the balancing of foods so that the patient will receive all of the different elements and vitamins his body requires.

The Modern Girl

One of the most attractive features about the modern girl is her cleanliness and daintiness about her person. Her frocks are placed on padded, perfumed hangers upon removal and allowed to air well before putting away in the closet. Cloth dresses are aired frequently, even when not in use, so they will not have a stuffy smell. Also, she is very careful not to wear the silk dress too long before sending it to the cleaner's.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

The Times' free cooking school conducted by Chef Wyman has been discontinued for the summer. Date for resuming has not been set but will be announced later.

HAM AND MACARONI

Two cupfuls of cooked macaroni, one cupful of cold, cooked ham, one and a half cupfuls of milk, four eggs, a seasoning of salt, and paprika, one tablespoonful of onion juice, one tablespoonful of mustard. Butter a baking dish and cover it with a layer of cooked macaroni, add a layer of the finely chopped ham, and repeat until all has been used, mix the slightly beaten eggs with the milk, and seasonings, and pour over the ham and macaroni. Bake in a moderate oven until firm.

COCOANUT ORANGE PUDDING

Two cupfuls of milk, one cupful of bread crumbs, two tablespoonfuls of butter, yolk of two eggs, one-third of a cupful of sugar, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one-third cupful of grated orange rind, two-thirds cupful of shredded cocoanut. Scald the milk in the double boiler, add the bread crumbs, and butter. Remove from the fire and let stand for thirty minutes, beat the egg yolks, add to them the sugar, salt, and orange rind, add this to the bread-crumb mixture, and if the crumbs are very dry a little more milk may be necessary. Pour into an oiled baking dish and bake in a slow oven until firm. Make a meringue of the egg whites, powdered sugar, and one tablespoonful of grated orange rind, spread on top of the pudding, sprinkle with shredded cocoanut, place in the oven and brown slowly.

GREEN BEANS WITH CHEESE SAUCE

Take one and a half pounds of green beans, string and wash them, and break into one-inch lengths. Cook in boiling water until tender, drain, place in a sauce pan one tablespoonful of butter and add one-half pound of cheese, that has been chopped fine. Heat slowly until the cheese has melted, then add to it a little at a time one cupful of milk, and continue until well blended. Season with salt and paprika, and pour over the hot beans.

BLACKBERRY PIE

One level tablespoonful of gelatine, one-fourth cupful of cold water, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, two cupfuls of blackberry juice, one cupful of whipped cream. Soak the gelatine in the cold water for five minutes, add the boiling fruit juice, and stir until dissolved, then allow the mixture to cool until beginning to set, fill a baked pastry shell with the whole berries, sweetened, pour over the gelatine mixture, and when ready to serve cover with whipped cream, which has been flavored and sweetened, or may be covered with a meringue, and browned in the oven.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Taught by Time

Sandpaper will remove rust from the kitchen stove.

Prepare the gelatine dessert the first thing in the morning and then you will be certain it will be firm.

Dry bran is excellent for cleaning velvet flowers. Simply rub on the soiled parts and brush off, repeating if necessary.

Paste white oilcloth over the tops of your stationary tubs and you will be surprised how much more attractive your laundry will be.

The Electric Refrigerator

After defrosting the refrigerator the glass tray in which the water has fallen should be washed thoroughly with soap or soda and water, dried well, and then returned to the box. The unit should be wiped clean and the pans scalded and refilled. Otherwise, in time the ice cubes are apt to have an unpleasant taste to them.

Odd Bits

Do not throw away short lengths of lace and insertions. They come in handy when a little enlarging is needed in nighties or underwear. They can also be used to reinforce laces that show signs of wear.

Hetch Hetchy Muddle Cited Showing Incapacity

Sentiment in San Francisco Turning to Fitts

Southern California would be to the election of James Rolph, governor of this State, according to Alvin Gerlach, leading citizen of San Francisco, who asserts that one of the greatest examples of mismanagement is furnished by San Francisco in the handling of the Hetch Hetchy project. Gerlach says that in almost nineteen years more than $117,000,000 on it and as yet San Francisco has not received one drop of water from that source.

HOW LONG BOULDER?

"If the Hetch-Hetchy can be taken as a criterion of the manner in which Rolph will deal with the water problems of Southern California, particularly Boulder Dam, I am quite sure that the south is sensible enough to let him remain in San Francisco, where he has acquired the reputation of being the best hand-shaking, back-slapping Mayor in the United States."

Gerlach predicts that Fitts will pile up a tremendous vote north of the Tehachapi, holding that in Rolph's home town Fitts sentiment is growing hourly.

FITTS HITS POLICY

Fitts made a flying jaunt into San Francisco to address a women's luncheon yesterday noon, returning to speak at Bakersfield. At both meetings he continued his assault upon the present administration's asserted procrastination in the handling of vital problems and charged Young and his political tax commission with direct responsibility for the condition which permits major oil companies to escape with absurd payments while taxes upon domestic corporations have been increased 140 per cent in a period of twelve months.

Henry Z. Osborne, member of the American Society of Civil Engineers, yesterday urged engineers of California to elect Fitts.

"The great mass of voters who work for their living," wrote Osborne, "and who have to foot the bill, either directly or indirectly, will do all in their power to elect Buron Fitts Governor of California to correct existing evils."

Mrs. Bath Says He Tried to Push Her Into It; Divorce Granted

William H. Bath tried to push Mrs. Mabel Bath into the bathtub, the wife testified yesterday in Superior Judge Hahn's court.

"The bathtub was filled with water, too," complained Mrs. Bath. She asserted Bath, a Torrance business man, had been going around with another woman and admitted he was going to run away with her.

The Baths were married in Plymouth, Eng., April 15, 1916, and separated May 10, last. Judge Hahn granted Mrs. Bath a decree.

Wife Divorces 'Dead' Husband

Reports of her husband's death were exaggerted, Mrs. Olive R. Sibley asserted yesterday in asking a divorce from Frank Sibley, who, she charges, deserted her in New York in 1916.

"In December, 1927, I received an anonymous letter from Chicago, informing me that my husband had been killed in that city," testified Mrs. Sibley. "The Coroner of Cook county was asked to make an investigation. He said there was no record of my husband's death there."

Superior Judge Hahn gave Mrs. Sibley a decree. The Sibleys were married in New York, October 1, 1896, and have two grown sons. Attorney Lorrin Andrews appeared for the wife.

Wife Demands Property Share with Divorce

Demanding a share of community property she values at nearly $300,000, Mrs. Fern E. Pagel yesterday sued Herbert F. Pagel, vice-president of the Turner Brass Works, for divorce, declaring that her husband associated with other women and once settled an alienation suit with an Illinois husband for $3500.

Mrs. Pagel declares also that her husband beat her until she had to spend some time in a hospital. She asks $300 a month alimony, declaring her husband earns $800 a month, and asks $5000 legal fees for her attorney, S. S. Hahn.

"Ingagi" Film Producers Sued by Distributor

Asserting that the motion picture "Ingagi" was a "fraud and a deceit," Wilbur Cushman, distributor who purchased territorial rights from the producers, yesterday sued the Congo Pictures Corporation and others for $313,383.

The New in Stores & Homes

Novelties, Ideas, and Suggestions

By OLIVE GRAY

In addition to the fact that everyone always is interested in the new, we in Southern California, because of the early spring and long summer, are particularly eager for the first autumn modes. Although we sometimes try to make ourselves believe that we may benefit by an all-seasons wardrobe, it is a fact that long ere one season has ended, we have wearied of our clothes, our hats, and are all keyed up about those of the forthcoming mode. For this reason, our merchants arrange to have in readiness the latest of merchandise, of fashions in advance of the showings in eastern cities.

The Inexpensive Wardrobe

"Do not tell me that clothes are less expensive than heretofore!" exclaimed and at the same time argued Angela. "For," she continued, "we must have all accessories to match each costume, whether it be for street, sports or evening. Shoes, wrap, hand-bag, stockings, gloves, to say nothing of jewelry. W hy, it is postively ruinous!"

But Editha, who always finds a way—like Sentimental Tommy—pointed out that girl of limited budget could easily dress economically if she gave a bit of thought to the subject. "By choosing a color that is becoming and varying the shades of that color for evening and for day wear, she can use the same accessories with all, and thus be well-dressed, without expenditure of money for each article."

"We-e-ll, perhaps," Angela rather reluctantly agreed. Then she brightened. "I like green," she said, "and I suppose I can wear Nile for evening; and a dark green for daytime. Then my jades will go with both; and hand bags may be in either color, with black for daytime shoes and Nile fabric for evening."

"Yes," Editha approved, "and an evening wrap in a green either Nile or a shade in between the dark and the lighter tone and you are well equipped for all occasions. Of course," she added ruminatively, "you will want a sweater or so with separate skirt for sports, and a sportish fold-away felt for travel and for sports." But, she refused to budget the exact amount of expenditure, declaring it to be a matter of personal taste and elasticity of finance.

Tan-offing

And now, after a long season of "hard work" getting tanned, comes the even harder work of getting untanned. For, however enthusiastic we may be about sun-tan, while the summer solstice is on, when we don evening clothes our regrets are as ardent as were our efforts to tan. Many a chapter of tan-offing now is scanned—or will be, in a few weeks from now.

Those Thinning Sandals

Have you watched the girl, in that big store where a special department is given over to health themes—have you watched her sandal away the flesh? It looks easy and seems interesting, as well as effective. She sits on a flat board, with her feet upright against uptilted sandals, and by consecutive pulls upon elastic cords, an exercise similar to that of rowing a boat, she reduces to the minimum—does away with all unwanted flesh. The board upon which the reducer sits and alternately lies may be hand-painted to a degree of daintiness, or, if she prefers, she may do without the board. The price of this novel exerciser is far less than that of many more complicated and—it is said less effective—mechanical reducers.

Awning Guarantee

When you have an awning installed, by that high-class firm which has made the artistic awnings of California nation-famous, they give you a certificate of guarantee that the awning, or awnings, shall be perfect and shall continue so for a certain definite period of time. Sort of an awning insurance, you see. And, by the way, nothing connected with the exterior of a home gives more real satisfaction than do awnings. Not alone in the artistry which is unquestionable, but in the additional shade are which seems to extend the porch, and also in the softened light within the house, are these addenda worth while. Tempering the hot outside light lowers the temperature inside the house—or seems to do so, and during the warm days of summer, a peaceful atmosphere pervades the home which is well awninged.

Quaint Vanes

With the revival of old-time themes in home-making come restoration of the weather vane. Real art is incorporated with many of those—modernism applied to an ancient subject. The racing horse, a subject used in old-time barn vanes, while not so appropriate to dwellings sometimes finds a modified expression; the ship asail against the wind sometimes is accompanied by a fleet of smaller craft in the more intricate vanes. If one has an original idea, one may have it perfectly worked out, at that wrought-iron makery, where so many excellent plans are put in effect.

Garden Making

One of the most fascinating occupations in our beloved California is gardening, and, as the experts in this line are telling us, now is the time to "set." Many of the shrubs so well liked, such as poinsettia, lilac and all requiring a "cool" start, should be planted in the fall. Many of the bulbs for spring blossoming should be planted in the autumn. Seeds of slowly germinating flowers should be in the ground before the rains commence. This is especially true of the wild flowers, which we all so love. Rock gardens should be started early, also, and many—perhaps most—of the hedgerow shrubs and plants will do better throughout the year, if in the ground before the rainy season.

One woman who loves the soil, makes a point of inserting many useful vegetables, among her flowers and plants. To her artistic eye, lettuce with its cool, curly green, is as beautiful as any foliage plant; beets lend an enlivening color touch among the greenery of blossom foliage; parsley forms a fine border to certain plots; while some kinds of beans when trained on trellises form interesting trailing effects. Thus, she declares, that she can at any time, pluck a fresh salad; while her flower garden has a double atraction by reason of the useful growths therein.

If you make your own sheets, make a wide hem at both top and bottom. Then they can be reversed and still look as well and, in copsequence, wear more evenly.

More Gloss

If ironed carefully cheap linen can be made as glossy as damask. After washing, boiling and rinsing, wring dry and roll in a clean cloth. Let it stay rolled for two hours and then iron thoroughly dry. This will insure a gloss and keep the linen in better shape than if hung on the line.

FIFI DORSAY TO STAR IN FILM

French Actress Sponsored by Doug, Mary Pickford; Junior Durkin Wins Paramount Featured Role; Kenneth Harlan to Play in Serials

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

That Fifi Dorsay is to start in a United Artists picture and that in the meantime she is having a working arrangement with Mary Pickford, whereby she is to spend much time in Miss Pickford's company in order that Mary may absorb Fifi's fascinating French accent, were facts gleaned yesterday. Already, as is well known, Miss Pickford speaks excellent French, but she feels that her French accent when speaking English has been neglected.

FIFI DORSAY.

The engagement of Miss Dorsay, of course, is in preparation for Miss Pickford's characterization in "Kiki." The young actresses have been friends, however, for some time.

Miss Dorsay has been making quite a success in all the pictures in which she has been appearing. She is under contract to Fox, but has just completed one of the leading feminine roles in Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "Three French Girls."

Just what United Artists has in mind for Miss Dorsay cannot yet be learned, but it is understood that Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford are promoting and sponsoring her appearance with that organization, and that she is to be borrowed from Fox for a picture.

JUNIOR DURKIN CAST IN "TYPHOON BILL"

More and more are child actors being used in the talking films.

Now it is Junior Durkin, reputedly the most accomplished child actor ever developed by the New York stage, who is now in Hollywood under contract to Paramount, and who has just been given a featured role.

Durkin will play an office boy in George Bancroft's current starring vehicle, "Typhoon Bill." His role is said to be an important one, both from comedy and dramatic angles, and will give him an excellent acting opportunity.

The story was written by William Slavens McNutt and Grover Jones. Rowland V. Lee will direct.

Conrad Nagel Signs

Two pleasing young players have just been signed by Majestic Pictures, producing at Tec-Art Studios, of be cofeatured in "Today," by Abraham Schoemer.

Conrad Nagel and Katherine Dale Owen are the players in question. Other players in featured roles are Sarah Paddon and Julia Swayne Gordon.

Work is to commence today on the production under direction of William Nigh.

William Davidson With R.-K.-O.

No less skillful an actor than William Davidson, who used to play opposite Ethel Barrymore on the stage, has been signed by R.-K.-O. Davidson is to play an important part in "The Silver Horde."

KENNETH HARLAN TO PLAY SERIAL LEAD

Universal is going joyously along making serials, now planning a new series.

For the first time since he used to play opposite Carmel Myers at Universal Kenneth Harlan is back at Universal City. He has just been signed by the organization to be starred in a serial called "Fingerprints," which Ray Taylor will direct.

KENNETH HARLAN

The plan to make the chapter plays comes from a popular demand for this lively form of entertainment, according to Universal heads.

Henry Walthall in It

It looks as though Columbia is going to keep its word about acquiring an all-star cast for its production of "Tol-'able David," which is to be made as a talker.

Henry B. Walthall

Now it is none other than Henry Walthall who has been signed for a featured role, that of the father of the girl in the story.

Walthall has just returned from a vacation spent at June Lake with his family. Others cast in the picture are George Duryea, Joan Peers, Edmund Breese, Helen Ware and Richard Cromwell.

King George exhibited eight cattle at the recent cattle show at Norwich, Eng.

'Eyes of the World' Shows at United Artists

Actors Best in Commonplace Movie Plot

Una Merkel, Fern Andra and Others Appear

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

First blood for Harold Bell Wright is drawn in the talkies. "Eyes of the World," his novel against hypocrisy, comes to the screen at the United Artists Theater, and doubtless will attract the attention of his devotees. The picture emanates from the directorial away of Henry King, and the adaptation and dialogue is credited to Clark Silvernail, H. Brewster Morris sharing in the former. The production brings the initial appearance of Una Merkel, the D. W. Griffith find, and of Fern Andra, (star of European films) since her arrival in Hollywood.

The cast and the production are not without honors. Indeed some of the performance, despite the utterly wooden roles that the players are called upon to enact, shine as interesting. Miss Merkel has a quaint personality and a childlike manner of speaking which clearly identify her as a unique type, and Miss Andra has an excellent voice in the screen medium. Hugh Huntley proves himself a particularly competent player in a heavy role, and John Holland, Brandon Hurst and others give able portrayals.

But Harold Bell Wright in the talkies is an utterly different affair from Harold Bell Wright in the silents. At least, there is a strong trace of original influence of the book, I believe, in this instance, and it is clouded with heavy moralizing, and dull platitudes. I don't think the adaptation improved matters a bit. I would say, in fact, that it exaggerated the commonplaces of the original.

This story has to do with the young artist, Aaron King, whom the society woman, Mrs. Taine, assumes to sponsor. The matter of his painting her picture is mere camouflage for the love affair to which she hopes their association will lead. Her husband is to help finance the artist, and her brother, the critic, is to aid him socially and professionally. The entire group then go on a camping trip.

Here the artist meets Sybil, the daughter of Novelist Conrad La Grange. His first glimpse of her is just after she has emerged from disporting herself in a morning bath in a mountain stream, where he is fishing. The critic spies her somewhat earlier even, but that is not significant until the end of the picture.

Meanwhile, there is a cut-back. This shows that Mrs. Taine was the daughter of a poor, disfigured outcast of the mountains, known as Myra. This woman has been deceived by the father of young Rutledge, the half-brother of Mrs. Taine.

The story then comes back to the present and proceeds with the romance of King and Sybil and shows Mrs. Taine intriguing to interest the artist. She endeavors to embarrass both himself and the girl to this end, then Rutledge shows himself to be the villain that he is and forces his attentions upon the heroine when she is unprotected in her mountain home.

There are plenty of other incidents of about the same order, and there is little in either the situations or the dialogue to relieve them.

The writer's troubles in trying to get out a magazine serial, and some of Miss Merkel's delicate comedy tricks are the most engaging features of the picture. One may add to this the beauty of many of its outdoor settings. Unfortunately none of these makes for reality of story.

I think that both Mr. Huntley and Miss Andra may prove to be finds in this picture. Huntley seems very clever and Miss Andra has marked individuality, and, needless to say, because of her experience, the ability to act with authority. Nance O'Neill's portrayal is rather unfortunately melodramatic in this instance, and this is the more regrettable since she has been so competent in most talkies. Holland fills the hero role for what it is worth, and Hurst is often very effective. Frederic Burt, Eulalie Jensen, Myra Hubert and William Jeffery are others.

"Average Husbands" has a good cast, including Natalie Moorhead, Pat O'Malley, Andy Clyde and Albert Conti, but is rather average in plot. It concerns a wife's great interest in an old admirer, and the husband's retaliation. The song cartoon, "The Glow Worm," is adroitly contrived, and Gaylord Carter plays popular organ selections.

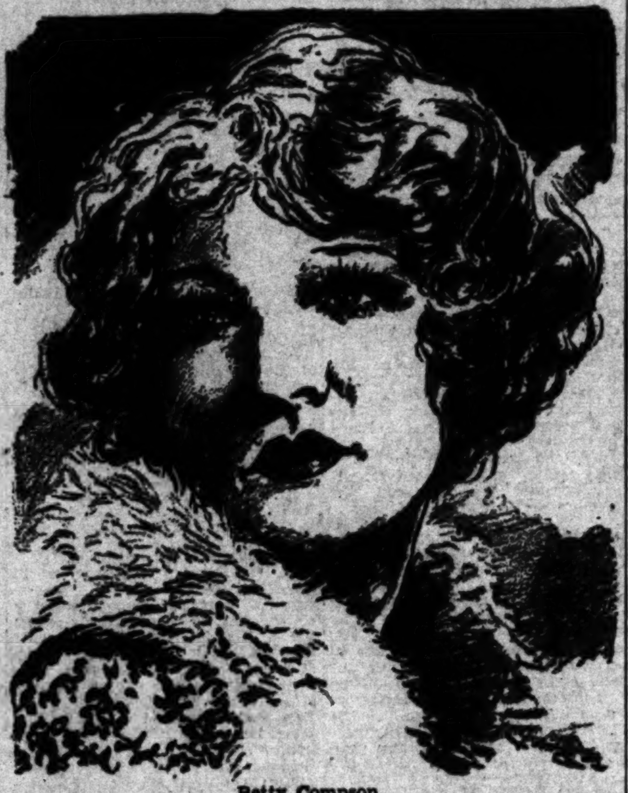
'Common Clay' will Move to Fox Boulevard

A last-minute change of booking brings "Common Clay" to the Boulevard Theater today in the place of "Romance." Constance Bennett is seen in the leading role as a girl whose search for gayety leads her into an entanglement of dramatic circumstances.

Lew Ayres, who played in "All Quiet on the Western Front," is seen opposite Miss Bennett. Others in the supporting cast are Tully Marshall, Matty Kemp, Beryl Mercer, Hale Hamilton, Purnell B. Pratt, Charles McNaughton, Ada Williams and Genevieve Blinn. Victor Fleming directed.

Jackie Souders and his band will offer a new stage show, starting tonight, featuring Joyce Riener and Esther Campbell.

Melodramatic Fare Offered



Betty Compson

Adds another vivid characterization to a lengthy screen record with her portrayal in "The Czar of Broadway," the picture starting today at the R.-K.-O. Theater.

FAVORITE TO APPEAR AT BILTMORE

"Dishonored Lady" Stars Katharine Cornell; Opens September 8

When Gilbert Miller in association with Guthrie McClintic presents Miss Katharine Cornell at the Biltmore Theater for a two weeks' engagement beginning September 8, in "Dishonored Lady," a play by Margaret Ayer Barnes and Edward Sheldon, local theatergoers will see one of the dramatic events of the past season in New York.

Miss Cornell has a national reputation as one of the outstanding actresses of emotional roles in the country, it is said. She has been seen in such dramas as "Will Shakespeare," "Candida," "Tiger Cats," "A Bill of Divorcement," "The Green Hat," "The Letter" and "The Age of Innocence." Her new vehicle gives her a stirring role, according to reports.

"Good News" to Open Today at Loew's State

The talkie version of "Good News" shares honors with Rube Wolf, orchestra leader, at Loew's State Theater today.

Cliff Edwards and others in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture are scheduled to appear on the stage tonight.

"Good News" has been directorially treated as a romantic comedy of college, it is said, with stress laid on story values and comedy and dramatic situations. Bessie Love, Cliff Edwards, Mary Lawlor, Lola Lane, Dorothy McNulty, Stanley Smith and Gus Shy portray the characters of the story. Nick Grinde directed the picture, with staging by Edward J. MacGregor.

Million Dollar Changes Variety Program Today

The change of stage fare today at the Million Dollar Theater brings Nellie Fernandez, Mexican dancer, as the featured attraction. With Miss Fernandez, the Carlos Molina Tango orchestra will share honors. Other vaudeville acts are Marie Le Flohic in "Little Miss Different;" Mr. and Mrs. Norman Phillips and Norman, Jr., in "Topics of The Day," Rubin Beckwith, pianist, and The Eddy duo.

The screen feature will be Moran and Mac', The Two Black Crows, in "Anybody's War."

Ruth Chatterton Costarred with Brook in Film

Ruth Chatterton will be seen, beginning today, at the Paramount Theater, in "Anybody's Woman." Clive Brook is again costarred with Miss Chatterton.

Directed by Dorothy Arzner from a screen play adapted by Zoe Akins and Doris Anderson, "Anybody's Woman" was based on "The Better Wife," by Gouverneur Morris, noted novelist. Included also in the cast are Paul Lukas, Huntly Gordon, Virginia Hammond, Tom Patricola, Juliette Compton and Cecil Cunningham.

Completing the program at the Paramount will be a number of short subjects.

COMIC JOINS PLAY CAST

Percy Helton, Broadway comedian, has arrived in Hollywood from New York to play his original role in support of Elliott Nugent in "The Poor Nut," which opens Sunday matinee at El Capitan.

Helton's first major part in New York was as the lame boy in "The Miracle Man." He later developed into a comedian.

In addition to Helton other members of the original cast who have been engaged for El Capitan production are Norma Lee, Ruth Nugent, Cornelius Keefe, Eric Kolkhurst and Russell Scott. Others in the cast in addition to sixty extras used in the cheering section for the relay race scene are William H. Turner, Vesey O'Davoren, Kernan Cripps, Edward Seabrook and Donald Campbell.

SHUBERT TO ENTER FILM PRODUCTION

Stage Notable Negotiating with Swiss Inventor for New Sound Device

Mr. Shubert's program of production also includes "Stay Over Night" by Naomi Royde-Smith and two other photoplays.

Violinist will Play with Band

The Los Angeles Japanese Harmonica Band will present Tsuneo Fukushima, violinist of San Francisco, as soloist of its concert in the Union Church, 118 North San Pedro street, tomorrow night.

This Japanese musician has been playing in the northern cities with success and has chosen "Orientale," by Cui, Hungarian Dance by Brahms, "Tambourin" by Rameau and other favorites for his program.

IMPORTANCE OF INSURANCE TOLD

Economics Authority Heard at Conclave Here

Self-Carried Risk Assailed as Poor Gamble

Young and Wood Also Speak Before Delegates

Insurance is an integral part of economics, just as are production, exchange, distribution and consumption, Dr. W. S. Huebner, professor of finance, Wharton School of Finance and Commerce of the University of Pennsylvania, declared yesterday at a joint session of the National Association of Mutual Insurance Companies and the Federation of Mutual Fire Insurance Companies at the Biltmore.

Asserting that insurance does not belong essentially to any one of the four major divisions of economics, Dr. Huebner declared it should be regarded as a fifth division of the science of economics. Its mission is distinct, being risk-bearing and risk elimination, the speaker said.

Outstanding functions of all forms of insurance are three in number, the speaker continued. He gave these functions as indemnity, prevention of loss in the first instance and distribution of the cost of risk-bearing equitably over the entire business community.

SELF-INSURANCE HIT

Self-insurance drew the fire of the speaker. He asserted that self-insurance rarely can be recommended on the basis of sound insurance principles. Altogether too frequently, he asserted, private owners and municipalities incur an extraordinary gamble when they undertake to carry their own risks, even though they endeavor to emulate the scientific methods of insurance companies.

President Burton S. Flagg of the national organization, presided at the meeting. He introduced Gov. Young, who gave the delegates a picture of the State's vast resources and the program for safeguarding the State's resources against forest fires and lack of water. He described the Boulder Canyon Dam project, telling of the benefits the State will derive from the development.

WOOD FOLLOWS YOUNG

Will C. Wood, Superintendent of Banks, offered a brief address.

At the afternoon session, Dr. V. N. Valgren, senior agricultural economist of the United States Department of Agriculture, of Washington, spoke on the "Adaptation of Farm Insurance to the Needs of the Farmer." He was followed by E. J. Brookhart, secretary of the National Mutual Insurance Company of Celina, O., who discussed "Financial Responsibility Laws."

Business sessions of the convention will close today with committee reports and the election of officers. A bus trip to Santa Ana is scheduled for the afternoon. The delegates are to visit Catalina Island tomorrow.

OIL PERMITS GRANTED

Seventeen ordinances granting applications for oil-well drilling in Venice, all east of the Speedway, were granted yesterday by the City Council. Four ordinances, covering wells west of the Speedway and near the beach, were held up one week due to the negative vote of Councilman Williams.

The Council also overruled the City Planning Commission and authorized C. George to drill a test well on 6.37 acres at 1100 Lake street, and directed the City Attorney to draft ordinances granting four more drilling applications.

Cameron Forbes May Tell Aims of Tokio Work

Federal administration policies in regard to tightening bonds of political and commercial amity between this country and Tokio probably will be outlined by W. Cameron Forbes, newly appointed Ambassador to Japan, who will speak at a Chamber of Commerce luncheon in his honor Monday at the Biltmore.

Mr. Forbes will arrive Monday morning and will be met at the train by a party of city officials. More than fifty reservations for the luncheon have been received.

LOVE LETTERS FIGURE IN DIVORCE ACTION

Laura C. Vigger yesterday sued her husband, Ralph E. Vigger, for divorce, asserting that Vigger spent considerable time with Lulu Eckles. Two love letters, one asserted to be from Vigger to Miss Eckles and one from her to him were appended to the complaint. It was not stated how Mrs. Vigger came into possession of the letters. The couple were married in 1910, and separated twenty years later. Mrs. Viggers asks for custody of three minor children.

POLITICS

THE WATCHMAN

Trend of Political Thought and Action

—BY THE SENTRY ON HIS BEAT—

Capt. Clyde Plummer's candidacy for Sheriff of Los Angeles county is daily receiving encouragement and strength in the form of a flood of indorsements from officials and prominent citizens throughout the county. Attesting to the integrity, honesty and courage of Capt. Plummer are the many indorsements from well-known political, social and ministerial organizations which for the most part have been sent in to his headquarters unsolicited, it was stated.

Among these organizations are found the Citizens' and Taxpayers Protective League; the Los Angeles Fire and Protective League, the entire dry forces of Los Angeles county, comprised of the W.C.T.U., the Anti-Saloon League and the Prohibition party; the Federated American Patriotic Societies and the Christian and Missionary Alliance.

Judge Henry M. Willis has, in addition to previous indorsements of his candidacy for Superior judge, Office No. 2, been indorsed by the Law Enforcement League of Long Beach, the Slavic-American Alliance and the Los Angeles Civic League of this city. The latter in its letter transmitting the indorsement states: "Your record during your tenure of office has been thoroughly investigated and we are absolutely satisfied that no other person could fill the office better than yourself."

Among dozens of additional indorsements of Ed W. Hopkins's candidacy for re-election as County Assessor, an office he has filled for a generation, is that of William H. Daum, president of the California Real Estate Association, and the announcement that the German-American League, of which Edward Stuetz is president, will back Hopkins for Assessor with its 20,000 voting strength.

Lawrence Cobb, Republican candidate for Assemblyman from the Fifty-eighth District, reports indorsement by the Building Material Dealers' Credit Association and by the California Retail Lumbermen's Association. To date Mr. Cobb states he has received indorsements of more than forty business and civic organizations. His pledge to be present and voting on all measures has gained him considerable support, it is said.

Senator Charles W. Lyon, candidate for re-election, yesterday received the indorsement of the Los Angeles Civic League, numbering 20,000 members, and the Chinese-American Citizens' Alliance, a group of young Chinese business and professional men. Senator Lyon announced yesterday that he will devote the final days of his campaign to a speaking tour of the outlying suburban cities in the county.

"No engagements to speak on Wednesday night, the 20th inst., no matter how many votes such a meeting or meetings might represent!" Message from Judge Edward T. Bishop to his campaign manager. The reason? Because that day is his mother's birthday, her seventy-first, and four of her children, including the judge, are scheduled to have dinner with her. She is of French descent, coming to Pomona in 1887 with her husband, the late L. T. Bishop, who was one of Pomona's prominent citizens.

Senator J. W. McKinley, candidate for re-election to the State Senate, has received the indorsement of the Headquarters Community Improvement Taxpayers' and Civic associations, according to announcement of H. E. Palmer, secretary of the organization. This represents the indorsements of eighty-four different civic associations throughout the county.

Campaign headquarters for Milton M. Golden, candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-fifth District, report additional organization indorsements received, including the National Stage and Screen Voters' League. One of Golden's strongest claims for the support of the voters of his district is based upon his stand for lower taxes and assessments.

As a member of the special legislative committee investigating special assessments for a report at the next Legislature, Assemblyman Harry Lyons, candidate for re-election from the Sixty-fourth District, sets forth his views on what ought to be done. He thinks the property owner ought to know in advance what the proposed improvement will cost, whether the property can stand it, amount of prior assessments and a limit set for special assessments on a given piece of property. A commission should be provided to look into these things, he says.

Senator J. M. Inman of Sacramento was quoted by the Carnahan headquarters yesterday as urging the re-election of Lieut.-Gov. Carnahan.

Sidney V. Burroughs, candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-fourth District, is making a fight against the special-assesment evil. He is vice-president and director of the Greater Riverside Drive Association.

James V. Brewer, candidate for Assemblyman from the Sixty-third District, will speak at a meeting of the apartment-house and hotel owners of that district tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Olympic Hotel, 725 South Westlake avenue, on "How to Cut Your Tax Bills."

Headquarters of Jerome V. Scofield, candidate for Supervisor in the First District, reports a steady gain of support throughout the whole district. Last week's report shows the following indorsements received to date: Taxpayers' League of Long Beach, Downey and Bellflower; East Side Home Owners' Civic League of Belvedere Gardens, East Side Republican Club, East Long Beach Improvement Association, Medical and Dental Bureau, Business Men's Association, Los Angeles Civic League, Anti-Special-Assessment Association, Parent-Teacher associations, women's clubs and church brotherhoods.

Because of her recognized standing as one of the leading attorneys of Southern California, the Community Improvement Taxpayers and Civic Association, which represents eighty-four affiliated organizations, has indorsed the candidacy of Oda Faulconer for election to Office No. 11, Los Angeles Superior Court, according to an announcement from H. E. Palmer, secretary of the organization.

"Every man and woman who has the interest of the people's welfare at heart should vote for W. H. (Bud) Lollier, Republican candidate for the Assembly from the Fifty-seventh District, declared Mrs. Thornton Kinney, club woman of California, recently in an interview. "Everything he is valiantly fighting for is of vital importance, and those who know him closely know that he will endeavor sincerely and unceasingly to carry out the issues he has built his platform on."

Assemblyman Emory J. Arnold, candidate for re-election in the Sixty-third Assembly District, favors the redistricting of California's Congressional districts so that Los Angeles and Southern California may be properly represented in the Congress of the United States in accordance with the rule that has been set down by Congress of one Congressman for every 220,000 of population.

Assemblyman Willis M. Baum, Republican candidate for re-election in the Sixtieth Assembly District, believes that the State direct primary law should be amended so as to prevent a candidate running on a ticket other than that of the party under which he is registered; also he favors a new State Constitution to meet present-day needs, and is interested in the development and conservation of water to the fullest extent.

Specific allocations from the State gasoline tax funds to the city of Los Angeles for the purpose of reducing the burden of special improvement assessments, were advocated yesterday by William G. Bonelli, candidate for Republican nomination to the State Legislature from the Fifty-fourth Assembly District.

"More than one-third of the $34,000,000 annually paid by automobile owners in State gasoline taxes, is paid by motorists in Los Angeles city," said Mr. Bonelli. "Yet the city of Los Angeles receives back from the State only about $254,000 a year to help improve its principal streets. If the city received back one-third of the amount of money that automobile owners here actually pay, we could reduce the load of improvement assessments for the property owner by approximately 33 per cent."

Judge Caryl M. Sheldon, candidate for Superior Court judge, Office No. 10, will be the noonday speaker at Leighton's cafeteria, tomorrow at a meeting of the U.V. R. The subject of his speech will be "Veteran Citizenship."

SALESMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE BY POISON

Charles H. Wiener, 61-year-old jewelry salesman, attempted suicide yesterday by swallowing poison tablets in his home at 1711 Ewing street. He was found unconscious by his wife and rushed to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital, where he was given emergency treatment. He was then removed to St. Vincent's Hospital. His condition is reported critical. Mrs. Wiener told police she believes her husband made the attempt to end his life because of a painful illness.

JUDGE GUERIN AIDE AT ORPHANS' PICNIC

Superior Judge Guerin will be the head of the speakers' committee at Fred Solomon's eighth annual frolic and picnic for Los Angeles orphans at the Solomon ranch in Topanga Canyon today. He also will assist in deciding the winners of the dancing, swimming and racing contests which will culminate the day's program.

PROTESTS TURNED DOWN

Protests were denied yesterday by the City Council against the improvement of Marlin Place between Haskell and Gloria avenues, while assessments were confirmed for the lighting of Fairfax avenue, Beverly Boulevard to Wilshire Boulevard, the lighting of Echo Park avenue, Sunset Boulevard to Temple street, and for the sewering of Blair Drive between Troy Drive and Hollywood Way.

ALABAMANS ELECT BARTON

James Barton, formerly of Birmingham, has been elected president of the Alabama State Society, it was announced yesterday.

SHAW TO WELCOME VETERINARIANS HERE

Supervisor Shaw of the Second District has been picked to give the welcoming address to delegates at the sixty-seventh annual meeting of the American Veterinary Medical Association, which opens at the Ambassador Tuesday and lasts for three days. Veterinarians from all parts of the United States will be in attendance. Supervisor Shaw is chairman of the live-stock committee of the Board of Supervisors.

CIVIC GROUP TO HEAR CAMPAIGN SPEAKERS

The Elysian Civic Association will hold a political rally at 8 p.m. tomorrow in Alessandro School, Riverside Drive and Alessandro street, to hear speakers representing the various candidates for office in the coming primary. Dist.-Atty. Pitts has agreed to send a representative, it was announced last night.

ALMS DECISION DELAYED

Decision as to whether H. E. Kellogg was guilty of violating the city ordinance which prohibits collecting alms without a permit will be handed down by Municipal Judge Eagan Monday, Judge Eagan announced yesterday after hearing the evidence against Kellogg. Witnesses testified Kellogg solicited money for the support of a publication which he said was sponsored by the California State Firemen's Association. Capt. Myers of the fire department said Kellogg had no authority to collect money for the association.

JERSEYITES TO DINE

New Jersey folk will have a dinner party tomorrow evening at 542 South Broadway. The program will be featured by Miss Daphne Bakach, pianist.

BAD-MONEY RING'S END PREDICTED

Arraignment of Suspect Declared by Officers to Break Up Gang

Arraignment of Harry Marinoff before United States Commissioner Head yesterday on a charge of conspiracy to pass a counterfeit $20 Federal Reserve Note was believed by Federal authorities to signalize the breaking up of a gang which came here from New York to place a large amount of counterfeit money into circulation.

Marinoff and his brother, Bennie Marinoff, are said to be the leaders of the ring. The latter has not yet been apprehended, but was being sought yesterday by William Ashe, special agent of the Treasury Department, who arrested Harry Marinoff, who was held in $5000 bail, which he furnished.

Aside from disclosing the names of the two asserted leaders in the counterfeiting conspiracy, the Federal officials were reticent as to other details of the case, such as the location of the plant of the counterfeiters and their identity, saying their investigation is still in progress.

Writer Suing for Screen Pay

Warner Brothers Pictures, Inc., and Larry Ceballos, stage manager, were sued for $25,000 yesterday, by Margaret Drennan, screen writer, who claims she submitted an idea to Warner Brothers which was afterward adopted by Ceballos for a prologue without compensation to her.

The scenario was called "Gold and Silver Idea," by the author, she claims, but when Ceballos finished with it, it blossomed forth as "Wall-Street Blues" in the picture, "Bright Lights."

MISSOURI PICNIC SUNDAY

The midsummer picnic reunion of Missourians will be held Sunday at Sycamore Grove. Entertainment will be provided by the William J. Van Berkel Players, George March, the "Missouri Rube," and Johnny Avery, boy singer. Marion C. Spicer will give the address of the day.

Honey declared that the offer was in absolute good faith and posted a $5000 check with a local newspaper to guarantee Baer's end if "Ham" Lorimer, manager of the Oakland fighter, accepts.

TILDEN DOWNS YOUNG SUTTER

Big Bill Turns on Amazing Exhibition at Newport

Seven Times National King Dramatizes Match

Lanky Philadelphian Gives Gallery Real Thrill

BY WILLIAM R. KING
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 20. (AP)—The top ranking William T. Tilden, greatest showman American tennis has produced in its half-century of existence, today put on one of the most amazing exhibitions of his colorful court career when he defeated the rising young Clifford Sutter of New Orleans, intercollegiate and eastern grass court champion. The score was 7-5, 4-6, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6, and Tilden entered the quarter-finals of the current Newport Casino invitation tournament.

BILL TILDEN

The seven-times national champion, who has been limping about with a painful hip injury during the past week dramatized his match with the Louisiana youth, who was the party of the second part recently when Tilden upset the tennis world by defaulting from the eastern grass court championship after being annoyed by a few hostile spectators.

When Tilden withdrew from the courts at Rye, N. Y., he was hopelessly trailing young Sutter. During today's match, however, he revealed enough of his old-time form to convince most of the gallery he could defeat Sutter, a capable youth who has not yet acquired a good finishing stroke, in straight sets. Yet Lanky Bill, to give the gallery

TOO BAD HE'S ALL WASHED UP

Predictions that Walter Hagen had reached the end of his tether appear to be a bit premature as "The Haig," after finishing a good fourth in the recent St. Paul $10,000 open, stepped out with a 67 yesterday to lead the field in the western open championship. Hagen, minus a major title for the first time in seventeen years, set a fast pace to top Johnny Farrell's 68.

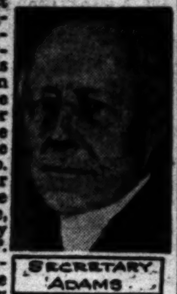
YANKEE AND ENTERPRISE WIN IN TRIALS TO PICK AMERICA'S CUP DEFENDER

NEWPORT (R. I.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Enterprise, sailed by Harold S. Vanderbilt, again demonstrated her supremacy in light air today, defeating Weetamoe, the Morgan-Nichols candidate, in the first of the official trials for selection of the defender of the America's Cup.



SECRETARY ADAMS

In the other match of the day, Yankee, sailed by Charles F. Adams, Secretary of the Navy, ran away from the Thorn Hammond entry. Whirlwind finally blew out her mainsail and was towed home, but at the time of the mishap the Boston boat had a comfortable lead. Yankee's time for the thirty-mile course was twenty-six seconds better than that of Enterprise.

The sea was nearly as smooth as it ever gets nine miles off Brenton's Reef lightship, where the trials are being held and where one of the four American sloops will meet Sir Thomas Lipton's Shamrock V, September 13.

The selection committee's pairing brought the light air boats in opposition and the heavy-weather boats forming the other division. Enterprise's victory was as well earned as ever a yacht race has been won. She ran down the wind on the fifteen-mile leeward leg in twenty-seven seconds better time than did Weetamoe. She beat home into the wind, furnished the real work of the day's sailing and no crew ever looked more alive than did Enterprise's when it came to tacking. Sail was shifted with precision and although Weetamoe is probably the fastest of the four in coming about, she never found an opportunity to win past Enterprise's lee. Vanderbilt's white-sparred sloop was always between Weetamoe and the wind.

When Enterprise crossed the fin-

GEORGE DEFEATS LUTZE

Michigan Gladiator Wins Deciding Fall in Star Wrestling Match at Olympic

In a match which had a very peculiar ending, Don George, Michigan mat star, was awarded a victory over Nick Lutze, popular Venice lifeguard, last night in the main event of Lou Daro's wrestling show at the Olympic Auditorium.

With each gladiator boasting a fall, the two youthful giants came out for the third and deciding fall with the w.k. do-or-die spirit.

DON GEORGE

Lutze was having a bit better of it, when he picked up George and seemed to be on the verge of tossing him out of the ring, when the lanky Michigan matster caught his feet in the ropes to help himself and to hinder Lutze.

Nick's powerful push had so much zip behind it, however, that both he and George left the ring and fell down the chute that is on the Eighteenth-street side of the ring, for the use

Walker Cops Forgione Go

NEWARK (N. J.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Mickey Walker, world's middleweight champion, won a ten-round decision from Vince Forgione of Philadelphia in a nontitle bout at Dreamland Park tonight. Walker floored Forgione for a nine count in the first round and for a one count in the eighth.

VACCA LOSES BOUT TO BUSHY GRAHAM

UTICA (N. Y.) Aug. 20. (AP)—Getting up from an eight-count knockdown in the first round, Bushy Graham, Utica featherweight contender, gave Johnny Vacca, Boston, an artistic lacing in ten rounds here tonight. Graham scored knockdowns in the fifth and seventh rounds.

SINGER SIGNS TWO FOES

NEW YORK, Aug. 20. (Exclusive) When Al Singer, Bronx Hebrew, vowed that he intended to be a fighting champion he was not talking through his fedora. By way of making good his promise the world's lightweight champion signed today for two fights under the direction of the Madison Square Garden Corporation. The first contract signed by Hymie Caplan, Al's manager, calls for a ten-round bout over the weight with Jimmie McLarnin at the Yankee Stadium on the night of September 11. The second makes it obligatory upon Singer to defend his world's lightweight title against Tony Canzoneri in the garden November 18.

LOCUST VALLEY (N. Y.) Aug. 20. (AP)—In a ragged but spectacular polo tussle, Capt. Tommy Hitchcock led his reorganized varsity Whites to a victory by 19 to 16 today over the Reds in the latest test for the international team, played at the Piping Rock Club.

ERIC PEDLEY

Since the Jayvees benefited from a seven-goal handicap concession, the actual margin of the winning forces was 19 to 9, but except in the fourth and eighth chukkers, Hitchcock's quartet was played to a standstill by the hard-riding and fighting reserve forces.

In these two periods, however, the Whites with W. (Rube) Williams, the Texas cowpuncher, replacing Earle Hopping for the first time, looked like the best combination yet put together in the test matches. Williams was not quite as much at home at the No. 2 position as he had seemed playing defensive roles heretofore for the Reds.

FOREST HILLS (N. Y.) Aug. 20. (AP)—The dramatic downfall of 17-year-old Sarah Palfrey at the hands of a California youngster her own age featured the third round of play for the national women's tennis championship at the West Side Stadium this afternoon.

BETTY NUTHALL

Leading at 4-1 in the final set, the little Brookline (Mass.) stylist suddenly weakened under a steady fire from the racket of her western rival, Dorothy Weisel of Sacramento, and went down to unexpected defeat by scores of 6-2, 6-8, 6-4.

In the previous set the eastern player had turned the tide after facing match point twice and apparently was well in command of the situation when she struck an unaccountable slump.

MAJOR UPSET

The result was set down as a major upset, although Miss Weisel has been playing brilliant tennis in her first trip east.

Miss Palfrey was the No. 4 seeded player in the tournament, while Miss Weisel, a slender girl with an eyeshade and a ranking as the second best player in Northern California, was not included in the seeded list of ten.

HOLLYWOOD TRIMS OAKS TO HOLD FIRST PLACE

OAKLAND (Cal.) Aug. 20.—The Oaks went down to a 6-to-4 defeat by Hollywood here tonight before a crowd estimated at 13,000, which overflowed on to the field. Outfield errors by Uhalt and Griffin behind the pitching of Bill Henderson aided the Stars in their victory.

Tonight's victory evened the series, for the Oaks won the first game yesterday.

Jesse Hill and Dave Barbee were the big guns of the Hollywood attack, Hill accounting for two hits, one of them a double, in four trips

Two Leading Favorites Upset in First Round of Play in Spreckels Cup Tou

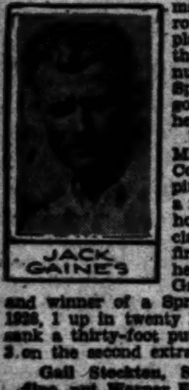
GAINES BEATEN IN LONG MATCH

Martin Conquers Medalist in Twenty Holes.

Edmonds Bows to Stockton in Great Battle

Youngster Smashes Par to Win from Veteran

CORONADO COUNTRY CLUB, Aug. 20.—A string of upsets in which the two leading favorites both were eliminated, marked the first round of match play today in the seventh annual A. B. Spreckels Cup golf tournament here.



JACK GAINES

E. G. (Speed) Martin, former Coast League pitcher, and now a member of the home club golf clan, started the fireworks when he defeated Jack Gaines, medalist and winner of a Spreckels Cup in 1928, 1 up in twenty holes. Martin sank a thirty-foot putt for a birdie 3 on the second extra hole, to win.

Gail Stockton, San Bernardino, put Warner Edmonds, Jr., rated next to Gaines as a favorite, out of the running, 1 up. The boys put up a terrific fight. They finished the first nine all even and halved every hole on the second to the seventeenth. Here Edmonds slipped one over par with a 5. Stockton won 4th a 4. They halved the final to give Stockton the match.

G. Bramstedt, young Coronado golfer, making his first start in a major tournament, provided another decided upset when he put T. A. Bowman, Jr., Coronado amateur champion, out of the running, 4 and 3. Bramstedt shot a 69, three under par. And this despite a 5 on the par-3 ninth hole. Results of the title flight:

E. G. Martin defeated Jack Gaines, 1 up, 20 holes.

Russell Osgood defeated Stuart Hawley, Jr., 1 up, 22 holes.

Clifford Little defeated W. W. Beckwith, 5 and 4.

Gail Stockton defeated Warner Edmonds, Jr., 1 up.

A. A. Mathewson defeated Jack Mackey, 1 up, 19 holes.

E. P. Coombs defeated D. D. Dodge, 2 and 1.

Bill Jacks defeated H. D. Stainaker, 2 and 1.

Gis Bramstedt defeated T. A. Bowman, 4 and 3.

Water Sports Stars Tangle

Swimming exhibitions, canoe-tilting clashes, life-saving demonstrations, and other water sports will be on view today at Los Angeles municipal swimming pools, continuing the program of "Los Angeles Swimming Week" sponsored by the Playground and Recreation Department.

Featuring the Swimming Week events at Bimini plunge tonight, Lottie Mayer's bevy of Fanchon and Marco bathing girls will actually get wet in a series of diving and swimming exhibitions, while races, canoe-tilts and other activities will also be staged.

Results of clashes in the city-wide canoe-tilting tournament held last night at Bimini and the children's swimming meet at the same pool, were:

CANOE TILTING ELIMINATIONS

Davidge Film Lab. No. 2 team defeated Bimini No. 1 team.

Hollywood Club defeated L. A. Police Department.

TRAP SHOOT BILLED FOR NEXT SUNDAY

An open shoot inaugurating the merging of the Los Angeles and the Santa Monica Gun Clubs will be held on September 7, next, at their new ten-acre plant at Clover Field, Santa Monica, is the announcement coming from Fred H. Teeple, secretary of the club. Five sets of traps have been installed on their new location, including a shooting tower, and a night shooting plant.

The last shoot of the year over the local club's present holdings will be held next Sunday by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce. Immediately after the shoot the buildings and equipment will be moved to Santa Monica.

HOLLYWOOD POLOISTS FACE VALLEY BROOK

Out to turn in a victory after its 8-to-7 defeat last week by Glendale, the Hollywood Polo and Hunt Club will clash with the Valley Brook polo four Sunday afternoon on the Ventura Boulevard field. Buddy Du Brock, who led his team in scoring last week, is again expected to lead his team on the attack Sunday. Kirk Steinert at back is another flashy player and will hold down the defensive job for the Movie City four. Warren Jennings and Porter Chase are the stars for the Valley Brook team.

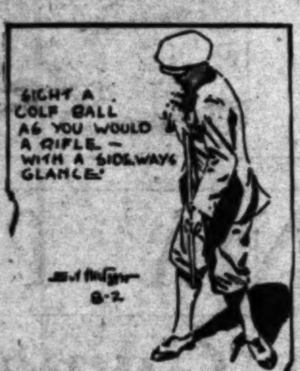
After the regular game the junior teams of both clubs will tangle in a special contest.

GOOD FISHING REPORT FROM SANTA MONICA

Good fishing reports continue to come daily from Clif and Jack, operators of the Palisades and Thrush live-bait boats operating off the Santa Monica pier. Bass and halibut are biting with exceptional vigor, according to returning bottom fishermen, while bonita, sea trout and mackerel make things interesting for the short-line anglers.

Barracuda fishing has slowed up somewhat, but occasional catches of yellowtail more than make up for the shortage of the "snakes."

Jones Cocks Head to Right in Addressing



SIGHT A GOLF BALL AS YOU WOULD A RIFLE—WITH A SIDEWAYS GLANCE.
Sol Metzger 8-2

BY SOL METZGER

Many fine players, among them Bobby Jones, cock their heads a bit to the right when addressing the ball. One writer claims they are left-eyed, just as some people are left-handed, and that it's a golf virtue to be that way.

As a matter of fact cocking the head to the right aids in two ways in correct swinging. First, it permits you to better sight the line you wish to drive the ball. Second, it helps so much in keeping the body back. If the body leads, as we all know, you make whoopee in the traps at the right of the fairway. In short, you slice. My, how one can do that when the body leads!

Cock the head when addressing the ball, somewhat as shown in the sketch. It does enable one to concentrate upon swinging the clubhead through on the desired line just as it aids in keeping the body behind the arms. In short, you can get your weight into the swing.

Golf games are won and lost on the greens. Improve your putting. Write to Sol Metzger, in care of The Times, and ask for a copy of his "Putting" leaflet. Inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

attack. Dittmar drove in four runs. Johnny Moore collided with Dittmar in the sixth inning while chasing a foul fly and, although he resumed play, he was lifted in the following frame, Harper replacing him.

SERAPHS START EARLY

The Seraphs got started off Fullerton in the opening inning, bunching four hits off the Portland hurler to shove across three runs.

Sigafoos opened the round with a single to right, and went to third on Moore's hit over second. Haney sent a long sacrifice fly to Williams, and Sigafoos scored. Fullerton cut loose with a wild pitch, and Moore galloped to second, from where he scored on Schulmerich's single to right. After Jacobs had fanned, Schulmerich, 212 pounds and all, stole second. Statz walked, and then Dittmar singled to left to score the bulky Angel right-fielder.

The Ducks were given a run by Umpire Sweeney in the second inning, when it looked as though the runner was out by about three feet. Williams began the stanza with a double to right, and took third on Rhiel's sacrifice fly. Orwoll hit a slow roller to Delaney, who got his man at first, and while the play was on Williams made a break for the plate. Jacobs relayed the ball to Skiff, and the Angel catcher appeared to tag Ken about three feet from the rubber. Skiff started walking toward the dugout, as it would have been the third out of the inning, and imagine his embarrassment when he discovered that Sweeney had called Williams safe. The Angel backstop expressed his dissatisfaction in such an emphatic fashion that Sweeney ordered him from the contest. Dally Warren replaced him.

DELANEY GETS WILD

The visitors picked up another in the third when Delaney struck a wild streak and walked Palm and Fullerton, the first two men to face him. French bunted the runners along, and then Robertson's infield out pushed Palm over the plate.

Los Angeles added a fourth run to its total in the fourth inning when Warren walked, was bunted to second by Delaney, and driven home on Sigafoos's third straight single.

The last half of the fifth inning saw plenty of excitement, and argument in profusion, between the Portland players and Umpire Sweeney, who was having a decidedly bad evening. Fullerton, who did most of the arguing with the arbiter, finally had to be replaced after three walks had filled the bases. Mails came in and retired Warren on a long fly to Cramer for the third out, but the Portland southpaw also had an argument with Sweeney before retiring the Angel catcher.

Haney walked to start the lengthy frame, and was bunted to second by Schulmerich. Haney then stole third, and Jacobs drew a walk. Statz hit down to Robertson, whose throw to Palm caught Haney at the plate. After Dittmar walked to fill the bases, Mails came on the scene, and, with the count three and two, retired Warren to end the excitement.

In the Portland sixth Carl Dittmar and Johnny Moore collided while chasing Cramer's foul fly, and both were knocked unconscious. After first-aid treatment was rendered, however, both players resumed their places in the field.

SERAPHS UNCORK BARRAGE

The Angels sewed up the contest by scoring three runs, and Mails got himself kicked out in the seventh inning. Haney walked to open the round, after Mails thought that Umpire Sweeney had missed a third strike. Schulmerich popped out, and then Haney stole second, and continued to third on Palm's low throw. Jacobs walked and then when Umpire Sweeney called Mails's first pitch to Statz a ball, the "Great One" strode to the plate and began the argument which caused his removal from the contest. Cascarella took the mound, after about a five-minute delay, and Statz promptly executed a perfect squeeze play, Haney scoring and Jacobs taking second. Dittmar singled to left to bring Jacobs home. After Warren walked, Delaney singled to left to put Dittmar over the plate.

In the Portland eighth Cascarella was lifted to let Cronin bat for him, and Lahti hurled the eighth against the Angels.

The Seraphs added three more runs off the new Portland pitcher, bunching three hits with a pair of walks to bring their score to ten. Singles by Haney and Dittmar, Schulmerich's double to center, and walks to Jacobs and Statz accounted for the tallies. Score:

BOXING STARS TREK TO SOPER'S

Mickey Walker, Jackie Fields, Mushy Callahan and Benny Miller Open Training Next Week at Ranch Made Famous by Dempsey in Preparing for Comeback

BY FRANK ROCHE

The gathering of the boxing clans takes place the latter part of this month at Soper's ranch, where some of the nation's leading boxing stars will condition themselves for the fall campaign in and around Los Angeles. The following fighters will make Soper's their headquarters starting next week:

JACK DEMPSEY

Mickey Walker, middleweight champion; Jackie Fields, ex-welterweight champion; Mushy Callahan, ex-junior welterweight champion; Benny Miller, local welterweight contender.

FAMOUS CAMP

Soper's has become famous as a training camp for boxers since the time Jack Dempsey conditioned himself there for his comeback fight against Jack Sharkey. It is situated in Ojai Valley, nestled between the hills, and is considered an ideal place for training.

Mickey Walker conditioned himself at Soper's for the Hudkins affair last fall. He was in the best shape of his long ring career, too, when he stepped into the ring at Wrigley Field to defend his title. "The Mick" has been signed by Jack Doyle for an outdoor gigantic the 15th of next month and he is eager to get into the "pink" once more—hence the great outdoors at Soper's.

Jackie Fields is trying the outdoor training for the first time. Since Jackie lost his welter crown to Black Jack Thompson he has been inactive. The former champion took the defeat quite hard for a spell, but those close to him claim he is going to build himself up again and start an active campaign to regain the title.

Mushy Callahan is somewhat in the same fix as Fields. He dropped his junior welterweight diadem to Jack (Kid) Berg in London some time back and since has been in retirement. Mushy still believes if he can get into shape he has a number of good fights in his system. Golf and rest have done him a world of good and he believes he will snap back fast once he starts training.

Benny Miller's case seems to be one where he needs the outdoors. The young Jewish kid from Boyle Heights was going like a house afire until he ran into Sammy Jackson, Santa Monica black, several weeks ago. Miller in that fight seemed to lack of natural strength. The gymnasium had taken its toll. He was tired and overtrained, it appeared. After the fight his manager, Emmett Lodwith, decided Miller needed a dose of outdoor training. Hence his trip to Soper's.

BUDDIES GET TOGETHER

Callahan, Fields and Miller are buddies. They were raised on the streets of Los Angeles. They are sure to be pulling and helping one another to succeed in their training at Soper's. Callahan and Miller are likely to work with each other. Fields is expected to work with Walker. Either of these teams would make a real box-office attraction here if they could be brought together against each other for blood.

There is some talk of Fields taking a fling at the middleweights. If such is the case his work with Walker will be watched with interest by the fistic experts.

a thrill, allowed this match to run through five exciting sets before he called upon his wonderful assortment of strokes to clinch the victory.

During this match, Tilden enacted every role possible in tennis. He ranged from comedian to tragedian and during the last game he went into his favorite role of heroic lead to blast Sutter out of the tourney with a few well-played strokes.

The other seven fourth-round matches, though hard played were not very exciting. This play ran true to form and the six remaining seeded players were victorious.

George Lott, determined Chicago player who shared Tilden's Davis Cup singles duties, romped into the last eight by defeating Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, Cal., 6-1, 6-2, 6-4. Wilmer Allison, Texan member of the Davis Cup doubles team, advanced as easily over E. R. Avery of England, 6-2, 6-4, 6-1. The other Britisher to reach today's play, F. J. Perry, bowed to Johnny Van Ryn of Orange, N. J., Allison's partner, 6-2, 7-5, 6-8, 6-3.

Sydney Wood of New York overcame a dangerous rival by upsetting Bryant Grant, Jr., of Atlanta, 8-6, 6-4, 6-3. Frank Shields of New York marched into the quarter-finals with an easy, 6-2, 6-2, 6-2, victory over J. Gilbert Hall of South Orange, N. J.

The other two fifth-round brackets became the property of Frank Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., and Gregory Mangin of Newark. Hunter defeated Wilbur Coen, Jr., Kansas City, 6-2, 3-6, 6-4, 7-5, and Mangin overcame Eddie Jacobs of Baltimore, 6-4, 6-3, 6-8, 5-7, 6-2.

The third-round doubles play brought more disaster to Allison and Van Ryn the Davis Cup team, who were outclassed by Phil Neer, Portland, Or., and Edward W. Feibleman, New York, in an extra-set conflict, 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5. Tilden and Hunter were the only other favored team to advance into the quarter-finals.

Jack Tidball and Gerald Bartosh, Los Angeles, defeated Bryan Grant, Jr., and Jack Mooney, Atlanta, 6-3, 6-1, 6-3.

Wilbur Coen, Jr., Kansas City, and Harrison Coggeshall, Des Moines, defeated Donald Strachan, Philadelphia, and E. R. Avery, England, 6-3, 3-6, 7-5, 2-6, 7-5.

Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., and Gregory Mangin, Newark, defeated Clifford Sutter, New Orleans, and Eddie Jacobs, Baltimore, 6-3, 1-6, 4-6, 8-6, 6-4.

Phil Neer, Portland, Or., and E. W. Feibleman, New York, defeated Wilmer Allison, Austin, Tex., and Johnny Van Ryn, East Orange, N. J., 6-3, 6-2, 3-6, 7-5.

W. T. Tilden II, Philadelphia, and Frank Hunter, New Rochelle, N. Y., defeated Dave Jones, New York, and Jake Hess, Jr., Fort Worth, Tex., 6-3, 6-2, 6-4.

LONDON, Aug. 20. (AP)—England's chance of winning the ashes was not very bright in today's play in the final test match at Kennington Oval when Australia scored 695 all out.

England began her second innings badly when Hobbs was out for nine runs, ending the day with twenty-four runs for one wicket.

John Bradman, the sensational Australian youth, had another brilliant day, totalling 232 runs in Australia's first innings. The match is for the Anglo-Australian championship and is being played to a finish.

In the first-round matches in doubles competition for men, Jennings teamed with De Lara to win a quick straight set victory from Harvey Terrell and Robert Lake Birmingham. Leo and Charles Lejeck, Chicago, both of whom were eliminated in the morning singles matches, went into the second round by default. Considine and Mitchell ran through James Keenan and W. J. In the women's division the Deuker-Lindemann combination eliminated Irene David, Cleveland, and Ann Slatmeyer, Lakewood, O., 6-4, 6-1. Mrs. Martinez paired with Jean Artsberger, Pittsburgh, to defeat a Detroit team of Frances Rousse and Mary Mustaikis, 6-8, 6-4, 6-4. Helen Rupp and Lucille Hartz, Baltimore, won their match, 6-3, 6-4, from Helen Germaine and Matilda Jacobs, New York. Lydia Kayser and 15-year-old Ethel Haas of Buffalo entered the second round by default of Dorothy Kingsbury and Louise Omwake, Washington.

GEORGE WINS LUTZE SCRAP

of the boxers and wrestlers coming from the dressing-rooms.

Both George and Lutze disappeared from view for several seconds, and then George was seen to climb up into the ring. The time-keeper tolled off twenty seconds and as Lutze was still down below, George was awarded the victory.

When Nick was brought to the surface it was found that he had lit on his head with George on top of him to make the impact more solid.

All that Daro could say was that the house was $7000.

Lutze took the second fall after 22 minutes and 30 seconds of whirlwind wrestling. Nick put George on the downward trail with a pair of hard headlocks applied with great viciousness. George broke both the holds, however, but appeared to be somewhat dazed. Lutze fell into one of Don's scissor holds, but in breaking it fell over backward on George, putting him out cold. Lutze was awarded the fall, the hold being announced as a body slam.

George took the first fall with a flying head scissors in 40m. 6s. Lutze had the better of the milling up to the fall.

When Pietro Bacini was unable to go on with Lee Wycoff in the opening bout because of an injury Lee asked Daro if he couldn't wrestle Joe Malcewicz instead. Daro agreed and the youngster gave the veteran Utica Panther quite a battle for his money.

After Wycoff had Malcewicz seemingly in a bad way from a series of headlocks, the Panther surprised the youthful gladiator by getting up off the floor and pinning Wycoff to the mat with a backward body slam.

The time of the fall was 39m. 55s. Steve Strelich, the Terrible Swede, used a combination head scissors and wristlock to beat Tiger Taylor in the opening bout. They substituted for Wycoff and Pietro Bacini. The time of the match was 10m. 19s.

MY DANDY LOSES TO MARTIE FLYNN

CHICAGO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Stuyvesant Peabody's Martie Flynn, given a clever ride by Jockey R. Finnerty, today made a great stretch finish to beat My Dandy by a neck in the first running of the $5000 Illinois owners' handicap at Hawthorne. My Dandy, carrying top weight of 125 pounds, started right out to add another important victory to the Reichert brothers' list, but Finnerty rated Martie Flynn carefully and when called upon in the stretch the Sweepon-Rosa Lee five-year-old responded gamely and nipped the favorite in the last few strides.

California Has Powerful First-Year Prospects

Carlson, Coar and Kilfoil Out for Eleven

Southland Prep Schools Well Represented

BERKELEY (Cal.) Aug. 20. (Exclusive)—The 1930 football situation at the University of California took on a more lively aspect today when Roy Riegels, captain of the 1929 varsity eleven, and coach of the freshman team for this season, took count of noses for his squad.

FRANNIE KILFOIL

Some twenty-five prominent high-school players from all parts of the State already have indicated to Riegels that they will be on hand for the first practice September 15, the date upon which the Pacific Coast Conference lets down the practice barriers.

Two prospects which looked good today to Riegels are Bob Kiesel and Lloyd Sublett. The former is a halfback from Tamalpais High School, and a sprinter of reputation, while Sublett is a tall 190-pounder from Palo Alto High School, where he played end. Two other good ends are Dick Coar of Alhambra High and Lloyd Piller, from Vallejo.

The tackle situation is most promising. Riegels has four tackles averaging about 198 pounds and two other tackles averaging 212 pounds. The tackle prospects on review today were Charles Thompson, Art Carlson of Manual Arts, Lowell Moore and John Ransom, who made for a 195-pound average. Victor Castagnetto weighs an even 200 pounds and Don Bonnell tips the scales at 225 pounds.

Guards are not such potential stars as the tackles. They include Fred Dolling, Rawlings Simon, Ralph Brewer, Theodore Daniel and Bart Worley. The centers who have reported to Riegels thus far are Glenn Tucker and George Kemp.

Two former Southern California high-school captains will compete for the quarterback job. They are Oakley Adams of Fullerton High, who captained his team in 1927, and "Chuck" Stewart, all-around athlete from Oneonta Military Academy, and football captain there last season. In a previous prep season Stewart captained the Venice High School team.

Riegels has speed for his backfield in Francis Kilfoil and Clayton Rhoy. Jim Keefer of Chico High seeks to catch the frosh coach's eye as fullback.

Seals Trounce Indians Again

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 20. (AP)—Hitting hard and often in the early innings, San Francisco's Seals swamped the Seattle Indians, 15 to 7, here today. The locals landed on Freitas for three runs in the first frame and added to their lead with two-run and four-run rallies in the next two sessions. Turpin held the visitors scoreless until the seventh, when they scored one tally. In the eighth Dutch Holland, Seattle outfielder, hit a homer with the bases loaded, while two more runs also came across in the same inning. Henry Oana, Seal right fielder, hit two homers, while Crosetti, shortstop, also annexed a four-ply swat.

TOO MUCH GROVE

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 20. (AP)—Lefty Grove won his eighth straight and twenty-first victory of the season today, pitching the Athletics to a 10-to-6 triumph over the Detroit Tigers. Grove's four passes and his own wild throw helped the Tigers make the most of their seven hits.

Hoyt started against the star southpaw and was relieved after being battered for three runs in the second and three more in the third. Guy Cantrell was solved for the remainder of the victors' tallies. Dale Alexander hit a home run with one on base in the seventh.

KREMER SHINES

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 20. (AP)—Despite wobbly support, Remy Kremer shut out Boston today in the series opener, yielding but five hits while the Pirates acquired nine off Seibold for a 5-to-0 victory. The Pirates errored five times.

L. Waner's sacrifice sent Suhr home in the second with the only run needed to win, but the Pirates got to Seibold in the later innings. P. Waner, Comorosky and Suhr hit triples.

The victory was Kremer's seventeenth of the season.

BROWNS BUMPED

WASHINGTON, Aug. 20. (AP)—Washington got a measure of revenge on St. Louis today for the beatings administered on the last western trip when they defeated the Browns, 14 to 4.

The contest was a free-hitting affair and the Browns' three errors helped. Washington scored ten runs in the fifth inning when Coffman was relieved by Kimsey, who, in turn, yielded to Stiles. Coffman yielded a total of eleven hits before he was relieved and Kimsey allowed four without retiring a man before Stiles was sent in.

CAVALRY FOUR IN LOCAL TILT

Army Polo Team to Battle Uplifters Here

According to word received yesterday by the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce from Capt. D. S. Wood, leader of the Army polo forces of the Eleventh Cavalry at Monterey, they plan to bring thirty-four ponies south for the game with the Uplifters on September 7 on the Beverly Boulevard field. This game, under the sponsorship of the junior chamber, will probably mark the highlight of the present polo season in California. Proceeds from the game will be used for the furtherance of polo, particularly with respect to the Olympics in 1932. Eric Pedley, chairman of the polo committee of the junior chamber, is now in the East for the international polo tryouts, but tentative details for the match were worked out several weeks ago prior to his departure.

ROVERS PLAY BUCCANEERS AT UPLIFTERS'

Polo at the Uplifters' field on Beverly Boulevard next Sunday afternoon brings out the Rovers vs. the Buccaneers in a resumption of their own little private feud temporarily halted by the visit of the Santa Barbara team. The personnel of both teams is made up of members of the Uplifters' Club but this does not mean that there is any the less rivalry between the two squads captained by Snowy Baker and Lionel Pedley, respectively.

There is little to choose between the two teams, and the fans are about evenly divided in their choice, so the prediction is that the outcome will be in doubt up until the last chukker.

The Rovers with Baker at the helm comprise Lyell Puckett, Dick Smith, Baker and Carl Beal while Pedley's Buccaneers include Dr. Rex Duncan, Will Rogers, Jr., Pedley and Clair Brunson.

The game is open to the public and will get under way promptly at 2:30 with Hugh Blue as referee.

The line-ups:

ROVERS		BUCCANEERS
Lyell Puckett	No. 1	Dr. Rex Duncan
Dick Smith	No. 2	Will Rogers, Jr.
Snowy Baker	No. 3	Lionel Pedley
Carl Beal	Back	Clair Brunson

PEDLEY STARS IN POLO TILT

Nevertheless he teamed with Pedley, Hitchcock and Guest so beautifully in the fourth period the Whites reeled off six straight goals and clinched the game on the spot.

Eric Pedley, after a let-down last Sunday, regained his sharp-shooting eye and led the scoring with a total of nine goals. He seldom has failed to capitalize the long and accurate passes shot up to him by Hitchcock or Guest. The Californian now has a record of fifty-six goals in seven successive games as the varsity No. 1 man.

Hopping, relegated to the Reds for the first time to make room for Williams, led his side in scoring with three goals but he showed only flashes of his best form.

The line-up:

Whites (19)		Reds (16)
E. Pedley	No. 1	H. G. Bostwick
H. W. Williams	No. 2	E. A. Hopping
T. Hitchcock, Jr.	No. 3	C. Smith

WALTER HAGEN LEADS IN OPEN

a field of 142 in the qualifying round of the western open golf championship.

Not only was the total a course record but it marked the second day in a row the "Haig" has toured the course in the sixties. He carded a 66 in practice yesterday but the score wasn't accepted as a record.

Sir Walter's great round gave him the lead by one stroke over another far-famed stylist, Johnny Farrell of New York, and a three-shot lead over Charles Guest, Detroit professional and present Southern California open champion, who finished third.

All told, Hagen speared one eagle, three birdies and played all the remaining holes with one exception perfectly. His one "bad hole" came on the short thirteenth, where his approach landed short and his right foot putt for a par three stuck on the lip of the cup and refused to sink. Hagen's eagle came on the first hole, a 460-yard stretch. A thirty-foot downhill putt accomplished the trick.

Another thirty-foot downhill putt netted him a birdie three on the 404-yard second. The next seven holes were played perfectly and he whistled around the turn with a 32, three under par.

The "Haig" was forced to one-putt the eleventh, twelfth and fourteenth for his next collection of birdies because his second shots stopped short.

Today's qualifying round, staged for those who failed to place among the low scorers in the 1929 tournament, turned out to be something of a joker, except for Hagen's return to form. Out of the 142 who tried, 121 qualified by shooting 84's or better. Among the "big shots" who were not forced to qualify and who will open their first drives in tomorrow's first eighteen-hole round of the seventy-two-hole medal fight for the title were Tommy Armour of Detroit, defending champion; Horton Smith and Gene Sarazen of New York, Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del.; Jock Hutchison, Harry Hampton and Al Espinosa, Chicago professional; Densmore Shute, Lima, O.; Henry Ciuci, Stratford, Ct., and Emmett French, Southern Pines, N. C.

Farrell, who, like Hagen, was forced to qualify because he did not compete last year, had rounds of 33 and 35 today and led the field until Hagen posted his score among the final finishers.

Because of the big room for qualifiers there were no upsets today. Charles (Chick) Evans, Jr., of Chicago, former champion, qualified easily with a 74, as did Tony Manero, New York professional and runner-up in the recent St. Paul open, who tallied a 75.

Backing up a strong main event with six four-round bouts Carlo Curtis has lined up a card for Main-street fans Saturday night. Joe Peregrina, Mexican middleweight favorite, meets Earl Long of Oklahoma in the six-round wind-up. Peregrina is a puncher and a prime Main-street favorite. Henry Gaitanez and Vic McNeal, a pair of hard-hitting 160-pounders, will box the four-round semi-wind-up. The preliminaries are: Pordo Villa vs. Mickey Romo, 118 pounds; Santiago Lujan vs. Jack Killeen, 112 pounds; Angelo Fuste vs. Salvador Maciss, 112 pounds; Tony Gaitanez vs. Art Adams, 135 pounds; Vernon Center vs. Lucky Baldwin, 132 pounds.

HUDKINS LOSES EXTRA WEIGHT

Nebraska Wildcat Down to 162 Pounds for Bout

McVey Battles Ace in Go at Olympic Wednesday

Genaro Offered Brown Fight Here Next Month

Ace Hudkins, after secretly training at the Woodland riding academy in the Hollywood foothills for three weeks yesterday announced he was down to 162 pounds for his ten-round bout with Jack McVey at the Olympic next Tuesday night.

ACE HUDKINS

The comeback under the management of his brothers, Clyde and Art, figures to be mostly hard work. The Wildcat has put his play days behind him with at least four good matches in the offing.

Hudkins delayed signing a contract to fight Joe Anderson in Seattle yesterday until it is settled whether he will box Bert Colima on the Wrigley Field card in September. Matchmaker Wad Wadhams is eager to show Hudkins against the Mexican on the outdoor card which is to feature Mickey Walker.

The fact that Hudkins has taken such a tough opponent as McVey for his first start following a rather long layoff, indicates he has faith in his condition.

There is a complete boxing camp layout pitched in the center of the corrall where riding horses of the academy are being trained. Chick Lewis, veteran trainer, cooks the Wildcat's meals and leads him over the hills for the grinding roadwork. Hudkins will do more roadwork for this fight than he has ever attempted before.

The lesson taught by young Al Morro, whom Jim Jeffries has cover from ten to twelve miles daily, is being taken seriously by the Nebraskan.

McVey is working at the Main-street gymnasium. He is recognized as the Negro middleweight champion and in several starts around Los Angeles has proved to be a top-notcher.

Wadhams yesterday made Frankie Genaro an offer to box Newsboy Brown here next month. Midget Wolgast, who lost to Brown in an exciting fight last Tuesday night, departed for New York last night, where he hopes to force Genaro to fight him for the flyweight title.

SARAH PALFREY SUFFERS UPSET

Helen Marlowe of Los Angeles, learned how fleeting tennis fame can be when she lost to Penelope Anderson of Richmond, Va., after having provided the principal sensation of yesterday's play by eliminating Eleanor Goss of New York. Miss Anderson's greater experience carried her to victory today by scores of 4-6, 6-2, 6-4.

Betty Nuthall, 19-year-old English challenger, continued her steamroller progress through the field by overwhelming Edith Cross of San Francisco, 6-0, 6-3. Miss Cross was ranked third in the country on her play last year, but has not been going so well this season, and she was able to offer little real opposition. Miss Nuthall's hard-hit drives, often sharply angled, had her on the defensive in most of the interchanges.

TO PLAY BETTY

In one of the outstanding quarter-final matches tomorrow Miss Nuthall encounters Miss Weisel, and in the same half of the draw Marjorie Morrill of Dedham, Mass., will meet Ethel Burkhardt of San Francisco. Miss Morrill, for the second time in two days, won in straight love sets, this time from Dorothy Workman of Los Angeles, while Miss Burkhardt defeated Virginia Rice, Boston, 6-2, 6-2.

In the lower half Mrs. Anna Harper of San Francisco will oppose Mary Greef of Kansas City and Miss Anderson will face Baroness Levi of Italy. Mrs. Harper won today from Mrs. J. Dallas Corbiere, Boston, 6-0, 6-3; Miss Greef eliminated Ruth Oexman, Cincinnati, 6-3, 6-2, and the black-haired Baroness played a dazzling net game to overcome Josephine Cruickshank of Los Angeles, 7-5, 1-6, 6-1.

Miss Nuthall and Sarah Palfrey, along with the other leading teams, advanced to the quarter-final round of the doubles championship. They won from Miss Greef and Miss Weisel by scores of 6-1, 6-3.

Feature matches for tomorrow were scheduled as follows:

1 p.m., Miss Anderson vs. Baroness Levi.
1:30 p.m., Mrs. Harper vs. Miss Greef.
2:15 p.m., Miss Morrill vs. Mrs. Burkhardt.
3 p.m., Miss Nuthall vs. Miss Weisel.
4 p.m., Miss Cross and Mrs. Harper vs. Baroness Levi and Anne Palfrey, Brookline, Mass.
4:30 p.m., Miss Nuthall and Miss Palfrey vs. Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Ct., and Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia.

REISTER, WRIGHT MEET AT PASADENA

Bobby Reister of Alhambra will fight the main event tonight at the Pasadena Arena. His opponent will be Omar Wright.

Don Kennedy will return to the ring in the four-round semifinal, to meet Curley Muniz, at 128 pounds. In one of the other four bouts Billy Papke, Jr., will make his third professional start against Glen Thompson. The other bouts on the card will be: Judy Zuniga vs. Perfecto Mendoza, 118 pounds; Morrie Mandell vs. Ritchie Par, 134 pounds; Young Mickey Walker vs. Luke Ebel, 150 pounds.

THE OLD ORDER

I remember—I remember
The Giant-Cub romance,
When Matty faced Three-finger Brown
And Tinker pegged to Chance;
They still may battle for the flag
While howling grand stands boil,
But where is Johnny Evers now—
And where is Larry Doyle?

I remember—I remember
Jim Sheckard's guarded lair;
Where Circus Solly Hofman ranged
And speared ones from the air;
And still they battle for the flag
As fate rolls out the cube;
But where is Charlie Herzog now—
And where the wry-necked Rube?

The Big Series

THE old-time fan can turn the clock back to the old days of baseball—or at least to the older days—when Cubs and Giants bump together through the next four days. This may be the big series of the year, unless the Dodgers scramble back to their feet in a hurry.

Either Giants or Cubs can make it extremely tough for the other by taking three out of the four. An even break will favor the Giants who are now heading home and who, in the meanwhile, are attempting to stick as closely as possible to the pace makers.

The Giants by winning three out of four can toss a stick of dynamite under Joe McCarty's system for they will then start neck and neck with the schedule all their way.

The Giants have been ripping the road open for the last month. They have been moving at something like a .750 clip. Now they run into rougher weather—four games against the Cubs and four games against the Dodgers—their two main rivals. These are the games that should make them or break them.

Cub-Giant Argument

In the last two weeks the Giants have been getting much better, sounder pitching than the Cubs have drawn. The pennant leaders have had to hammer out a big majority of their victories, and they have lost games they should have won through even average pitching.

All this time the New York riflemen have shown a big improvement. They were terrible earlier in the year but they have swung around at last. Whether they can curb the punch in the Cub attack is something the next four games will show. If they can, McGraw has a hot chance to pick up his eleventh flag and renew his old world series rivalry with Connie Mack after a lapse of seventeen years.

There is no title at stake in the coming Singer-McLarnin meeting early next month, but it will outdraw most of the title contests because it happens to look like a fight—and both parties have the pulling power where it is needed—i.e., in the bally old box office.

Old-Time Stuff

There are at least two pitchers in the American League who are getting back to the days of old-time consistency, when Matty and Walsh and Johnson stepped along. Young Wesley Ferrell of Cleveland has won his twenty-first game with nearly six weeks to go and Earl Whitehill of Detroit has just turned in his eleventh consecutive victory.

It has been a long, long time since any major-league pitcher won thirty or more games in a year. Matty and Alexander did this three times. Ed Walsh worked his way up into the forties. But changing conditions made twenty victories a big year, where it was once only an average season.

Ferrell needs nine more victories to pick up his thirty wins and that may be too many with only a few weeks left. But he is almost sure to pass the twenty-five mark and that will be something. Whitehill's run of eleven straight is another great pitching performance where so few are able to turn in even three consistent starts in a row.

And the only tune that Hack can hum
Is "Over the fence—and here I come!"

If Hack Wilson draws a package of poison or a stick of dynamite he can wire his thanks to the sender, one George Herman Ruth.

Minus the dominating shadow of Mrs. Moody, the women's tennis championship at forest Hills, L. I., is one of the most interesting scrambles of many years. It will no longer be a one-woman show, but a fairly even production, when they get along to the semifinals. The entry of as strong a British player as Miss Betty Nuthall has also provided an extra spotlight that has increased general interest. There is more fun in watching good, keen competition than there is in viewing an unchallenged exhibition of skill, minus the competitive side.

Carnera, finally, may have to make weight for Jack (Kid) Berg, if he is to get another big shot.

BUD BAKER, WAGNER MIX AT CULVER CITY

"Cy" Saenz states that he has prepared a high-grade card of events for tonight's festivities at Culver City and offers for the scheduled six-round main event Bud Baker, fighting speed cop from Long Beach, vs. the sensational kayo king of the beach, Billy Wagner.

Johnny Gardino vs. Jack Pettibone, six rounds at 126, marks the semifinal and in the six-round special event, six rounds at 135, Herb Russell meets Sal Ortega. George Evans vs. Billy Dunn, and Frenchie Gillette vs. Kid Lewis are on the second and first spots, respectively.

CRAME CLIMBING

Outfielder Crame of Portland has registered one or more safe hits in each of the eleven games in which he had played up to Wednesday of this week. He has compiled a batting mark of .426.

MERCURIES IN WORKOUT

L.A.A.C. Track-and-Field Squad Limber Up at Soldier Field, Chicago

BY HECTOR DYER
National Intercollegiate 220-Yard Dash Champion

CHICAGO, Aug. 20.—The Mercury track-and-field team took a light workout this morning at Soldier Field. Ray Alf, who joined the team at Omaha, Neb., last night, completed the sprint relay team that is being entered by the L.A.A.C. in the nationals at Pittsburgh. Bob Maxwell, Vic Williams, Ray Alf and the writer practiced passing the stick in the order named.

Most of the athletes appear little the worse after the three-day trip. The weather in Chicago has been very cool. The rest of the day the members of the team had to themselves. This evening they board the train, arriving in Pittsburgh tomorrow morning. They will have two days at Pittsburgh before the senior nationals on Saturday, followed by the relays next Monday.

Shasta Charm Cops Feature

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Aug. 20. Overcoming early interference and then coming with a rush in the stretch, Shasta Charm made it two victories in as many starts when she carried the colors of the Allo Carrodio stable of Alexander Pantages to victory in the Laredo six-furlong sprint here this afternoon.

Jockey McHugh had Shasta Charm on the rail in the early running, but she suffered from considerable interference. Rounding the turn for home, he took to the outside and, closing with a rush, got up to beat Phil K. home by half a length. Tecolote got the show. Time for the sprint was 1:13 1-5.

Results:

First race, six furlongs, claiming—Shasta Black, first (Stransku;) Elsie Bell, second (Johns;) Pelion, third (Jones.) Time, 1:14 3-5.

SLUGGER SHEELY

Earl Sheely started off the week by pounding out two more safe hits. The Coast League's leading swatsmith has hit safely in twenty straight games.

Speedy Boats will Hook Up

Speedboats will hold the spotlight at Lake Arrowhead tomorrow afternoon when a program of four events will be staged under the direction of E. A. Swanson, resort manager of the mountain resort.

The free-for-all event, which will be the grand finale of the bill, is expected to furnish some spectacular competition between Frank Fox with his 360-horsepower Cris Craft and B. I. Malouf, who has just received a new speedboat from Detroit which is said to be capable of fifty miles an hour. The Malouf boat is powered with an eight-cylinder Dodge motor and the hull embodies some new features in speedboat construction. The free-for-all has attracted nine entries, including, with Malouf and Fox, the speedy Val Brothers boat and J. J. Woestman's high-powered Cris Craft.

Swanson announced the other events on the card as follows: Cris Craft race, five miles, seven entries; twelve-horsepower outboard motors, five miles, nine entries; Quad race, one and a quarter miles, five entries.

FLORIDA GIRLS ON LONG TREK

Trio Hitch-Hike Across Country

They'll Have Much to Tell Schoolmates

Deciding to make their summer vacation both enjoyable and educational, Elizabeth and Arizona Delk, sisters, and Hazel Meeks, three Tampa (Fla.) high-school girls, started to hitch-hike across the continent and back. They began their trip on June 23, last, and after almost two months of travel reached their destination, Los Angeles, early yesterday.

Anxious to get back to Tampa before school begins, they started their return trip late last night, after a visit to various points of interest throughout the city.

Publisher Gains Freedom on Bail

Appearing before Municipal Judge Curtis yesterday Fredric H. Girnau, charged with criminally libelling Dist.-Atty. Fitts in a political pamphlet, was ordered released on $500 bail. He was granted a delay until 2 p.m. today to enter his plea to the charge of libel.

Girnau indicated he will demand an early trial. The article in question charged that Fitts was arrested ten years ago on a charge of drunkenness.

YAMS DASHED IN HER FACE, ASSERTS WIFE

Sweet potatoes were thrown in her face by her husband, complained Mrs. Florence Aston yesterday in asking a divorce from Walter Aston. Superior Judge Tappaan granted her a decree. She added that once, in a rage, Aston beat her and then ran to get a revolver. Failing to find it, he got an ax, she continued, but ran away when neighbors called police. Attorney Ernest K. Maine represented her.

STATES DAY PLANNED

The annual States day celebration by the Federation of State Societies will be observed Sunday the 31st inst. at Trinity Methodist Church, Twelfth and Flower streets. Sections will be reserved for every State as well as for Canada, Alaska, Hawaii, Panama Canal Zone and all foreign countries.

FLYERS ASK CHANGES IN RACE RULES

Chicago Nonstop Hop May Start from Metropolitan, Entries to Pick Own Time

Protests of present rules governing the scheduled air-speed classic of the year—the nonstop race from here to the Chicago 1930 National Air Races, were filed by wire yesterday by the five entrants to the race committee in Chicago.

Wiley Post, Roscoe Turner, Bill Brock, Art Goebel and Lee Shoenhair—leaders of the nation's group of cross-country pilots—voted to shift the scheduled race start from Los Angeles Municipal Airport to Los Angeles Metropolitan Airport and to allow each flyer to select his own take-off day instead of attempting to start together.

It was pointed out that each of the five Lockheed ships will have an average of a ton and one-half of gasoline aboard at the start and a take-off from the municipal field here would necessitate flying over the metropolitan district at a low altitude.

Each flyer also feels he should have the opportunity of selecting his own take-off time on any of the nine days following the 23rd inst.

All the racing ships, including the speed-record craft of Lee Shoenhair, and the Miami-to-Los Angeles plane of Bill Brock, were being conditioned yesterday at the Lockheed factory in Burbank.

The pilots, it was learned, expect to complete the long dash in nine to ten hours, leaving Los Angeles at daybreak. The five ships, four of them Vegas and the other an Air Express, are practically equal in top speeds of around 200 miles an hour.

SEVEN HURT IN FIGHTING SMALL FIRE

Firemen Seared by Hot Tar as it Drips from Blazing Roof

Seven Los Angeles firemen were burned while combating a blaze at 839 East Fourth street yesterday afternoon when melted tar from the roof of the two-story frame building dripped upon their hands and faces.

The men were treated last night at Georgia-street Receiving Hospital for first and second-degree burns. They are Douglas Gordon and Aubrey Patterson of Truck Company No. 8, Earl Hamilton, Joe Kelly, William Bennett, Harry Taber and R. McLaughlin, Truck Company No. 5.

The building, according to police reports, was occupied by the J. A. Bookman Company, dealers in baled rags.

Water damage amounting to $4000 was done to stock in the Edgar Dollar Store, 440 South Broadway, when fire started in a waste basket on the mezzanine floor last night, according to R. Linesh, assistant manager of the store.

Slight water damage also was reported from the adjoining S. W. Green Tie Shop, 436 South Broadway.

AGED WOMAN KILLS SELF BY GAS IN HOME

Old, feeble and ill.

These were the causes given by the police yesterday for the asserted suicide by gas of Mrs. Mildred Corliss, 72 years of age, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Marcia Lukmeyer, 1648 West Eighty-first street. Her daughter found the body.

PROGRAM GETS BLAME FOR SET

Reproducer's Shortcomings Laid on Entertainers

Radio Artist Deserves All "Breaks" Possible

Dial Offerings of Day and Night Scheduled

The Times Forum, KHJ, at 1:30 p.m. Fred Hogue, editorial staff writer, in another talk on "China."

World-wide news at 12:30, 4:45 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

If you went to a doctor for a physical examination and he used an inaccurate stethoscope, a poor blood-pressure gauge and couldn't count heart beats himself — nine chances to ten, no matter how healthy you really were, he'd pronounce you a physical wreck. But many listeners-in buy some kind of a synthetic radio set that spits coils, batteries, tubes and debris, turn on a station and condemn the artists who have to run that mechanical gamut.

Life is often a series of "breaks" and even a radio artist deserves a decent audition. Any reputable dealer in radios will offer you an instrument that, even though its first cost may be slightly higher, you don't have to spend the rest of your life and finances replenishing its mechanical vitals. It's easier on the pocketbook, the temper and the radio artist.

Also, in all fairness to the artists, do you know how to tune your set correctly?

HIGHLIGHTS ON DIAL

KHJ at 7:30 p.m. offers fifteen minutes of entertainment over Columbia Broadcasting System by Guy Lombardo and His Royal Canadians. At 8 p.m. Melody Hour promises a delightful half-hour under the baton of Raymond Paige. The theme song is to be "Auld Lang Syne," so it will be a feast of old-fashioned melodies. Hale and Derry, Claire Van Nostrand and Raymond Paige's orchestra will be the highlights.

At 9 tonight the second of "Folgeria's" periods presents the second chapter of this comic operetta. Our hero is stumbling through jungles and song, captured by bold, bad bandits, savage beasts are jumping up and down—and they promise you'll all be in a lather as the period ends.

SINGING STRINGS

For music lovers, Singing Strings at 9:30 — one of Raymond Paige's pet programs with suave, dulcet, soothing compositions. If you want to relax give it a dialing.

KFI at 6 p.m. features an N.B.C. offering, an hour of the melodies of Schubert by the Victor Concert Orchestra. Frank Black will conduct, with vocal refrains sung by Frank Luther. Another special feature will be solos by Wilfred Glenn, basso. Another excellent program should be the Standard Symphony Hour at 7:45, Mishel Piastro conducting and also playing violin solos. At 9:30 tonight Pryor Moore's orchestra with Robert Hurd, tenor, bids for your dial with songs and pieces by Schubert, Grieg, Massenet and other masters.

N.B.C. PROGRAMS

KECA with three N.B.C. programs beginning at 4 this afternoon offers a variety of entertainment. The Birthday Party at 5 reincarnates Davy Crockett. John Moncrieff, basso, and Nancy McCord, soprano, are the guest soloists.

KNX will ring the dial at 7:30 tonight when Lem Berger takes miniature golfers into his confidence—how to make shots—and how! At 8 tonight Horse Fly and His Wranglers in thirty minutes of hoedowns, square dances and intricacies of the stage. A pleasant hour should be Theodore Kittay in an art song recital with the Hungarian Ensemble at 9:30. At 10 to midnight R.-K.-O. night at the Cocoanut Grove—stars and music galore. KNX says "It promises to be the greatest night ever seen and there'll be a big surprise."

KMTR goes on with the night baseball game at 8:15 instead of 8:30 tonight and from now on.

KFWB features at 9:30 p.m. another "Old Fashioned Tintype," you may like it.

Harry Zehner Elected Chief of 233 Club

Harry H. Zehner, assistant general manager of Universal Pictures, last night was elected president of the 233 Club, Masonic theatrical organization, receiving every vote of the organization's general assembly.

With the election the 233 Club began its sixth year under its California corporation charter. Retiring President Rex B. Goodcell announced that within a fortnight ground would be broken for two new club buildings, a distinctive clubhouse and an auditorium at Yucca and McCadden avenues in Hollywood.

Other officers elected were: Executive vice-president, John Le Roy Johnston; vice-presidents, Charles Crockett, Jean Hersholt and C. E. Toberman; secretaries, Morris Resch and Abraham Goldman; treasurer, Otto K. Olesen; directors, J. J. Franklin, Samuel Kress, Marco Hellman, Cliff Smith, James Watkins, Louis W. Chaudet, Charles Eng, William J. Fleckenstein, Russell Simpson, John J. Lawlor, Harry M. Baine and W. H. Lollier.

"RED" REFERENCE RESENTED

Mrs. Agnes Klatzkin greatly humiliated her husband by calling him a "Russian Red," according to Benjamin Klatzkin's divorce complaint on file yesterday. Other mental cruelties are noted, and Klatzkin asks a division of $6000 community property.

WIFE SUES AVIATOR

Miller Bennett Towman, aviator, referred to his wife's complaints of his late hours as her efforts to make him "punch a time clock" in his own house, according to her divorce complaint on file yesterday. Once he flung her into a chair, injuring her, the petition states.
